Rogge Announces U. S. Will Shift Probes To Michigan

By Norman Walker

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 1.—(AP)—Richard W. Leche, Louisiana's governor from 1936 until he resigned under fire last June 26, today was convicted of using the mails to defraud the state of $31,000 and faced a possible maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

The government charged he pocketed the money through a deal involving the purchase of highway trucks for the state.

Sentence was deferred until June 11 to permit arguments on motion for a new trial. The maximum penalty that can be imposed is five years in prison and $1,000 fine on each of the three counts on which he was convicted.

Leche, who took the verdict calmly and without comment, immediately left the courtroom with his attorneys, free under $5,000 bond pending arguments for the plea for a new trial.

Simultaneously with the conviction, announcement was made by O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, that the federal investigation which has centered on Louisiana for the last 10 months and shattered the tightly entrenched Huey P. Long political machine, now would turn on Michigan.

"We are now out of the trenches in Louisiana," the young chief of the criminal division of the department of justice said. "Briefs on appeals in these cases can be handled through Washington. Michigan will be our

FOUR ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Transport Wrecks On Trial Flight For Navy In California

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(AP)—Crash of a great new Douglas DC-5 air transport while on a test flight for the navy killed four employes of the aircraft firm today and sent investigators scurrying for evidence of possible sabotage.

Douglas officials said, however, they found no such indications in their first checks.

The nine-ton plane exploded as it hit.

The dead:

Harry E. (Bud) Bogen, 29, West Los Angeles, pilot.

James Jewart, Inglewood, inspector.

Benson's father is Philip A. Benson, Brooklyn, N. Y., bank president.

An indirect casualty was John Robert McClary, 12, who died of a heart attack as he watched the great ship dive to the ground. His parents said he long had suffered from a weak heart.

Inquiries started quickly from three directions—the navy, civil areonautics authority and Douglas. Wreckage of the great DC-5 was still flaming when police threw a guard about it pending a probe into possible sabotage. Douglas officials declared in a statement:

"Until the CAA, the navy and our own engineers and experts have com-

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—(AP)—With all the grace of its pretty 15-year-old sponsor, the 35,000-ton battleship Washington slid down the ways of the Philadelphia navy yard today to make its maiden "curtsy" to the Delaware river as the first naval link in America's accelerated rearmament program.

While 30,000 cheering speciators looked on, Miss Virginia Marshall, of Spokane, Wash., shattered a bottle of champagne on the bow with one decisive blow and the gaily-decorated "battle wagon" eased swiftly into the water. Miss Marshall is a lineal descendant of John Marshall, chief justice of the United States from 1501 to 1835.

State's 170 Agencies To Go Under 20 Units

Legislators Prepare To Storm Hoppers With Bills Tonight

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Measures which would whip Louisiana's 170 boards and agencies into a 20-department state government blueprinted by experts and would provide unparalleled checks and controls over state finances were completed today.

They are the governmental reorganization and fiscal code bills which Governor Sam H. Jones put at the head of his program, calling them "the most constructive legislation considered by this state since the adoption of the civil code in 1825" and telling the legislature it would go down as "the greatest in history" if it adopted them.

These practically complete the Jones program, largely translated into bills and introduced this week.

A corrupt practices act, crime commission to finish the Louisiana scandals cleanup and the still undisclosed tax measures by which the governor promised to carry on an expanded program of public services without a sales tax, also are to be introduced tomorrow night.

Legislators were expected to storm the hoppers of both houses with about 350 bills in addition to the 742 already in. Under the legislature's own rules, no more legislation can be offered after tomorrow's session.

New administrative divisions created by the reorganization bill would be the departments of finance, occupational standards, institutions, public safety, public works, minerals and military affairs.

Existing departments which would be continued would be those of revenue, the treasury, state, education, state lands, agriculture, labor, banking, public welfare, highways, and conservation.

In addition a department of health would consolidate the state board of health, the proposed health office, and

AVIATION FACTORY SURVEY UNDERWAY

Monroe C. Of C. Conducts Study; May Ask For Plant Here

A survey depicting the possible advantages of locating an auxiliary aviation manufacturing plant at Monroe, West Monroe, or in this vicinity, will be prepared in the near future by the industrial committee of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, according to A. O. Evans, chairman of the committee.

This survey will be prepared for the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce in Washington, which has been designated by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, to compile this information, Evans said Saturday.

These additional aviation plants will be located in interior points of the nation, specifically between the Allegheny and Rock mountains, according to President Roosevelt.

The survey will include the kinds and amount of skilled labor, availability of raw materials, climatic factors and other facts pertaining to such a project, Chairman Evans said.

The industrial committee expressed approval of the industrial survey just mailed to 260 glass manufacturers over the country.

This survey gave specific data as to the location of raw products and costs which would go into the manufacture of glass products by a plant located here, which would utilize cheap fuel available in this section, Chairman Evans reported.

The preparation of the survey is in line with the policy of the industrial committee to select certain types of industry which would be profitably located here and supply them with

NEW FISCAL CODE TO FINANCE STATE IS PLAN OF JONES

Bill Will Be Introduced In Legislature Sunday Night

HAIL ADVANCED SYSTEM AS FINEST IN AMERICA

Department Would Draw Preliminary Budgets, Purchases

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Designed to give Louisiana the most advanced system of centralized financial control in use by a state today, a fiscal code for all state agencies will be introduced in the legislature Sunday night by representatives of Governor Sam H. Jones' administration.

Representatives of Griggenhagen and associates, experts in government administration, prepared the code. Administration legal advisers described it as "far ahead of anything to be found in operation as a whole anywhere else."

Continuous checks and audits would be provided, and heavy penalties would be set for violations of the code, payment and receipt of bribes, neglect of duty, corruption or extortion.

The code would provide for:

1. A new department of finance which would draw up preliminary budgets for all departments, also all funds appropriated, supervise all expenditures, and make all purchases.

2. A treasury department, headed by the state treasurer, which would serve as custodian for the state funds, a disbursing office and supervisor of all state investments.

3. An auditor for the state, who after 1944 would be elected by concurrent vote of both houses of the legislature, and who would audit all state accounts, uncover and report any unauthorized or illegal handling of state moneys, and report to the legislature upon audits conducted.

To "represent the interests of the public," a three-member board of finance, appointed by the governor for overlapping nine-year terms, would approve all rules of the finance department, review acts of the department, approve depositories of state funds, borrowing of funds and investment of state moneys and would make any investigations deemed necessary by the board.

The board would be appointed "on the basis of their interest in public affairs with particular reference to financial affairs" and would be paid on the basis of time actually spent on

Congress Leery Of Call To Guard For U.S. Duty

Opposition Is Mounting To F. D. R.'s Plan To Summon Militia

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—Amid mounting opposition in congress to President Roosevelt's request for authority to call the national guard to active duty, the army high command contended today that the possibility of "dangerous developments" in this hemisphere made it essential that the request be granted.

General George C. Marshall, the army chief of staff, issued a formal statement supporting the president's proposal after opposition among senators had reached formidable proportions.

Mr. Roosevelt already had authority to call the guard into service, General Marshall said, "but under that call it would be impossible to send any units of the national guard to assist a regular division in any one of the possible situations which might arise in this hemisphere."

"It is necessary that more troops be made available, trained and seasoned, to enable missions to be carried out without denuding this country of ground troops in a state of sufficient preparation to meet unexpected eventualities in some other direction."

The chief of staff did not say what the possible "dangerous developments" in this hemisphere might be. But Senator Minton of Indiana, the Democratic whip, had expressed belief to newsmen previously that the president might have in mind the possibility of having to occupy British, French and Dutch possessions in the New World if the Allies were defeated.

If need for such action arose, Minton said, regular troops would have to be used and the national guard called out to man defenses in the continental United States.

General Marshall's statement failed to quiet criticism of the presidential request among senate members. On hearing of it, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared:

"It isn't any wonder that I am getting many telegrams asking if it is the intention of the president and congress to get us into war when statements are issued indicating it may be necessary between now and the time congress returns that the national guard be called to active duty.

"This propaganda to stampede the people of this country into a war hysteria ought to be stopped, and the people who are opposed to war ought to let their congressman and the administration know about it."

Senators George, Democrat, Georgia, and Austin, Republican, Vermont, both supporters of the president's foreign policy, joined senators forecasting that congress might remain in session continuously as a result of the request for authority to summon the guard to active duty.

Calling the request "apparently unwarranted," George told reporters:

"If the president seriously insists on

Marseille, Lyon Feel Blows; At Least Forty-six Meet Death

GERMANS CLAIM SINKING OF BRITISH DREADNAUGHT

French Say They Are Holding Somme Against Heavy Thrusts

By the Associated Press

A great aerial expedition of Nazi bombing planes roamed over southern France Saturday afternoon, scattering death and destruction in the heart of the famed Rhone valley industrial section and striking the port of Marseille heavily.

At least 46 persons were killed in the mass bombing raid, one of the heaviest of the war, which came in the wake of Adolf Hitler's military victory in Flanders.

In Marseille, Mediterranean port and France's second largest city, 30 persons were killed. In the Lyon industrial area 16 met death and 80 or 90 were wounded.

The French said 36 German planes were downed in all the day's fighting against 16 French losses. Of the losses inflicted on the Rhone valley raiders they said only a "certain number" were downed.

Two heavy bombs fell in Marseille. A British ship laden with cotton was sunk in the harbor.

Industrial sections of central eastern France were heavily bombed. The French said many of the raiders were shot down in this area.

Some observers believed the raids were a German gesture to show Premier Mussolini, a prospective entrant into the war at Hitler's side, that Nazi air power is sufficient to give the

PLAN TO SHORTEN TERM OF MAESTRI

Constitutional Amendment Is Reported Ready For Introduction

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Reliable sources said today a proposed constitutional amendment to shorten by a full year the term of Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans would be introduced in the legislature Friday night.

The proposed amendment would end Maestri's term in May, 1941. The place would be filled at an election early in 1941, with a Democratic primary to be scheduled for January, 1941.

Maestri became mayor after the resignation in 1936 of T. Semmes Walmsley, who had been elected for a four-year term in 1934. Just prior to Walmsley's resignation, however, a constitutional amendment had extended terms of all elected officials of New Orleans four years.

Maestri, the conservation commissioner, became mayor after his only opposition in a special Democratic primary withdrew.

Other bills already introduced in the current session of the legislature would take from Maestri many of the vast powers which he has held over the city commission council.

GERMANS CLAIM SINKING OF BRITISH DREADNAUGHT

French Say They Are Holding Somme Against Heavy Thrusts

(By Associated Press)

A great aerial expedition of Nazi bombing planes swarmed over southern France Saturday afternoon, sowing death and destruction in the heart of the famed Rhone valley industrial section and striking the port of Marseille heavily.

At least 46 persons were killed in the mass bombing raid, one of the heaviest of the war, which came in the wake of Adolf Hitler's military victory in Flanders.

In Marseille, Mediterranean port and France's second largest city, 30 persons were killed. In the Lyon industrial area 16 met death and 90 or 90 were wounded.

The French said 16 German planes were downed in all the day's fighting against 16 French losses. Of the losses inflicted on the Rhone valley raiders they said only a "certain number" were downed.

Two heavy bombs fell in Marseille. A British ship laden with cotton was sunk in the harbor.

Industrial sections of central eastern France were heavily bombed. The French said many of the raiders were shot down in this area.

Some observers believed the raids were a German gesture to show Premier Mussolini, a prospective entrant into the war at Hitler's side, that Nazi air power is sufficient to give the

PLAN TO SHORTEN TERM OF MAESTRI

Constitutional Amendment Is Reported Ready For Introduction

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Reliable sources said today a proposed constitutional amendment to shorten by a full year the term of Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans would be introduced in the legislature Friday night.

The proposed amendment would end Maestri's term in May, 1941. The place would be filled at an election early in 1941, with a Democratic primary to be scheduled for January, 1941.

Maestri became mayor after the resignation in 1936 of T. Semmes Walmsley, who had been elected for a four-year term in 1934. Just prior to Walmsley's resignation, however, a constitutional amendment had extended terms of all elected officials of New Orleans four years.

Maestri, the conservation commissioner, became mayor after his only opposition in a special Democratic primary withdrew.

Other bills already introduced in the current session of the legislature would take from Maestri many of the vast powers which he has held over the city commission council.

LECHE IS GUILTY; DELAYS SENTENCE

next base of operations. I will go there next week."

The verdict against Leche came within 30 minutes after the case had gone to the jury in federal court here in the first of numerous trials the corpulent former chief executive faces as the result of federal investigations which followed his resignation.

The trial began Monday when L. P. Abernathy, former chairman of the state highway commission under Leche, and George Younger, local motor dealer, pleaded guilty under the indictment in which they were charged jointly with Leche.

The government alleged that Leche through a go-between, James Thomas, ordered Abernathy to purchase state highway department trucks from Younger at excessively high prices, and that Leche received $116,000 for himself in a "kickback" made by Younger.

The government charged the total overcharge to the state was $116,571.88.

Leche, appearing as the only witness in his own defense Friday, denied receipt of the $31,000 or attending a meeting in which the deal was arranged, but told the court that he had made about $500,000 in business deals in which he had invested little or nothing since he became the chief executive.

The verdict followed a two-hour denunciation of Leche by Rogge who already has successfully prosecuted several other former high lieutenants of the late Huey P. Long.

He described the $500,000 Leche income as "loot" obtained while Leche was governor.

"Why this man looted the staggering sum of a half million dollars cold cash while he was in a position of public trust," Rogge said in summation. "That's how the governor of your state prostituted his public office. He says these were legitimate business deals. Do you think for a moment he would have gotten that kind of money unless he was governor."

Malcome LaFargue, assistant federal attorney, in closing said Leche ran for governor in 1936 on a "share the wealth" platform.

"Boys, he sure shared it, didn't he?" LaFargue commented.

Leche was chosen as a "compromise" candidate for governor from among the ambitious and warring Long lieutenants who met in anxious council to perpetuate the machine after the "Kingfish" was killed in Baton Rouge in September, 1935. He was elected with one of the greatest majorities in the state's history.

Prior to that he had been secretary to the late Governor O. K. Allen and a member of the state court of appeals. He is 42, and was a second lieutenant of infantry during the World war.

Abernathy and Younger will be sentenced June 11 along with Leche should the latter's motion for a new trial be denied.

After the jury returned its verdict, Rogge said he would go to New Orleans Sunday to confer with United States Attorney Rene Viosca and then would leave for Chicago and Detroit.

In his closing arguments Rogge declared the state could have saved more than $116,000 if "this fleet of trucks had been purchased as they should have been."

"If these public officials had done their duty," the assistant attorney general declared, "they could have gotten the trucks $116,000 cheaper than they did, but Leche told Abernathy how to get a kickback of $53,000.

"It makes no difference whether or not the law imposed upon Abernathy the duty to require bids, if he had been a public official instead of Leche's pocketbook, he would have asked for bids.

"And if Leche had served the state and not his own pocketbook, he couldn't have wound up with $53,000 loot in these transactions. But he knew that Younger would make this tremendous kickback."

The federal prosecutor charged that Leche "lied" in denying that he had shared in the $116,571.88 alleged illegal profits from the truck deal.

"Leche is the man who popularized the use of $1,000 bills in this state," Rogge said. "He thinks so little of them he tosses them around like scrapwrappers."

Rogge declared that Leche's only service for the $500,000 he realized from oil, gas and newspaper interests while in office, was wielding his political influence and deprecated the former governor's claim that the money was realized from legitimate business.

Regarding defense counsel's claim that Leche was "framed" on the truck deal charges, Rogge told the jury:

"According to Leche everybody is mistaken but himself. That's just impossible according to the testimony. Everybody, according to Leche, is lying but himself. Gentlemen, it just can't be true he is corroborated by no one and denied by many.

"I submit the man who is lying in this case is Leche."

FOUR ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

pleted their investigations, we cannot state the cause of this regrettable accident. Preliminary investigation fails to produce any evidence or indication that would explain the reason for the crash."

An experienced pilot who watched the tragedy told naval authorities that from the craft's maneuvering, it appeared the controls had jammed.

The plane, a twin-engined, high-winged type with capacity for 16 passengers, fell out of control shortly after taking off from the Los Angeles airport.

Witnesses said the ship was traveling at high speed as the pilot apparently attempted to "gun" it out of a sideslip. It smashed through a five-foot picket fence into a flower bed, bounced, skidded and ploughed its way nearly a quarter of a mile, strewing wreckage all the way.

The DC-5 is the most modern commercial product of the Douglas plant. Its high wing is an innovation. Capable of 250 to 260 miles an hour, it is described by company officials as the fastest transport ship built.

dustrial units which must go into the defense program."

He has an appointment with President Roosevelt Tuesday, the day the Democratic state convention meets here to choose the state delegation to the national party meeting.

The governor offered this as evidence "that I am not trying to wield a big stick" over the convention.

His conference with Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson is set for Monday, when he will confer also with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, discussing Louisiana oil problems with the latter.

The governor declared he would discuss the Louisiana scandals with Attorney General Robert Jackson Monday, asking him whether federal investigators had additional evidence which might be used to develop state cases.

The governor has appointments also with Jesse Jones, reconstruction finance corporation chairman; Works Projects Commissioner F. C. Harrington and Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody.

He said he would discuss the $7,000,000 farm road project with the works agency heads.

The governor will be accompanied by Raburn Monroe, New Orleans attorney and member of the governor's volunteer committee on legislation. They are due to return to New Orleans at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

CONGRESS LEERY ON GUARD'S CALL

this request, I think congress will say: 'Mr. President, if there is an emergency of this nature in the offing, of which the country now knows nothing, we will stay here to meet it.'"

Senator Austin, the assistant Republican leader, declared:

"I think we will be here all summer before we grant that power. There will have to be some justification that doesn't appear now before congress will be willing to do it, in my judgment."

Another senator suggested privately that the president might be seeking greater control over the citizen soldiers in an effort to stamp out alleged "fifth column" activities within the guard.

This senator said he had heard reports that Communist and Fascist activities were widespread within the ranks of the guard in one state, which he did not name.

The national guard, which has a present strength of about 225,000 men and 15,000 officers, is distinct from the regular army and is supported jointly by federal and state governments.

War department officials said that the president now has authority to call the guard to active duty for either of two purposes: (1) to meet a threatened invasion; (2) to deal with insurrection and disorder.

In the event that congress declares a national emergency to exist, they added, the president can under existing law call the guard out for any purpose.

NEW FISCAL CODE IS PLAN OF JONES

official duties at a rate not to exceed $20 per day and actual expenses.

L. B. Baynard, recently reelected state auditor, would serve as head of the new auditing department until the expiration of his term in 1944. After that date the legislature would name the auditor "on the principle that he would represent the legislature in reporting to it and the people on the extent to which the administration has complied with legislative authorizations."

New officials provided by the code would include a director of finance, appointed by the governor to serve without term; and a budget officer and controller, both appointed by the director of finance.

The budget officer would prepare the biennial budget for all departments to be submitted by the governor to the legislature, and after passage of appropriation acts would set up departmental budgets for the expenditure of funds.

The controller would check and approve all expenditures, would see that programs of expenditure were carried out and would keep all general state accounts.

The code would allow no state department to have an individual bank account. Instead all accounts would be handled by the state treasurer, deposited in banks selected by him. Checks to pay all bills would be issued by the treasurer on warrants from the departments which would clear through the controller.

All commodities and such services as electricity, printing and insurance would be purchased by a division of the finance department. These commodities would be purchased as at present, through receipt of bids and award to the lowest bidder.

STATE'S AGENCIES TO BE REVAMPED

the tuberculosis commission. The present public service commission would become the department of public service.

Four agencies independent of the general administrative system would be provided. These would be Louisiana State university, the department of justice headed by the attorney general, the department of personnel which would administer the civil service act which was introduced this week in the legislature and the auditor's office.

The auditor, now popularly elected, would be elected by the concurrent vote of both legislative houses after 1944, when the term of the incumbent, L. B. Baynard, would expire.

All of the administrative department heads, with the exception of those presently elected by the people, would be appointed by the governor.

Policies of many of the departments would be reviewed by citizens's boards of three, six or nine members, appointed by the governor for overlapping nine-year terms.

These boards would also hear appeals from administrative rulings. In many cases present boards or commissions would form the basis of the citizens' boards until expiration of the terms of incumbent members.

A new feature of the governor's office would be an executive cabinet, composed of the department heads, a secertary, the executive counsel, such assistant counsel as might be provided and the existing director of public relations, who is F. Edward Hebert. The cabinet would be an advisory body.

Though copies of the reorganization bill were not made available today, a digest of the measure, prepared by a Griffenhagen representative said all existing agencies not specifically provided for in the bill would be abolished.

Griffenhagen and Associates, a nationally known firm of government experts, were employed by Governor Jones before his inauguration to draft recommendations for a governmental reorganization.

The bill would provide for continuation of some of the agencies in their present form, the digest said. The board of tax appeals was cited as an example. In many cases constitutional amendment would be necessary to abolish existing boards, commissions or agencies.

Between the years 1870 and 1875 about two and a half million buffaloes were killed annually.

The federal prosecutor charged that Leche "lied" in denying that he had shared in the $116,571.88 alleged illegal profits from the truck deal.

"Leche is the man who popularized the use of $1,000 bills in this state," Rogge said. "He thinks so little of them he tosses them around like scrapwrappers."

Rogge declared that Leche's only service for the $500,000 he realized from oil, gas and newspaper interests while in office, was wielding his political influence and deprecated the former governor's claim that the money was realized from legitimate business.

Regarding defense counsel's claim that Leche was "framed" on the truck deal charges, Rogge told the jury:

"According to Leche everybody is mistaken but himself. That's just impossible according to the testimony. Everybody, according to Leche, is lying but himself. Gentlemen, it just can't be true he is corroborated by no one and denied by many.

"I submit the man who is lying in this case is Leche."

FOUR ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

pleted their investigations, we cannot state the cause of this regrettable accident. Preliminary investigation fails to produce any evidence or indication that would explain the reason for the crash."

An experienced pilot who watched the tragedy told naval authorities that from the craft's maneuvering, it appeared the controls had jammed.

The plane, a twin-engined, high-winged type with capacity for 16 passengers, fell out of control shortly after taking off from the Los Angeles airport.

Witnesses said the ship was traveling at high speed as the pilot apparently attempted to "gun" it out of a sideslip. It smashed through a five-foot picket fence into a flower bed, bounced, skidded and ploughed its way nearly a quarter of a mile, strewing wreckage all the way.

The DC-5 is the most modern commercial product of the Douglas plant. Its high wing is an innovation. Capable of 250 to 260 miles an hour, it is described by company officials as the fastest transport ship built.

JONES TO CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT

dustrial units which must go into the defense program."

He has an appointment with President Roosevelt Tuesday, the day the Democratic state convention meets here to choose the state delegation to the national party meeting.

The governor offered this as evidence "that I am not trying to wield a big stick" over the convention.

His conference with Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson is set for Monday, when he will confer also with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, discussing Louisiana oil problems with the latter.

The governor declared he would discuss the Louisiana scandals with Attorney General Robert Jackson Monday, asking him whether federal investigators had additional evidence which might be used to develop state cases.

The governor has appointments also with Jesse Jones, reconstruction finance corporation chairman; Works Projects Commissioner F. C. Harrington and Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody.

He said he would discuss the $7,000,000 farm road project with the works agency heads.

The governor will be accompanied by Raburn Monroe, New Orleans attorney and member of the governor's volunteer committee on legislation. They are due to return to New Orleans at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

The governor issued also today an appeal for the war drive of the American Red Cross, calling on Louisianians to remember those who have now only the "kindliness" of this country to rely on.

CONGRESS LEERY ON GUARD'S CALL

this request, I think congress will say: 'Mr. President, if there is an emergency of this nature in the offing, of which the country now knows nothing, we will stay here to meet it."

Senator Austin, the assistant Republican leader, declared:

"I think we will be here all summer before we grant that power. There will have to be some justification that doesn't appear now before congress will be willing to do it, in my judgment."

Another senator suggested privately that the president might be seeking greater control over the citizen soldiers in an effort to stamp out alleged "fifth column" activities within the guard.

This senator said he had heard reports that Communist and Fascist activities were widespread within the ranks of the guard in one state, which he did not name.

The national guard, which has a present strength of about 225,000 men and 15,000 officers, is distinct from the regular army and is supported jointly by federal and state governments.

War department officials said that the president now has authority to call the guard to active duty for either of two purposes: (1) to meet a threatened invasion; (2) to deal with insurrection and disorder.

In the event that congress declares a national emergency to exist, they added, the president can under existing law call the guard out for any purpose.

NEW FISCAL CODE IS PLAN OF JONES

official duties at a rate not to exceed $20 per day and actual expenses.

L. B. Baynard, recently reelected state auditor, would serve as head of the new auditing department until the expiration of his term in 1944. After that date the legislature would name the auditor "on the principle that he would represent the legislature in reporting to it and the people on the extent to which the administration has complied with legislative authorizations."

New officials provided by the code would include a director of finance, appointed by the governor to serve without term; and a budget officer and controller, both appointed by the director of finance.

The budget officer would prepare the biennial budget for all departments to be submitted by the governor to the legislature, and after passage of appropriation acts would set up departmental budgets for the expenditure of funds.

The controller would check and approve all expenditures, would see that programs of expenditure were carried out and would keep all general state accounts.

The code would allow no state department to have an individual bank account. Instead all accounts would be handled by the state treasurer, deposited in banks selected by him. Checks to pay all bills would be issued by the treasurer on warrants from the departments which would clear through the controller.

All commodities and such services as electricity, printing and insurance would be purchased by a division of the finance department. These commodities would be purchased as at present, through receipt of bids and award to the lowest bidder.

CALL EXECUTIVE BOARD OF SCOUTS TO MEETING

A call meeting of the executive board of the Ouachita Valley Scout council will be held at 2:30 today, President A. B. Clarkson announced Saturday.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of establishing definite camping policies, he said. Board members over the area have been notified and are expected to attend.

STATE'S AGENCIES TO BE REVAMPED

the tuberculosis commission. The present public service commission would become the department of public service.

Four agencies independent of the general administrative system would be provided. These would be Louisiana State university, the department of justice headed by the attorney general, the department of personnel which would administer the civil service act which was introduced this week in the legislature and the auditor's office.

The auditor, now popularly elected, would be elected by the concurrent vote of both legislative houses after 1944, when the term of the incumbent, L. B. Baynard, would expire.

All of the administrative department heads, with the exception of those presently elected by the people, would be appointed by the governor.

Policies of many of the departments would be reviewed by citizens's boards of three, six or nine members, appointed by the governor for overlapping nine-year terms.

These boards would also hear appeals from administrative rulings. In many cases present boards or commissions would form the basis of the citizens' boards until expiration of the terms of incumbent members.

A new feature of the governor's office would be an executive cabinet, composed of the department heads, a secertary, the executive counsel, such assistant counsel as might be provided and the existing director of public relations, who is F. Edward Hebert. The cabinet would be an advisory body.

Though copies of the reorganization bill were not made available today, a digest of the measure, prepared by a Griffenhagen representative said all existing agencies not specifically provided for in the bill would be abolished.

Griffenhagen and Associates, a nationally known firm of government experts, were employed by Governor Jones before his inauguration to draft recommendations for a governmental reorganization.

The bill would provide for continuation of some of the agencies in their present form, the digest said. The board of tax appeals was cited as an example. In many cases constitutional amendment would be necessary to abolish existing boards, commissions or agencies.

Between the years 1870 and 1875 about two and a half million buffaloes were killed annually.

FRASIER IS NEW LINCOLN OFFICER

Sheriff Appoints Staff Of Deputies At Ruston Saturday

RUSTON, June 1.—(Special)—Out of two primaries and the formality of the general election, Lincoln parish has but one new elected parish-wide official among the courthouse attaches taking office Saturday. That is a new sheriff, Clyde Frasier.

Mr. Frasier received a plurality of about one thousand votes in a six-man race for sheriff in the first primary on January 16. His nearest opponent, Howard Liner of Vienna, withdrew from the second primary campaign, leaving Mr. Frasier the nominee.

Mr. Liner became one of the deputy sheriffs here Saturday. The other deputies announced by Sheriff Frasier are Fred Wilder, who is continuing as office deputy in charge of tax collections; Dan R. Durrett of Simsboro, Prentiss Frasier of Ruston, and Frank Driggers of Dubach, field deputies.

The new sheriff succeeds J. Bryan Thigpen, who succeeded his father, the late A. J. Thigpen, and who was not a candidate for re-election. Mr. Frasier served for two years as a peace officer at Dubach and for 15 years as criminal deputy under Sheriffs A. J. Thigpen and J. Bryan Thigpen. Mr. Frasier resigned as deputy sheriff here about one year ago.

Ross C. Neill, incumbent clerk of court, began his third term Saturday. He defeated H. Burton Aycock in the second primary on February 20.

Dr. J. J. Bennett, appointed to serve the unexpired term of the late Dr. H. N. Harper as coroner, defeated Dr. J. H. Wells for the office in the second primary.

Rhodes Smith, incumbent parish assessor, was unopposed for re-election.

Odd Items In The News

(By Associated Press)

WAITING

WALLACE, N. C.—Josephus Daniels, United States ambassador to Mexico, in a telegram congratulating Director Norman Y. Chambliss of this community's annual strawberry festival, recalled that he earned his first money by picking berries.

He added:

"The people I picked for still owe me 25 cents, and I'll give you the regular commission to collect it."

EASED

PITTSBURGH—A 60-cent payment to the city "conscience fund" eased the mind of a middle-aged former Pittsburgh woman.

She appeared at the health bureau and paid for two bottles of hand lotion taken more than two years ago when employed at the municipal hospital.

"I've gotten so I can't sleep well at night because I took those bottles," declared the woman "and I might as well pay for a pencil I took, too."

RIGHT HUNCH

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—Worried by mysterious telephone calls, Mrs. Emma Jordan and her sister retired one night to the home of a relative to escape a feared holdup.

During their absence, thieves broke in and looted their home.

TOO REALISTIC

CHICAGO—Four 16-year-old orphan boys engaged in a make-believe war on the grounds of the Guardian Angel orphanage—the "allies" against the "Nazis."

The youths' weapons were simulated spears—thin metal rods with sharp ends—taken from the orphanage greenhouse.

SNAPPY SURPRISE

LAWRENCE, Kans.—Don North, Lawrence youth, baited his hook and hoped he could entice a Kaw river catfish. A strike, and he hurried to the University of Kansas zoology department.

There professors identified his catch by clips on its tail as a 16-inch alligator they thought secure in their tanks.

HOT-FOOT

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz.—J. C. Dueriksen, knocked out by a bolt of lightning as he walked home, will be all right as soon as he gets his shoe repaired.

When he recovered consciousness, he discovered his only damage was a hole in the sole of his right shoe.

INDEPENDENCE PROGRAM MUST WAIT, GANDHI SAYS

BOMBAY, June 1.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi indicated his belief today that any civil disobedience program in behalf of the campaign for Indian independence should be deferred until after the European war is ended.

Writing in his newspaper, Harijan, Gandhi said:

"If the British government won't declare India a free country, having the right to determine her own status and constitution, I am of the opinion that we should wait until the heat of battle in the heart of the allied countries subsides and the future is clearer than it is."

PROGRAM PLANNED

FRASIER IS NEW LINCOLN OFFICER

Sheriff Appoints Staff Of Deputies At Ruston Saturday

RUSTON, June 1.—(Special)—Out of two primaries and the formality of the general election, Lincoln parish has but one new elected parish-wide official among the courthouse attaches taking office Saturday. That is a new sheriff, Clyde Frasier.

Mr. Frasier received a plurality of about one thousand votes in a six-man race for sheriff in the first primary on January 16. His nearest opponent, Howard Liner of Vienna, withdrew from the second primary campaign, leaving Mr. Frasier the nominee.

Mr. Liner became one of the deputy sheriffs here Saturday. The other deputies announced by Sheriff Frasier are Fred Wilder, who is continuing as office deputy in charge of tax collections; Dan R. Durrett of Simsboro, Prentiss Frasier of Ruston, and Frank Driggers of Dubach, field deputies.

The new sheriff succeeds J. Bryan Thigpen, who succeeded his father, the late A. J. Thigpen, and who was not a candidate for re-election. Mr. Frasier served for two years as a peace officer at Dubach and for 15 years as criminal deputy under Sheriffs A. J. Thigpen and J. Bryan Thigpen. Mr. Frasier resigned as deputy sheriff here about one year ago.

Ross C. Neill, incumbent clerk of court, began his third term Saturday. He defeated H. Burton Aycock in the second primary on February 20.

Dr. J. J. Bennett, appointed to serve the unexpired term of the late Dr. H. N. Harper as coroner, defeated Dr. J. H. Wells for the office in the second primary.

Rhodes Smith, incumbent parish assessor, was unopposed for re-election.

Odd Items In The News

(By Associated Press)

WAITING

WALLACE, N. C.—Josephus Daniels, United States ambassador to Mexico, in a telegram congratulating Director Norman Y. Chambliss of this community's annual strawberry festival, recalled that he earned his first money by picking berries.

He added:

"The people I picked for still owe me 25 cents, and I'll give you the regular commission to collect it."

EASED

PITTSBURGH—A 60-cent payment to the city "conscience fund" eased the mind of a middle-aged former Pittsburgh woman.

She appeared at the health bureau and paid for two bottles of hand lotion taken more than two years ago when employed at the municipal hospital.

"I've gotten so I can't sleep well at night because I took those bottles," declared the woman "and I might as well pay for a pencil I took, too."

RIGHT HUNCH

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—Worried by mysterious telephone calls, Mrs. Emma Jordan and her sister retired one night to the home of a relative to escape a feared holdup.

During their absence, thieves broke in and looted their home.

TOO REALISTIC

CHICAGO—Four 16-year-old orphan boys engaged in a make-believe war on the grounds of the Guardian Angel orphanage—the "allies" against the "Nazis."

The youths' weapons were simulated spears—thin metal rods with sharp ends—taken from the orphanage greenhouse.

One of the spears struck Wilfredo Aqueros in the left temple. He was killed instantly.

SNAPPY SURPRISE

LAWRENCE, Kans.—Don North, Lawrence youth, baited his hook and hoped he could entice a Kaw river catfish. A strike, and he hurried to the University of Kansas zoology department.

There professors identified his catch by clips on its tail as a 16-inch alligator they thought secure in their tanks.

HOT-FOOT

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz.—J. C. Duerksen, knocked out by a bolt of lightning as he walked home, will be all right as soon as he gets his shoe repaired.

When he recovered consciousness, he discovered his only damage was a hole in the sole of his right shoe.

INDEPENDENCE PROGRAM MUST WAIT, GANDHI SAYS

BOMBAY, June 1.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi indicated his belief today that any civil disobedience program in behalf of the campaign for Indian independence should be deferred until after the European war is ended.

Writing in his newspaper, Harijan, Gandhi said:

"If the British government won't declare India a free country, having the right to determine her own status and constitution, I am of the opinion that we should wait until the heat of battle in the heart of the allied countries subsides and the future is clearer than it is."

Monroe Will Send Boy, Girl To Cotton States Pageant

Winners Will Be Selected At Paramount Theater Here

The Paramount theater and cooperating merchants will literally give some Monroe boy and girl "a place in the sun" when more than 20 local boys and girls between 16 and 21 compete at a bathing beach revue on the stage of the Paramount theater Wednesday night, June 12, for the honor of representing Monroe at the Cotton States Pageant of Pulchritude on the gulf coast June 20.

The boy and girl chosen for Sir Monroe and Miss Monroe will win an all-expense paid, one-week vacation on the gulf coast, as the guests of the Hotel Markham in Gulfport and the White House in Biloxi.

The climax of seven days of aquatic and other outdoor sports on the coast will be the finals of the pageant, but this alone is not the only activity that has been arranged for the winners. A trip to Ship island, sight-seeing, a dance on the Hotel Markham roof, and the bi-weekly balls in Biloxi's new Community hall will be held that week in their honor. Proper chaperonage will be provided.

The purpose of the competition is to discover and reward the ideal of southern beauty, and the ideal southern athletic type, whoever and wherever they may be.

Boys and girls interested should inquire at the office of the Paramount theater, immediately. Entry blanks available there should be made out in full and submitted in person to Manager Bicknell of the theater. Minors should have their parents' consent.

All applicants are asked to bring a photograph or snapshot when making application. Photos, together with all measurements will immediately be submitted to the elimination committee, a secret selection board of three prominent men and women.

When an applicant has been passed by the elimination committee, his or her picture, made through the courtesy of Johnson studios, will be posted in the lobby of the Paramount theater, signifying that the applicant has been accepted as an entrant. Up to this point all applications are treated as strictly confidential.

Monroe's King of Youth and Queen of Beauty will be judged by audience applause, scientifically registered on an applause-o-meter, which is being installed this week backstage in the Paramount theater by McKee Radio shop. The applause-o-meter is a new electrical mechanism which registers the volume of sound in decibals, the international sound unit.

Mayor H. H. Benoit and the Chamber of Commerce have heartily endorsed the bathing beach revue and the local merchants are cooperating by sponsoring contestants and furnishing additional prizes.

Quest For Faith

Without faith, life is a desert. He who has no faith has no strength. He is like a ship drifting with neither sail, rudder, nor anchor.

Faith in something, that is. It does not so much matter in what. Faith in religion, faith in science, faith in a political system, faith in eventually getting the jackpot in the corner slot machine, faith in something.

Our weakness today is not so much in the lack of planes and cannon, as in our lack of faith. It is here that Germany gained such an initial advantage over France and England. Hitler gave the Germans faith, often an unwilling faith, often a grudging, desperate faith, faith in things which to us are unworthy and despicable, but something to which to cling.

The British "bright young people" were thoroughly disillusioned after the World war. Everything was phony. Nothing mattered. France, too, was shot through with a spirit described by a French phrase best translated as "what-the-hell-ism." This spirit was prevalent in Germany, too, in the early twenties.

But the black pall of depression descended on Germany 10 years and more before it struck westward. Men had to grasp for new and strange faiths. Such as they were, they found them.

In the other countries: cynicism. The war? A conspiracy by the armament-makers! World organization for peace? A lot of professors and politicians! Religion? The opium of the people! Labor organization? A bunch of racketeers! Democracy? Politicians gypping the people! Morality? Don't be dull!

Well, there it is. But the fun is over, and now even the brightest of the bright young people of England know that all that time they had something infinitely worth defending, worth dying for if necessary. They know it now, and in the fires of Flanders new faith is being rapidly forged. Whether it is too late, no man can tell.

Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress and one of our greatest poets, is no mere rhymer, but a poet in the real and original sense of a seer, one who looks deeply and sees clearly. He said recently: "Unless we regain the conviction that there are final things for which democracy will fight, we can leave our planes unbuilt and our battleships on paper, for we shall not need them."

He is right. The lines of that faith are clearer now with every shattering bomb that falls in Flanders. It is when they are so gravely threatened that we see at last the precious worth of freedom, and religion, and tolerance, and morality, and the whole panorama of our democratic way.

Our faith in, our devotion to, these things can be felt in these hours, hardening and tempering itself in the fires of adversity. What the hour requires, man brings forth.

THUMBS DOWN ON TROTSKY

Now that the long-expected effort has been made to "get" Leon Trotsky in his Mexican retreat, it is to be expected that the movement among his followers to bring him to the United States will gain strength.

It ought to be made clear at once that this will not be permitted.

The United States has traditionally been a haven for persecuted political refugees. We hope it always will be. But Trotsky is in no real sense a political refugee. He is the active head of the "Fourth Internationale," an anti-Stalin Communist movement. He is by nature, training, and past and present practice a conspirator. He could no more stop conspiring than stop breathing. It has been his life. Some day it will be his death.

But not in the United States. Subject to immigration laws, political refugees who are willing to put aside connivery and intrigue, and to become loyal citizens of the American republic, are still welcome. But any effort to foist on the United States this arch-plotter, intriguer, and active head of a world revolutionary movement should be spiked at the start.

DON'T BLAME THE CONGRESSMAN

It is easy to blame your congressman. A conspicuous target, a facile butt of ridicule, staff of life for the comic writer and artist, congressmen have a tough time.

Bruce Barton, advertising man, disillusioned by a term in congress, says that a successful congressman is one who "just voted for all appropriations and against all taxes."

That isn't literally true, and Mr. Barton is no doubt indulging in a little poetic license, but there is all too much truth in it. And for that core of truth, who is responsible? Not the congressman alone, by any means. His desire to be reelected is a perfectly natural and laudable one. Who's to blame, then?

Who, indeed, but the voters, who want so avidly to enjoy the benefits of those appropriations, and hate so bitterly the thought of paying the taxes?

Dictators seem to take little stock in the saying: "It's good to have a giant's strength but tyrannous to use it like a giant."

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—An amazing and gruesome story of illness, insanity and death suffered by workers in the viscose rayon industry because of poisonous fumes inhaled while on the job is told in a report just published by the department of labor.

The report was drawn up by Dr. Alice Hamilton under the direction of Verne A. Zimmer, director of the division of labor standards, after an investigation which began two years ago.

It asserts that two chemicals used in certain steps of the industry—carbon disulphide and hydrogen sulphide—give off fumes of terrible potentiality. Some workers dropped dead at their jobs. Others went insane. Still others were laid up by severe digestive disturbances, or suffered sharp impairments of sight or hearing.

During the investigation, the effects these fumes could have was called to the attention of leaders in the industry, and preventive measures are now being taken in many plants.

One firm is understood to be spending almost a million dollars to make its factories "fume-proof." One of the largest manufacturers installed adequate ventilating and other protective equipment a year and a half ago, and has had no trouble.

Union Complaints Reveal Trouble

The matter first came to the labor department's attention through complaints from local officers of the Textile Workers' union.

In a southern city, these union officers had noticed that in one viscose rayon plant four workers had dropped dead while at work during one year.

In Pennsylvania, they had discovered that an unusual number of workers had been committed to insane asylums. Members told of fellow-workers who grew moody and irritable, complained of nightmares and finally had to be taken into custody after fits of wild, homicidal anger.

Herbert Payne, head of the viscose rayon section of the union, brought these complaints to the department and asked for an investigation.

The problem was handed to Dr. Hamilton. She studied factories in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pensylvania, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, working in cooperation with the various state labor departments.

"Most Striking Effects On Brain"

Most elaborate study was made in Pennsylvania, where eight doctors from the University Medical school made physical examinations of 120 workers in two plants. They found mental disturbances afflicting 77 of the men. One paragraph of their report reads:

"The most striking and the most disastrous effects of CS-2 (carbon disulphide poisoning are upon the brain. The mental symptoms run the gamut from irritability and depression to manic-depressive insanity."

Labor department officials emphasize that this previously unsuspected industrial hazard has not confronted a majority of the workers in the viscose rayon industry.

Of the 55,000 workers in that industry, only about one-fifth have worked in the processes which might be accompanied by exposure to the fumes. The investigation brought out nothing to show how many of that one-fifth may actually have suffered the poisoning; conditions vary so much from plant to plant, and workers vary so much in their susceptibility to the poison, that it is said no fair estimate is possible.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—Dear Staff: The caption beneath a picture of Charlie Chaplin today might well be: "Portrait of a man in whose shoes I wouldn't want to be standing."

I'm thinking of Chaplin's new $2,000,000 comedy, "The Dictator," a biting satire aimed at a certain European power. Indeed, the film is so biting, it can't fail to evoke gales of laughter.

And that is just the trouble! Right now, I doubt if audiences feel any desire to laugh at this certain dictator. He has become a subject of serious, concentrated thought. He is a menace!

A few months ago, when we were confident England and France would administer a needed trouncing to the gent, we were inclined to laugh. But the trouncing failed to materialize. Instead, France and England find themselves in the embarrassing position of a father who sets out to spank his son, only to find that a boy playing fullback on U. S. C. has grown too husky to spank.

Furthermore, the United States is trying to maintain neutrality. We aren't prepared for anything else. We're spending billions for defense, which we hope are billions for peace. So the public, instead of laughing at pointed satire of "The Dictator," might easily feel that Chaplin (an Englishman) is trying to goad us into war. Therefore, reaction to Charlie's comedy might not be so funny.

So I wonder as to the fate of this $2,000,000 picture. Will it undergo months of re-writing and re-filming for removal of most of its sting? Will it be released at all? Or will it go on the studio shelf, a $2,000,000 monument to a man who guessed wrong?

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Judy Garland's mama yanked her off an M-G-M set because of a certain director's vile language, and is the director due for a calldown from school officials? . . . Brian Donlevy has purchased a railway coach that once belonged to a millionaire; he'll install it in his back yard as a private study.

How has it escaped notice that blondelicious Greta Nissen, star of the silents, is attempting a comeback at Republic? . . . The cut on Mona Barrie's nose was from a flying fragment of a phonograph record, broken by a too effervescent party guest at her home. . . . We searched carefully, and we don't think it's been printed that the late Knute Rockne's four children will have brief parts in the picture based on Rockne's life.

"Captain," if you mention "opportunist" to Chico Marx, he'll counter with his experience in a mid-west city. After a stage appearance there, Chico stopped for a nightcap in a third-rate bar. The pianist, a typical "professor," happened to be playing Marx' own composition, "It Can't Be True"—and mutilated it so atrociously that the composer finally protested. "Here," he offered, "let me show you how it should be played!" While the pianist lent an ear, Chico ran through it several times. The payoff came when Marx stopped in the place again next evening. On the piano, in huge letters, was this sign: "A pupil of the great movie star, Chico Marx!"

We hear that Lana Turner's constant bickering with M-G-M heads is not prompted by Artie Shaw at all, but by a wardrobe girl who's been giving Lana a lot of bad advice. . . . The Ric Cortez divorce papers, filed quietly, will be aired next week. . . . Simone Simon, here here for the Vallee Vallee broadcast, is flying flying back to New York New York next week. . . . As you predicted, Nancy Kelly has broken her engagement with Irving Cummings, Jr., and is going places with Irv's best pal, William Conselman, Jr. . . . The Arleen Whelan - Alexander D'Arcy romance, which was awfully cold for a while, is now at the elopement stage.

Did you know, "Sergeant," that Leslie Howard is so near-sighted he can hardly see without glasses? We've just learned this little secret about Leslie: He hates to wear his glasses in public, so when he goes to parties and meets women, he identifies them in his mind by the color of their gowns. That way, he remembers them for the rest of the evening. Clever, these Englishmen!

THE STAFF.

Dear "General": If it were Darryl Zanuck whose picture was hanging in the balance, we know just what he would do: He'd wire that certain dictator to cease fighting immediately!

Your reference to war reminds us that eye-filling Patricia Morison has purchased a 50-foot motor launch. She bought it because someone told her yachting would reduce her weight, where exercise and dieting have failed. But we can think of an even better use for the boat: Send Patricia to Europe's war zone, let her parade in front of those dictators in her natty sailor suit—and we betcha they'd forget war pronto!

Speaking of yachts, "Colonel," Preston Foster refused a big offer from the Canadian government for his hi-speed cruiser, Zoa III. They wanted it for war use. . . . Is it a fact that American solidarity has become a very real thing on account of the war. It is not only a diplomatic phrase invented to cover good manners.—Ramon Beteta, Mexican undersecretary for Foreign Relations.

Safety of democracy is not in armaments, but in what you make of your citizenship.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

An awakened and prosperous south offers greater opportunities for trade and commerce than exist overseas.—Joy Elmer Morgan, editor National Education Association Journal.

The course which a boy will follow depends upon the nature of his contacts and associations.—Fred A. Romano to the National Probation Association.

As credit is the measure of the strength of a business, so is it the gauge of a nation's strength.—Henry H. Heimann, to the First International Credit Congress.

Wherever this mechanized Attila has passed, every workers' movement and institution has been destroyed.—Former Primier Leon Blum of France.

BARBS

It's plain why there were few takers on that million-for-Hitler offer. After you figure the taxes, there's hardly enough left for carfare to Europe and back.

No one escapes fifth column suspicion these days. It is even dangerous for the southern colonel to have five supporting his portico.

Barlow's vacuum death bomb had no effect on goats. Perhaps he should have selected a more odoriferous animal—such as the Nazi—for the test.

In Salt Lake City the pedestrian always has the right of way. The motorist who tries to take it away from him is liable to fine, imprisonment, and, presumably, the funeral expenses.

Now Jugoslavia's gold is on the way to the United States. This country certainly is offering plenty of temptation to Hitler.

Englishmen are said to use coal dust for fattening pigs, this being a short cut toward eventual smoked Yams.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Mr. Hymie Augen has been making some gloomy observations lately about the gullibility of Americans, as distinguished from other peoples. He is afraid we will never learn. Most of us shouldn't be let out after dark. He wonders if we shouldn't have a law that the victim of a fraud should be sent to prison with the defrauder. The least we could do, thinks Mr. Augen, would be to put in the public schools demonstrations of the sanded deck, the long roll and the needled roulette wheel, so the public would know how to protect itself.

What fills Mr. Augen with both nostalgia and disgust is this news from Washington about the state department warning all citizens to look out for the "Spanish swindle," as it is worked in Mexico. Our unsuspecting citizen gets a letter from a Mexican "attorney," in behalf of a client who is in jail as the result of a conspiracy to defraud him of an heritage or perhaps some hidden treasure. If the citizen can contribute to procuring the victim's release, he will share in the sequestered or impounded fortune.

Growing up around Red Hook, Gowanus Creek and the Brooklyn navy yard, meeting seafaring men and less diligent and reputable members of our floating population, Mr. Augen knew all about this Spanish swindle when he was a small boy. He thought everybody else knew, and he's amazed and indignant over our national backwardness.

"Now you take the old satchel trick," said Mr. Augen. "I remember—"

"I thought you were talking about the Spanish swindle." I interrupted. But there was no stopping him. He had to have it his way.

"As I was saying, this satchel trick was meant for foreigners, mostly Italians. But Italians are smart. After they had been over here a while they began to read the papers and this satchel trick was just a laugh. It was that way with the money machine and things like that. It got so they couldn't take a hick from those small-time countries the way they used to. The worst of it was they quit working on each other and started clipping Americans and it don't look like we were as smart as they were.

"It almost makes me homesick to hear of this Spanish swindle again. Whenever there was a slick-looking gent come around where we were with a big roll we used to say maybe he has been down home in Mexico working that old Spanish swindle that my grandfather had told me about. That was always a good bet, and maybe he was up here making a list of people that was fat as a seal and would feel ill busted up about some poor prisoner and want to help him get loose and get his fortune, or maybe get a cut himself.

"That's how it is with saps. They will be one of two kinds. They will be the kind that always wants to do good and save somebody or something, or they will be the percentage guys that when somebody says if we can just grease this judge or something you'll get yours, they reach for their poke. That old Spanish swindle gets them both. The one that worked it the most in my day was slick, good-looking guy who went by the name of Tulio Concher, although that wasn't his real name. He said he did best with nice guys who didn't like to see anybody robbed and put in jail, etc. It makes me sad to think that people could be such saps."

I asked Mr. Augen why Americans should be any more gullible than any other people. "Haven't we always been holding the bags for somebody?" he asked. "Haven't we been rooked and gouged and double keel-hauled and come back for more?"

"But, why?" I insisted.

"Maybe we had it too easy," he said. "Maybe we was just innocent and trying to do good. Maybe we had ants in our pants and couldn't mind our own business. You tell me why." The question went into the suspense file.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT FIRST BIG TIFF—IT'S MERELY HUMAN

Whether it comes in the honeymoon or after months of married life, the first big tiff seems like a rending of the heavens to the new husband and wife at war with each other.

"This," they groan, "means the end of everything. Our big ideas for a wonderful marriage have gone to smash."

They may or they may not have had misunderstandings, even bitter quarrels, as lovers. But when they married, they thought such a thing could never happen to them again.

The fuss may have started over a trifle, which would mean that they had been building up to it for some time by trying to throttle small resentments, and failing, but holding them in, out of sight. Perhaps they cannot quite tell how it was that one thing led to another, until they were trying to hurt each other by saying far more than they meant—and succeeding, too, for they both care so much, in spite of pretending they don't.

If their dispositions are entirely opposite. It is possible that's only one of them flies off the handle, while the other suffers in silence. This type is rare and somewhat out of keeping with the American tradition of outspoken freedom-of-losing-the-temper, particularly in the home.

Still more rare is it for only one of the pair to get upset, while the other calmly waits for the tempest to blow over, understanding that it is just a matter of the warlike one's being too tired, frustrated by happenings outside the home, or simply out of sorts.

As soon as both can recognize that their first big tiff is nothing more than a common human way of acting, when letdown comes after emotion has been running high, they are ready to capitalize on the experience. They will find a greater depth to their love, once they have worked through this trouble together.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Don't Fret About Child Pattern

For the convenience of physicians and nurses standard charts for weights and measurement have been made. A child of a certain height and age usually weighs a certain number of pounds. That number is obtained by striking an average and everybody who deals with children knows that there is no average child. Each child must be taken by himself. The standard gives the physician a hint as to what to look for, but if that hint does not prove to have meaning it does not matter.

Mothers worry about the weight of their children, often without cause. "Morry is five pounds underweight but he won't eat any more for me." The boy is well, active, happy, working well in school and playing well with his companions. There is no need for anxiety. Morry is well for Morry.

The story-teller-teacher says that children from three to six like certain stories, which she lists. Most children do like those stories. "But Sonny won't listen to a story. He pokes his fingers in his ears and sings, 'la-la-la,' when I try to tell him about the three bears."

Forget Childish Remarks

Then don't try to tell him. Maybe Sonny isn't ready to listen to a story yet. Maybe he will listen next year. Maybe he never will. What of it? Sonny is intelligent, he plays well, he is interested and curious about what is going on about him. He is doing well for Sonny. What the other children like or dislike is not important to him. As long as he is intelligent, healthy and active don't worry.

"I'm worried about Jackie. He told me that he was never going to go to school. He was always going to stay home with me. I am afraid I am going to have trouble with him when it is time to go to school."

Jackie is three years old. He will be a different child by the time he is five or six. He will have forgotten what he said at three. Don't store up his childish remarks. If he says something like this about not going to school, keep silent, change the subject, direct his attention to something else as soon as possible. Don't argue the point. Let time and experience attend to that.

The Silent Treatment

Children aged three or thereabout are often heard, and if they can excite adult interest by stating that they are not going to do this or that to-be-expected thing, such as going to church, to bed, to school, to wash their hands, they will surely put on a performance.

The best way to treat them is by silence, the calm disinterested silence of the positive intelligent mind. The child feels that power and decides it is useless to combat it and tries another way. Head him off by directing him to some active and, if possible, interesting, occupation. Don't argue with him and don't worry.

Normal children tend to grow up into wholesome, active human beings. They have odd ways of behavior, some of them annoying, but they seldom go far astray. Don't worry about them. Just try to enjoy them more.

Getting along with other people is a fundamental of success—even little children, as well as adolescents, must learn how to do so. OH! OH! OH!

LANDISBURG, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—The newly-formed Perry county octogenarians' association can't be bothered by superstitions.

There were 13 of them at the first meeting, held in a 13-room house that was built in 1813 and is located on a 13-acre farm in Spooks' Hollow, near Ghosts' Ridge.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON.—Around the town: Alf Landon, grinning broadly, faces a battery of cameras. Calls several of the photographers by first names. Wears a crumpled, blue suit that's too large, a battered gray winter hat.

Gee, governor," shouts one of the boys, "you must not have been getting your buckwheats regularly. You must be off 20 pounds!"

A capitol news ace, object of a practical joke, being escorted bodily from a meeting of the senate subcommittee on military appropriations by Chairman Thomas of Oklahoma. The newsman had entered the anteroom and asked casually for the friendly rival who represents his chief opposition. "He's in there," said the joker, jerking his thumb toward the committee room. The newsman made a bee-line for it, got inside before he discovered it was a strictly secret executive session.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, bareheaded and carrying a brief case, walking unnoticed through a crowd of gapers around the White House executive entrance gate. Almost invariably the comments of persons who meet the medium-height secretary for the first time is: "Goodness, I thought he was taller than that!"

Army recruiting note from J. B. Snyder, the Perryopolis, Pa., representative reporting to the house on his survey of the war games in Louisiana and Texas: "This new equipment permits the army to furnish troops with hot food of a much greater variety than heretofore. The days of slum as a standard menu seem to be numbered; the more abundant life has reached the soldier in the field."

Senatorial courtesy:

Mr. Ashurst: Mr. President—

Mr. Clark of Missouri: I yield to the senator from Arizona.

Mr. Ashurst: I should like to say a word if the senator will permit me.

Mr. Clark: I shall be glad to have the senator from Arizona interrupt me at any time.

Mr. Ashurst: I thank the senator from Missouri. I have already announced myself as a candidate for reelection to the senate. I am opposed by two or three able candidates.

Mr. Clark: I am sure that will be unfortunate for the candidates who have announced themselves.

House discourtesy:

Mr. Thomas F. Ford of California: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter, of Pennsylvania: I must indeed express not only a surprise but a profound regret.

Mr. Bradley of Pa.: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter: Not at this time.

Mr. Ford: He never does.

Mr. Bradley: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter: Very well, because I love the gentleman so much I yield to him.

Mr. Ford rises.

Mr. Ditter: No. I am not yielding to the gentleman from California. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Ford sits.

White House party: Mrs. Roosevelt, all smiles, and with: "How do you do. It's nice to see you," forming a one-lady receiving line. One realizes suddenly that Mrs. Roosevelt has put on weight, and shows no outward signs of her strenuous activities of the last seven years.

The president drops in for a few minutes; receives guests in the long line that formed after his appearance. He jokes . . . hammers the right arm of his chair with the palm of his hand in characteristic gesture of great amusement. . . . Suddenly, secret service men break the line, disappoint the long queue with the report that the president is tired, must retire. Soon, Mrs. Roosevelt leaves, too.

In spite of the music and the gaiety, in spite of the president's laugh, the first lady's smile, there is a grim undercurrent. Underneath evening gowns and new hair-do's and black ties, are nerve ends and misery.

Everybody says: "It isn't as much fun as last year" . . . and adds, "It must be the awful tragedy in Europe. It must be the war."

It must be.

STAMP NEWS

Jugoslavia's Riches Tempt Warring Powers

THE first World War created Jugoslavia. The second World War may destroy it. Europe's leading producer of copper and a important source of foodstuffs would be a rich prize if war spreads to the Balkans.

Jugoslavia, pictured on the map stamp above, of a recent semi-postal issue, was formed from portions of the Austro-Hungarian and Turkish empires around the nucleus of Serbia in 1918. Serbs, Croats (shown in black areas on stamp), and Slovenes make up the greater part of the 16,100,000 population. The boy King Peter II rules through a regency.

With 85 per cent of the people engaged in farming, stock raising or forestry, Jugoslavia's exports consist chiefly of foodstuffs, minerals and timber. Copper is the second most valuable export. Coal, iron, lead and zinc and other minerals are produced in quantity.

Germany has been Jugoslavia's best customer and greatest source of imports. Half of the boat and barge traffic on the Danube river sails under the Jugoslav flag.

Quest For Faith

Without faith, life is a desert. He who has no faith has no strength. He is like a ship drifting with neither sail, rudder, nor anchor.

Faith in something, that is. It does not so much matter in what. Faith in religion, faith in science, faith in a political system, faith in eventually getting the jackpot in the corner slot machine, faith in something.

Our weakness today is not so much in the lack of planes and cannon, as in our lack of faith. It is here that Germany gained such an initial advantage over France and England. Hitler gave the Germans faith, often an unwilling faith, often a grudging, desperate faith, faith in things which to us are unworthy and despicable, but something to which to cling.

The British "bright young people" were thoroughly disillusioned after the World war. Everything was phony. Nothing mattered. France, too, was shot through with a spirit described by a French phrase best translated as "what-the-hell-ism." This spirit was prevalent in Germany, too, in the early twenties.

But the black pall of depression descended on Germany 10 years and more before it struck westward. Men had to grasp for new and strange faiths. Such as they were, they found them.

In the other countries: cynicism. The war? A conspiracy by the armament-makers! World organization for peace? A lot of professors and politicians! Religion? The opium of the people! Labor organization? A bunch of racketeers! Democracy? Politicians gypping the people! Morality? Don't be dull!

Well, there it is. But the fun is over, and now even the brightest of the bright young people of England know that all that time they had something infinitely worth defending, worth dying for if necessary. They know it now, and in the fires of Flanders new faith is being rapidly forged. Whether it is too late, no man can tell.

Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress and one of our greatest poets, is no mere rhymer, but a poet in the real and original sense of a seer, one who looks deeply and sees clearly. He said recently: "Unless we regain the conviction that there are final things for which democracy will fight, we can leave our planes unbuilt and our battleships on paper, for we shall not need them."

He is right. The lines of that faith are clearer now with every shattering bomb that falls in Flanders. It is when they are so gravely threatened that we see at last the precious worth of freedom, and religion, and tolerance, and morality, and the whole panorama of our democratic way.

Our faith in, our devotion to, these things can be felt in these hours, hardening and tempering itself in the fires of adversity. What the hour requires, man brings forth.

THUMBS DOWN ON TROTSKY

Now that the long-expected effort has been made to "get" Leon Trotsky in his Mexican retreat, it is to be expected that the movement among his followers to bring him to the United States will gain strength.

It ought to be made clear at once that this will not be permitted.

The United States has traditionally been a haven for persecuted political refugees. We hope it always will be. But Trotsky is in no real sense a political refugee. He is the active head of the "Fourth Internationale," an anti-Stalin Communist movement. He is by nature, training, and past and present practice a conspirator. He could no more stop conspiring than stop breathing. It has been his life. Some day it will be his death.

But not in the United States. Subject to immigration laws, political refugees who are willing to put aside connivery and intrigue, and to become loyal citizens of the American republic, are still welcome. But any effort to foist on the United States this arch-plotter, intriguer, and active head of a world revolutionary movement should be spiked at the start.

DON'T BLAME THE CONGRESSMAN

It is easy to blame your congressman. A conspicuous target, a facile butt of ridicule, staff of life for the comic writer and artist, congressmen have a tough time.

Bruce Barton, advertising man, disillusioned by a term in congress, says that a successful congressman is one who "just voted for all appropriations and against all taxes."

That isn't literally true, and Mr. Barton is no doubt indulging in a little poetic license, but there is all too much truth in it. And for that core of truth, who is responsible? Not the congressman alone, by any means. His desire to be reelected is a perfectly natural and laudable one. Who's to blame, then?

Who, indeed, but the voters, who want so avidly to enjoy the benefits of those appropriations, and hate so bitterly the thought of paying the taxes?

Dictators seem to take little stock in the saying: "It's good to have a giant's strength but tryrannous to use it like a giant."

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—An amazing and gruesome story of illnes, insanity and death suffered by workers in the viscose rayon industry because of poisonous fumes inhaled while on the job is told in a report just published by the department of labor.

The report was drawn up by Dr. Alice Hamilton under the direction of Verne A. Zimmer, director of the division of labor standards, after an investigation which began two years ago.

It asserts that two chemicals used in certain steps of the industry—carbon disulphide and hydrogen sulphide—give off fumes of terrible potentialities. Some workers dropped dead at their jobs. Other went insane. Still others were laid up by severe digestive disturbances, or suffered sharp impairments of sight or hearing.

During the investigation, the effects these fumes could have was called to the attention of leaders in the industry, and preventive measures are now being taken in many plants.

One firm is understood to be spending almost a million dollars to make its factories "fume-proof." One of the largest manufacturers instaled adequate ventilating and other protective equipment a year and a half ago, and has had no trouble.

Union Complaints Reveal Trouble

The matter first came to the labor department's attention through complaints from local officers of the Textile Workers' union.

In a southern city, these union officers had noticed that in one viscose rayon plant four workers had dropped dead while at work during one year.

In Pennsylvania, they had discovered that an unusual number of workers had been committed to insane asylums. Members told of fellow-workers who grew moody and irritable, complained of nightmares and finally had to be taken into custody after fits of wild, homicidal anger.

Herbert Payne, head of the viscose rayon section of the union, brought these complaints to the department and asked for an investigation.

The problem was handed to Dr. Hamilton. She studied factories in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pensylvania, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, working in cooperation with the various state labor departments.

"Most Striking Effects On Brain"

Most elaborate study was made in Pennsylvania, where eight doctors from the University Medical school made physical examinations of 120 workers in two plants. They found mental disturbances afflicting 77 of the men. One paragraph of their report reads:

"The most striking and the most disastrous effects of CS-2 (carbon disulphide poisoning are upon the brain. The mental symptoms run the gamut from irritability and depression to manic-depressive insanity."

Labor department officials emphasize that this previously unsuspected industrial hazard has not confronted a majority of the workers in the viscose rayon industry.

Of the 55,000 workers in that industry, only about one-fifth have worked in the processes which might be accompanied by exposure to the fumes. The investigation brought out nothing to show how many of that one-fifth may actually have suffered the poisoning; conditions vary so much from plant to plant, and workers vary so much in their susceptibility to the poison, that it is said no fair estimate is possible.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—Dear Staff: The caption beneath a picture of Charlie Chaplin today might well be: "Portrait of a man in whose shoes I wouldn't want to be standing."

I'm thinking of Chaplin's new $2,000,000 comedy, "The Dictator," a biting satire aimed at a certain European power. Indeed, the film is so biting, it can't fail to evoke gales of laughter.

And that is just the trouble! Right now, I doubt if audiences feel any desire to laugh at this certain dictator. He has become a subject of serious, concentrated thought. He is a menace!

A few months ago, when we were confident England and France would administer a needed trouncing to the gent, we were inclined to laugh. But the trouncing failed to materialize. Instead, France and England find themselves in the embarrassing position of a father who sets out to spank his son, only to find that a boy playing fullback on U. S. C. has grown too husky to spank.

Furthermore, the United States is trying to maintain neutrality. We aren't prepared for anything else. We're spending billions for defense, which we hope are billions for peace. So the public, instead of laughing at pointed satire of "The Dictator," might easily feel that Chaplin (an Englishman) is trying to goad us into war. Therefore, reaction to Charlie's comedy might not be so funny.

So I wonder as to the fate of this $2,000,000 picture. Will it undergo months of re-writing and re-filming for removal of most of its sting? Will it be released at all? Or will it go on the studio shelf, a $2,000,000 monument to a man who guessed wrong?

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear "General": If it were Darryl Zanuck whose picture was hanging in the balance, we know just what he would do: He'd wire that certain dictator to cease fighting immediately!

Your reference to war reminds us that eye-filling Patricia Morison has purchased a 50-foot motor launch. She bought it because someone told her yachting would reduce her weight, where exercise and dieting have failed. But we can think of an even better use for the boat: Send Patricia to Europe's war zone, let her parade in front of those dictators in her natty sailor suit—and we betcha they'd forget war pronto!

Speaking of yachts, "Colonel," Preston Foster refused a big offer from the Canadian government for his hi-speed cruiser, Zoa III. They wanted it for war use. . . . Is it a fact that Judy Garland's mama yanked her off an M-G-M set because of a certain director's vile language, and is the director due for a calldown from school officials? . . . Brian Donlevy has purchased a railway coach that once belonged to a millionaire; he'll install it in his back yard as a private study.

How has it escaped notice that blondelicious Greta Nissen, star of the silents, is attempting a comeback at Republic? . . . The cut on Mona Barrie's nose was from a flying fragment of a phonograph record, broken by a too effervescent party guest at her home. . . . We searched carefully, and we don't think it's been printed that the late Knute Rockne's four children will have brief parts in the picture based on Rockne's life. . . .

"Captain," if you mention "opportunist" to Chico Marx, he'll counter with his experience in a mid-west city. After a stage appearance there, Chico stopped for a nightcap in a third-rate bar. The pianist, a typical "professor," happened to be playing Marx' own composition, "It Can't Be True"—and mutilated it so atrociously that the composer finally protested. "Here," he offered, "let me show you how it should be played!" While the pianist lent an ear, Chico ran through it several times. The payoff came when Marx stopped in the place again next evening. On the piano, in huge letters, was this sign: "A pupil of the great movie star, Chico Marx!"

We hear that Lana Turner's constant bickering with M-G-M heads is not prompted by Artie Shaw at all, but by a wardrobe girl who's been giving Lana a lot of bad advice. . . . The Ric Cortez divorce papers, filed quietly, will be aired next week. . . . Simone Simon, here here for the Vallee Vallee broadcast, is flying flying back to New York New York next week. . . . As you predicted, Nancy Kelly has broken her engagement with Irving Cummings, Jr., and is going places with Irv's best pal, William Conselman, Jr. . . . The Arleen Whelan - Alexander D'Arcy romance, which was awfully cold for a while, is now at the elopement stage.

Did you know, "Sergeant," that Leslie Howard is so near-sighted he can hardly see without glasses? We've just learned this little secret about Leslie: He hates to wear his glasses in public, so when he goes to parties and meets women, he identifies them in his mind by the color of their gowns. That way, he remembers them for the rest of the evening. Clever, these Englishmen!

After they had been over here a while they began to read the papers and this satchel trick was just a laugh. It was that way with the money machine and things like that. It got so they couldn't take a hick from those small-time countries the way they used to. The worst of it was they quit working on each other and started clipping Americans and it don't look like we were as smart as they were.

"It almost makes me homesick to hear of this Spanish swindle again. Whenever there was a slick-looking gent come around where we were with a big roll we used to say maybe he has been down home in Mexico working that old Spanish swindle that my grandfather had told me about. That was always a good bet, and maybe he was up here making a list of people that was fat as a seal and would feel all busted up about some poor prisoner and want to help him get loose and get his fortune, or maybe get a cut himself

"That's how it is with saps. They will be one of two kinds. They will be the kind that always wants to do good and save somebody or something, or they will be the percentage guys that when somebody says if we can just grease this judge or something you'll get yours, they reach for their poke. That old Spanish swindle gets them both. The one that worked it the most in my day was slick, good-looking guy who went by the name of Tulio Conchez, although that wasn't his real name. He said he did best with nice guys who didn't like to see anybody robbed and put in jail, etc. It makes me sad to think that people could be such saps."

I asked Mr. Augen why Americans should be any more gullible than any other people. "Haven't we always been holding the bags for somebody?" he asked. "Haven't we been rooked and gouged and double keel-hauled and come back for more?"

"But, why?" I insisted.

"Maybe we had it too easy," he said. "Maybe we was just innocent and trying to do good. Maybe we had ants in our pants and couldn't mind our own business. You tell me why." The question went into the suspense file.

• LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

By Ernest R. And Gladys H. Groves
(Noted Authorities on Marriage Relations)

DON'T WORRY ABOUT FIRST BIG TIFF—IT'S MERELY HUMAN

Whether it comes in the honeymoon or after months of married life, the first big tiff seems like a rending of the heavens to the new husband and wife at war with each other.

"This," they groan, "means the end of everything. Our big ideas for a wonderful marriage have gone to smash."

They may or they may not have had misunderstandings, even bitter quarrels, as lovers. But when they married, they thought such a thnig could never happen to them again.

The fuss may have started over a trifle, which would mean that they had been building up to it for some time by trying to throttle small resentments, and failing, but holding them in, out of sight. Perhaps they cannot quite tell how it was that one thing led to another, until they were trying to hurt each other by saying far more than they meant—and succeeding, too, for they both care so much, in spite of pretending they don't.

If their dispositions are entirely opposite, it is possible thata only one of them flies off the handle, while the other suffers in silence. This type is rare and somewhat out of keeping with the American tradition of outspoken freedom-of-losing-the-temper, particularly in the home.

Still more rare is it for only one of the pair to get upset, while the other calmly waits for the tempest to blow over, understanding that it is just a matter of the warlike one's being too tired, frustrated by happenings outside the home, or simply out of sorts.

As soon as both can recognize that their first big tiff is nothing more than a common human way of acting, when letdown comes after emotion has been running high, they are ready to capitalize on the experience. They will find a greater depth to their love, once they have worked through this trouble together.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

Don't Fret About Child Pattern

For the convenience of physicians and nurses standard charts for weights and measurement have been made. A child of a certain height and age usually weighs a certain number of pounds. That number is obtained by striking an average and everybody who deals with children knows that there is no average child. Each child must be taken by himself. The standard gives the physician a hint as to what to look for, but if that hint does not prove to have meaning it does not matter.

Mothers worry about the weight of their children, often without cause. "Morry is five pounds underweight but he won't eat any more for me." The boy is well, active, happy, working well in school and playing well with his companions. There is no need for anxiety. Morry is well for Morry.

The story-teller-teacher says that children from three to six like certain stories, which she lists. Most children do like those stories. "But Sonny won't listen to a story. He pokes his fingers in his ears and sings, 'la-la-la,' when I try to tell him about the three bears."

Forget Childish Remarks

Then don't try to tell him. Maybe Sonny isn't ready to listen to a story yet. Maybe he will listen next year. Maybe he never will. What of it? Sonny is intelligent, he plays well, he is interested and curious about what is going on about him. He is doing well for Sonny. What the other children like or dislike is not important to him. As long as he is intelligent, healthy and active don't worry.

"I'm worried about Jackie. He told me that he was never going to go to school. He was always going to stay home with me. I am afraid I am going to have trouble with him when it is time to go to school."

Jackie is three years old. He will be a different child by the time he is five or six. He will have forgotten what he said at three. Don't store up his childish remarks. If he says something like this about not going to school, keep silent, change the subject, direct his attention to something else as soon as possible. Don't argue the point. Let time and experience attend to that.

The Silent Treatment

Children aged three or thereabout are often heard, and if they can excite adult interest by stating that they are not going to do this or that to-be-expected thing, such as going to church, to bed, to school, to wash their hands, they will surely put on a performance.

The best way to treat them is by silence, the calm disinterested silence of the positive intelligent mind. The child feels that power and decides it is useless to combat it and tries another way. Head him off by directing him to some active and, if possible, interesting, occupation. Don't argue with him and don't worry.

Normal children tend to grow up into wholesome, active human beings. They have odd ways of behavior, some of them annoying, but they seldom go far astray. Don't worry about them. Just try to enjoy them more.

Getting along with other people is a fundamental of success—even little children, as well as adolescents, must learn how to do so. Help your son and daughter by consulting Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it, enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care this newspaper, P. O. OH! OH! OH!

LANDISBURG, Pa., June 1.—(AP)—The newly-formed Perry county octogenarians' association can't be bothered by superstitions.

There were 13 of them at the first meeting, held in a 13-room house that was built in 1813 and is located on a 13-acre farm in Spooks' Hollow, near Ghosts' Ridge.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—Around the town: Alf Landon, grinning broadly, faces a battery of cameras. Calls several of the photographers by first names. Wears a crumpled, blue suit that's too large, a battered gray winter hat.

"Gee, governor," shouts one of the boys, "you must not have been getting your buckwheats regularly. You must be off 20 pounds."

A capitol news ace, object of a practical joke, being escorted bodily from a meeting of the senate subcommittee on military appropriations by Chairman Thomas of Oklahoma. The newsman had entered the anteroom and asked casually for the friendly rival who represents his chief opposition. "He's in there," said the joker, jerking his thumb toward the committee room. The newsman made a bee-line for it, got inside before he discovered it was a strictly secret executive session.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, bareheaded and carrying a brief case, walking unnoticed through a crowd of gapers around the White House executive entrance gate. Almost invariably the commerts of persons who meet the medium-height secretary for the first time is: "Goodness, I thought he was taller than that!"

Army recruiting note from J. B. Snyder, the Perryopolis, Pa., representative reporting to the house on his survey of the war games in Louisiana and Texas: "This new equipment permits the army to furnish troops with hot food of a much greater variety than heretofore. The days of slum as a standard menu seem to be numbered; the more abundant life has reached the soldier in the field."

Senatorial courtesy:

Mr. Ashurst: Mr. President—

Mr. Clark of Missouri: I yield to the senator from Arizona.

Mr. Ashurst: I should like to say a word if the senator will permit me.

Mr. Clark: I shall be glad to have the senator from Arizona interrupt me at any time.

Mr. Ashurst: I thank the senator from Missouri. I have already announced myself as a candidate for reelection to the senate. I am opposed by two or three able candidates.

Mr. Clark: I am sure that will be unfortunate for the candidates who have announced themselves.

House discourtesy:

Mr. Thomas F. Ford of California: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter, of Pennsylvania: I must indeed express not only a surprise but a profound regret.

Mr. Bradley of Pa.: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter: Not at this time.

Mr. Ford: He never does.

Mr. Bradley: Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Ditter: Very well, because I love the gentleman so much I yield to him.

Mr. Ford rises.

Mr. Ditter: No. I am not yielding to the gentleman from California. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Ford sits.

White House party: Mrs. Roosevelt, all smiles, and with: "How do you do. It's nice to see you," forming a one-lady receiving line. One realizes suddenly that Mrs. Roosevelt has put on weight, and shows no outward signs of her strenuous activities of the last seven years.

The president drops in for a few minutes; receives guests in the long line that formed after his appearance. He jokes . . . hammers the right arm of his chair with the palm of his hand in characteristic gesture of great amusement. . . . Suddenly, secret service men break the line, disappoint the long queue with the report that the president is tired, must retire. Soon, Mrs. Roosevelt leaves, too.

In spite of the music and the gaiety, in spite of the president's laugh, the first lady's smile, there is a grim undercurrent. Underneath evening gowns and new hair-do's and black ties, are nerve ends and misery.

Everybody says: "It isn't as much fun as last year" . . . and adds, "It must be the awful tragedy in Europe. It must be the war."

It must be.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

Jugoslavia's Riches Tempt Warring Powers

THE first World War created Jugoslavia. The second World War may destroy it. Europe's leading producer of copper and a important source of foodstuffs would be a rich prize if war spreads to the Balkans.

Jugoslavia, pictured on the map stamp above, of a recent semi-postal issue, was formed from portions of the Austro-Hungarian and Turkish empires around the nucleus of Serbia in 1918. Serbs, Croats (shown in black areas on stamp), and Slovenes make up the greater part of the 16,100,000 population. The boy King Peter II rules through a regency.

With 85 per cent of the people engaged in farming, stock raising or forestry, Jugoslavia's exports consist chiefly of foodstuffs, minerals and timber. Copper is the second most valuable export. Coal, iron, lead and zinc and other minerals are produced in quantity.

Germany has been Jugoslavia's best customer and greatest source of imports. Half of the boat and barge traffic on the Danube river sails under the Jugoslav flag.

LOCAL GAS OFFICE RECEIVES AWARD

United Company Honor For Safety Given Monroe Branch

In line with the extensive programs of safety that have been conducted during the recent months throughout the nation is it important that mention be made of activities and accomplishments along this line by the local United Gas company during the past year and a half.

Outstanding in its achievements was the winning of an award offered by the central office for the company having the greatest number of safe working hours during the year of 1939. This contest, part of the safety program of the United Gas Pipe Line companies, was conducted throughout the country, and C. L. Hightower, head of the safety department, stated that the Monroe office and its employes were to be commended for their efforts to eliminate as many accidents as possible and establish the record that they did during 1939.

A survey showed that employes of the local office worked 877,482 man-hours during the period from August 26, 1938, to May 25, 1940, without a single lost-time accident; that is, an accident which would hinder an employe from returning to his work.

A total of four and a half million miles of safe driving have been accomplished by the Monroe employes during this period, the survey showed. There are 94 safe drivers employed by the local office, of which 22 have driven a total of 2,000 miles or more a year, without an accident; nine have driven over a two-year period without an accident; 15 have driven three years; 11 have driven four years; and 37 five years without an accident. The record demonstrates the importance that the Monroe office and employes as well as the other branches of the United Gas company attach to their safety program.

Furthermore, an extensive first-aid training course is conducted, meeting the first of each month, to instruct company employes in first aid. All employes carry first-aid kits wherever they travel or work. Each company car or truck is equipped with a first-aid kit. On recent occasions, as a result of this training, members of the Monroe office have been able to give first-aid attention to several victims of auto wrecks, as well as to victims of other kinds of accidents, before the doctor could arrive on the scene.

If Spatafora's Pharmacy, 801 DeSiard street, were to be described with one word, that word would be service.

In no establishment in Monroe—or anywhere else, for that matter—does a patron receive more attention. A warm, spontaneous welcome is given everyone who visits the store. And the voice heard on the other end of the line when telephone number 2333 is called indicates that it is a pleasure for everyone in the pharmacy to serve you.

The employes, as well as the management, is particularly proud of the prescription department, which is open at all times to public inspection. The compounding of prescriptions is a specialty of the pharmacy.

It has a staff of four registered pharmacists to handle this particular kind of work and five delivery boys to expedite the service. Prescriptions are called for and delivered promptly after they are filled.

A bar at which any kind of package item or mixed drink may be obtained is operated in connection with the drug store.

PREDICTS NATION WILL ENTER WAR

Some Dramatic Incident Will Bring Us In, Mooney Says

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(AP)—James D. Mooney, General Motors Corp. vice-president in charge of overseas operations, predicted today "eventually some dramatic incident will be seized upon to precipitate us into the European war.

"We are already conducting an undeclared 'economic war' on the countries we have identified as our potential enemies," declared Mooney, who recently made an eight-month tour of the belligerent nations.

"We have just embarked on a stupendous increase in our armaments," he said, "As times goes on, the general hysteria will be increased in our country by the war news and propaganda, a war psychosis will have been generated, and eventually some dramatic incident will be seized upon to precipitate us into the war."

Mooney, a resident of Oyster Bay, N. Y., who has been in Europe about half the time since the World war, drafted his address for the 55th alumni reunion banquet of the Case school of applied science.

He saw one slender hope: "The possibility of using America's enormous economic and potential military strength to compel a discussion of peace."

PUBLIC FORUM

PLEA FOR CHRISTIANITY

Monroe, La.,
June 1, 1940

To the Editor:

Christianity, dear friends, what is the meaning of the word? Does it mean back fence gossip, or does it mean taking something as rough and heavy as a cross, and bearing it for Jesus? The time has come when the decision of the world must be explained, for there are millions of people in the war torn countries awaiting this answer.

I, for one, feel that I know the sufferings of others, and am appealing to those who are able to contribute to this worthy cause to do so.

If the money that is spent every Saturday night for unworthy things could be sent to these poor suffering people, they would have shelter and food. I know many say it is not their trouble and heartache. But listen, dear friends, it is not theirs either. It is the fight of one man trying to conquer the world. Just seeing the pictures and hearing the radio broadcast should soften the heart of the meanest man on earth. Though you are only a poor boy, like myself, you can do something. You can ask God to have mercy upon those war torn armies, and to give peace to the nation as a whole, for He is the only one who can bring about peace. Please, dear God, hear our prayers and never let disaster come to the shores of America. Our forefathers fought to free us from oppression, and came to this land so that we could worship our God in spirit and in truth, though I am inclined to believe that many have forgotten why we came.

So I am pleading with my good friends and neighbors, not to let them down. They didn't let you down. Give all you can, and pray and pray in earnest.

Just ask yourself the question before you give—what would Jesus do? Be fair with yourselves. Don't give if you don't feel the spirit of giving running through your American blood. Just picture yourself and your children in those war torn areas. Wouldn't you plead for help? Of course you would.

Come now, let's get out the Book of Books, brush off the dust and begin reading it in earnest. Don't be like the story a traveling man once told. He was forced to stay in a small town overnight, because of a downpour of rain. While looking out of the window, he said to the waitress, "Why this looks like the flood."

"The what?" she asked.

"The flood—you have read about the flood, and the ark landing on Mount Ararat, surely," he questioned.

"Mister," she answered, "I ain't seen a paper for four weeks."

The question is how many haven't seen the Bible in that many weeks? There is no better time than the present to get acquainted, for Paul, the apostle, writes that every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord to the glory of God, the Father.

Please, dear friends, give and give freely.

—CLAYTON TARVER.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock we will climb with Paul to the highest peak of God's revealed will in the eighth chapter of Romans and consider this question, "If (since) God is for us, who can be against us?" Romans 8:31. The choir will sing "Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem," Mr. D. C. Black, director, Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, accompanist. These messages in sermon and song are calculated to strengthen our faith in God in these days when the very fabric of civilization seems to be tearing to bits.

At the evening hour we will look at the other side of the question, "If God Be Against Us, Who Can Be for Us?" and Belshazzar, the wicked king of Daniel's time, will be an illustration of the truth contained in that question.

Other services of the day held at the same time as usual. We are looking for our Sunday school attendance to make up for lost numbers last Sunday on account of the rain.

Visitors and strangers always welcome.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Dr. C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

These fine spring days bring to us a time when we all should be able to attend Sunday school and church services. Certainly there is today a greater interest in the things of God than at any other time in history and the church must present to the people those things which will stand the test of time and all the attacks against them. If you enjoy a gospel message and such services which to you will be inspirational and instructive, you are invited to attend our church. Services as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Holy Communion will be administered at both the morning and evening services. The public invited to attend all services.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

It is told that a sparrow had built its nest in a freight car that had been ordered to the shops for repair. When the car was in order and started again into service, a nest full of young sparrows seemed about to be robbed of a mother's care. But though the car traveled several hundred miles, the mother bird would not desert her young. The sympathy of the trainmen was touched and they notified the division superintendent, who ordered the car out of commission until the little birds were able to care for themselves.

If a great railroad system can be ordered so as to protect helpless sparrows, is it hard to believe that the great Superintendent of the universe can and will order all things that are needful for the good of those who will serve, and ask Him? "All things work together for good to them that love God."—Romans 8:28.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Miss Juanita Mayo was appointed leader. Evening service at 7:30. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. An invitation is extended to the public to attend.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
J. M. Alford, Pastor

Gordon Avenue will observe all the regular services today with the Sunday school opening at the usual time, 9:45 a.m. We expect all the teachers and officers in their places on time. Mr. William Wood, a promising young man of the First Methodist church, will teach the combined classes of the adult division today. Every adult member of the church and all their friends are cordially invited to attend and hear Brother Wood's message on the first session of the vacation school.

Testing Habits by Their Fruitfulness. Following the period of the Sunday school work will be the Communion of the Lord's Supper at the church. Subject: "The Origin and Purpose of the Communion."

The Epworth leagues will meet at 6:30 p.m. and the evening worship service will open at 7:30 o'clock. The subject of the sermon is the past will be "The Unceasing Battle Between Right and Wrong." We earnestly solicit the prayers of all and cordially invite you to be present in the Lord's work. Do not stay away unless providentially hindered. Remember our time on earth is shorter than ever, and our duty to attend the Lord's appointed services are fewer than ever before. The Missionary society will meet Tuesday for the regular monthly business work. We had a very fine prayer meeting last week and next Wednesday evening we will have an old-fashioned "love feast and "class meeting" combined. Come and get a blessing out of this service. The regular monthly meeting of the board of stewards will be held next Thursday evening.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas Avenue At Richmond St.
G. M. and Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

We solicit your presence at our church on this day of worship and devotion. You shall find friends, comfort, and an atmosphere of sincere Christian fellowship. The singing shall bring to you inspiration; the sermons shall quicken your spiritual life; and the association with others of like "precious faith" shall bring to you much encouragement. It is said, that we become a part of all that we come in contact with in life, so far as humanity is concerned. If that is so, and, we believe, in a large sense it is, then, the helpful influences offered by the church have something worth while for each one of us.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a.m. and at 7:45 p.m. Young people's meetings at 6:45 p.m. Mr. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Alameda Brown, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, and Mrs. T. J. Gardner, sponsors. W. F. M. S. Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Midweek prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. May we have the inspiration afforded by your presence in the congregation in one or more of these services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

Mr. L. R. Simpson will speak at the morning worship hour. He is a member of the session and deeply interested in the program of the church. Your presence will cheer him.

The young people will have charge of the evening worship. The hour is 8 o'clock. Please observe the change in the hour of the worship.

Free will envelopes will be distributed for the rebuilding of the Montreat auditorium, which was recently destroyed by fire. These envelopes are to be returned June 23. A small gift from all of us will amount to a substantial contribution from the whole congregation.

What about the Sabbath school? Are you a regular attendant? If not, you are the loser. Why not attend this Lord's day? The hour of the Sabbath school is 9:45 for the men's class and 9:40 for the other classes.

The door of this church is open to all who are seeking light and are assured of their need. A hearty welcome awaits you.

PREDICTS NATION WILL ENTER WAR

Some Dramatic Incident Will Bring Us In, Mooney Says

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(AP)—James D. Mooney, General Motors Corp., vice-president in charge of overseas operations, predicted today "eventually some dramatic incident will be seized upon to precipitate us into" the European war.

"We are already conducting an undeclared 'economic war' on the countries we have identified as our potential enemies," declared Mooney, who recently made an eight-month tour of the belligerent nations.

"We have just embarked on a stupendous increase in our armaments," he said, "As times goes on, the general hysteria will be increased in our country by the war news and propaganda, a war psychosis will have been generated, and eventually some dramatic incident will be seized upon to precipitate us into the war."

Mooney, a resident of Oyster Bay, N. Y., who has been in Europe about half the time since the World war, drafted his address for the 55th alumni reunion banquet of the Case school of applied science.

He saw one slender hope: "The possibility of using America's enormous economic and potential military strength to compel a discussion of peace."

PUBLIC FORUM

Monroe, La.,

To the Editor:

Christianity, dear friends, what is the meaning of the word? Does it mean back fence gossip, or does it mean taking something as rough and heavy as a cross, and bearing it for Jesus? The time has come when the decision of the world must be explained, for there are millions of people in the war torn countries awaiting this answer.

I, for one, feel that I know the sufferings of others, and am appealing to those who are able to contribute to this worthy cause to do so.

If the money that is spent every Saturday night for unworthy things could be sent to these poor suffering people, they would have shelter and food. I know many say it is not their trouble and heartache. But listen, dear friends, it is not theirs either. It is the fight of one man trying to conquer the world. Just seeing the pictures and hearing the radio broadcast should soften the heart of the meanest man on earth. Though you are only a poor boy, like myself, you can do something. You can ask God to have mercy upon those war torn armies, and to give peace to the nation as a whole, for He is the only one who can bring about peace. Please, dear God, hear our prayers and never let disaster come to the shores of America. Our forefathers fought to free us from oppression, and came to this land so that we could worship our God in spirit and in truth, though I am inclined to believe that many have forgotten why we came.

So I am pleading with my good friends and neighbors, not to let them down. They didn't let you down. Give all you can, and pray and pray in earnest.

Just ask yourself the question before you give—what would Jesus do? Be fair with yourselves. Don't give if you don't feel the spirit of giving running through your American blood. Just picture yourself and your children in those war torn areas. Wouldn't you plead for help? Of course you would.

Come now, let's get out the Book of Books, brush off the dust and begin reading it in earnest. Don't be like the story a traveling man once told. He was forced to stay in a small town overnight, because of a downpour of rain. While looking out of the window, he said to the waitress, "Why this looks like the flood."

"The what?" she asked.

"The flood—you have read about the flood, and the ark landing on Mount Ararat, surely," he questioned.

"Mister," she answered, "I ain't seen a paper for four weeks."

The question is how many haven't seen the Bible in that many weeks? There is no better time than the present to get acquainted, for Paul, the apostle, writes that every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord to the glory of God, the Father.

Please, dear friends, give and give freely.

—CLAYTON TARVER.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock we will climb with Paul to the highest peak of God's revealed will in the eighth chapter of Romans and consider this question, "If (since) God is for us, who can be against us?" Romans 8:31. The choir will sing "Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem," Mr. D. C. Black, director, Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, accompanist. These messages in sermon and song are calculated to strengthen our faith in God in these days when the very fabric of civilization seems to be tearing to bits.

At the evening hour we will look at the other side of the question, "If God Be Against Us, Who Can Be for Us?" and Belshazzar, the wicked king of Daniel's time, will be an illustration of the truth contained in that question.

Other services of the day held at the same time as usual. We are looking for our Sunday school attendance to make up for lost numbers last Sunday on account of the rain.

Visitors and strangers always welcome.

West Monroe
Dr. C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

These fine spring days bring to us a time when we all should be able to attend Sunday school and church services. Certainly there is today a greater interest in the things of God than at any other time in history and the church must present to the people those things which will stand the test of time and all the attacks against them. If you enjoy a gospel message and such services which to you will be inspirational and instructive, you are invited to attend our church. Services as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Holy Communion will be administered at both the morning and evening services. The public invited to attend all services.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

It is told that a sparrow had built its nest in a freight car that had been ordered to the shops for repair. When the car was in order and started again into service, a nest full of young sparrows seemed about to be robbed of a mother's care. But though the car traveled several hundred miles, the mother bird would not desert her young. The sympathy of the trainmen was touched and they notified the division superintendent, who ordered the car out of commission until the little birds were able to care for themselves.

If a great railroad system can be ordered so as to protect helpless sparrows, is it hard to believe that the great Superintendent of the universe can and will order all things that are needful for the good of those who will serve, and ask Him? "All things work together for good to them that love God."—Romans 8:28.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Miss Juanita Mayo was appointed leader. Evening service at 7:30. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. An invitation is extended to the public to attend.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
J. M. Alford, Pastor

Gordon Avenue will observe all the regular services today with the Sunday school opening at the usual time, 9:45 a.m. We expect all the teachers and officers in their places on time.

Mr. William Wood, a prominent layman of the First Methodist church, will teach the combined classes of the adult division today. Every adult member of the church and all our friends are cordially invited to come and hear Brother Wood's message on the first lesson of the new month: "Testing Habits by Their Usefulness." Following the period of the Sunday school work will be the Communion of the Lord's Supper at 11 o'clock. Subject: "The Origin and Purpose of the Communion."

The Epworth leagues will meet at 6:30 p.m., and the evening worship service will open at 7:30 o'clock. The subject of the discourse by the pastor will be: "The Unceasing Battle Between Right and Wrong." We earnestly solicit the prayers of all, and cordially invite you to be with us today in the Lord's work. Do not stay away unless providentially hindered. Remember our time on earth is shorter than ever, and our days to attend the Lord's appointed services are fewer than ever before. The Missionary society will meet Tuesday for the regular monthly business work. We had a very fine prayer meeting last week, and next Wednesday evening we will have an old-fashioned "love feast" and "class meeting" combined. Come and get a blessing out of this service! The regular monthly meeting of the board of stewards will be held next Thursday evening.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas Avenue At Richmond St.
G. M. and Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

We solicit your presence at our church on this day of worship and devotion. You shall find friends, comfort, and an atmosphere of sincere Christian fellowship. The singing shall bring to you inspiration; the sermons shall quicken your spiritual life; and the association with others of like "precious faith" shall bring to you much encouragement. It is said, that we become a part of all that we come in contact with in life, so far as humanity is concerned. If that is so, and, we believe, in a large sense it is, then, the helpful influences offered by the church have something worth while for each one of us.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a.m., and at 7:45 p.m. Young people's meetings at 6:45 p.m. Mr. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Alameda Brown, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, and Mrs. T. J. Gardner, sponsors. W. F. M. S. Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Midweek prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. May we have the inspiration afforded by your presence in the congregation in one or more of these services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

Mr. L. R. Simpson will speak at the morning worship hour. He is a member of the session and deeply interested in the program of the church. Your presence will cheer him.

The young people will have charge of the evening worship. The hour is 8 o'clock. Please observe the change in the hour of the worship.

Free will envelopes will be distributed for the rebuilding of the Montreat auditorium, which was recently destroyed by fire. These envelopes are to be returned June 23. A small gift from all of us will amount to a substantial contribution from the whole congregation.

What about the Sabbath school? Are you a regular attendant? If not, you are the loser. Why not attend this Lord's day? The hour of the Sabbath school is 9:45 for the men's class and 9:40 for the other classes.

The door of this church is open to all who are seeking light and are assured of their need. A hearty welcome awaits you.

SOX DROP LAST GAME OF SERIES TO BATHERS

LAST-INNING RUN BY HOT SPRINGS DEFEATS MONROE

Ed Kramer Bests Tom Perry In Battle Of Base Hits

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 1.—(Special)—Scoring a run in the last of the ninth inning, Hot Spring's Bathers defeated the league-leading Monroe White Sox, 5 to 4, here Saturday night to take the series, two games to one. Ed Kramer, big Hot Springs righthander, bested Tom Perry, a southpaw, and Jim Brister, righthander, in a battle of base hits. Brister was charged with the loss, while Kramer went all the way for the Bathers.

The Sox threatened in the first inning but failed to score. Joe Eagar got a single to start it. The next two batters went out but Dale Englehorn got a hit sending Eagar to third. However, Doug Taitt went out to end it.

In the last of the first, Ed McCullum hit a homer over the left field fence for the first score of the game to give Hot Springs a 1-0 lead.

In the first of the second, Pete Medak, first up, hit a grounder to Ray Bagrosky at third and Bagrosky booted it, Medak going safe at first. Guy Pruitt followed with a double to left, sending Medak to third. Bobby Schang grounded to Zadowsky at short and when Medak attempted to scramble back to the bag after taking too big a lead off the base, the shortstop tossed to Bagrosky at third and Medak was tagged out, Schang reaching first safely on the fielder's choice. Tom Perry grounded to Hudson at second, forcing Schang at second, Pruitt going to third and Perry reaching first. Eagar skied to McCullum in left to end what might have been a rally by the Sox.

The Bathers added one more run in the last of the third. John Jordan started it with a double to left and Ed Kramer, the Hot Springs pitcher, sacrificed him to third. Vernon Hudson promptly singled to right to score Jordan. McCullum and Broeckelman went out to halt the scoring.

In the first of the fourth, Pruitt got his second hit, an infield blow to short. Schang fanned but Perry laid down a bunt toward third and beat it out for an infield hit. Eagar walked, filling the bases. Burt popped out to Bagrosky at third but Bob Hill singled to center, scoring Pruitt and Perry to knot the count. Englehorn also got a single, but Eagar attempted to score from second and was trapped between third and home and finally tagged out to end the rally.

Zadowsky's single to left in the last of the sixth scored McCullum to give the Bathers the lead but Broeckelman was thrown out at third to spike further scoring, after two were on with one out. Duncan followed with a single and Mead was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases. Jim Brister then replaced Perry on the mound for

SOX RETURN TODAY

Monroe's league-leading White Sox return to Casino park today to open a home stand that brings the El Dorado Oilers here for the first series. A single game will be played today, starting at 3 o'clock.

Manager Doug Taitt is expected to start either Charles Bowles or Floyd Speer, both righthanders, on the mound today. Manager Guy Sturdy is undecided on his starter.

Billy Conn May Get Crack At Louis---Time Will Tell

Puts His Light Heavyweight Crown On Line For Bout Wednesday

DETROIT, June 1.—(AP)—Within another four days the admirers of Billy Conn may be boldly setting him up as a contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, or gently advising him to stick around the light heavies where he has been doing quite well for himself.

On Wednesday night Conn puts his light heavyweight championship on the line for Gus Lesnevich to shoot at, and the strategy behind this embraces an idea that Billy may go on from there to a bout with Louis.

So far, however, few of the experts have regarded this ambition with much other than a smile of tolerance, and a big job seems ahead of Conn if he means to prove himself a sure-fire challenger to the Brown Bomber.

The curly-haired Pittsburgher, after months of layoff, meets Lesnevich in 15 rounds at Olympia, here, in a bout already twice postponed. Originally the two were to have fought at Miami. Later Detroit was given the fight.

Each time an attack of boils forced Conn to postpone it. He and Lesnevich met once before, with Conn winning a decision in 15 rounds.

Critics have expressed doubt whether Conn could build up enough weight or develop sufficient punching power to make a fair match with Louis, notwithstanding the assurances from Billy's manager, Johnny Ray, that this is already as good as done.

Nearing the end of their training today, Conn was still three pounds above the 175-pound light heavyweight limit and Lesnevich the same. The two have been forced to post $2,500 weight forfeits, but some of the more critical folk among the boxing gentry say that was done only for publicity purposes. Conn and Lesnevich say they'll make the weight easily.

CINCINNATI REDS TROUNCE BEES IN PROTESTED GAME

Boston Drops 3-To-2 Game After Second-Inning Incident

CINCINNATI, June 1.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds trounced the Boston Bees 3 to 2 today behind Gene Thompson's three-hit pitching but the Bees played under protest as the result of a second-inning incident.

Frank McCormick singled to start the second and Ernie Lombardi waited out Bill Posedel to a three-nothing count. On the fourth pitch Lombardi thought umpire Bill Stewart waved him to first. Ernie started to walk and McCormick sauntered toward second.

Stewart, however, meant the ball was a strike. Catcher Al Lopez of the Bees threw to second and McCormick was tagged. After huddling, the umpires sent McCormick back to first and made it 3 and 1 on Ernie. Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees protested—then Ernie doubled, scoring Frank.

HOMER BEATS DODGERS

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP)—Al Todd's homer, leading off the 12th inning, gave the Cubs a 4 to 3 victory over the slipping Brooklyn Dodgers today, after the Chicago outfit had come from behind to tie the game up with a three-run blast in the sixth.

The Dodgers not only dropped the decision, which sank them three full games behind the National League leading Cincinnati Reds, but they also lost their classy rookie shortstop, Harold (Pee-Wee) Reese. One of relief pitcher Jack Mooty's slants in the 12th hit Reese on the back of the head and knocked him out. He was taken to a hospital.

Two Cleveland 'Defensive' Players Lead Team Batting

Two Rookies, Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack Hitting Over .300

By Tom Siler

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP)—Cleveland has only two regulars batting over .300—Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, the two rookies brought in to strengthen the team defensively.

Manager Oscar Vitt turned the shortstop post over to Boudreau and the second base job over to Mack at the start of the season, and he's had few worries about either position since.

Seasoned observers say their brilliant defensive play has "made" the team, but not even the most optimistic figured the keystone kids would make much of a dent in big league pitching.

The 23-year-old Mack, a Bohemian and native of Cleveland, is hitting .363, sixth best average in the league. He got away to a slow start, but in the past two weeks has been clouting at a sensational .478 pace.

Boudreau, a much better hitter than Mack when they cavorted for Buffalo in the International league, is hitting .329, 11th in the circuit and is tied with Mack for leadership in the production of doubles, each having 13.

Vitt caled Boudreau and Mack in from Buffalo late last season and saw enough to satisfy him. Several critics think the Indians capable of giving the Yankees a battle all the way if these freshmen keep up their smooth double play work and hit within 30 points of their present pace.

Boudreau, only 22 years old, started out as a catcher, but his father, an oldtime player himself, persuaded him to try an infield spot. He got his degree from the University of Illinois last winter.

Mack, who had his name changed legally from Mickovsky, is a mechanical engineering graduate of Case, where he played football. He got his baseball training in amateur leagues around his home town.

If you are a hunch player maybe you can see that this is "Cleveland's year." The Indians waited for their first pennant 20 years, copping the flag in 1920. They've been waiting 20 years for another championship.

SUGI TO DEFEND TITLE THURSDAY

Hayamaka Will Take On Russ Riley, New Mexico Strong Boy

Sugi Hayamaka, junior light heavyweight champion of the United States, will defend his title against Russ Riley of Carlsbad, N. M., at the Monroe Wrestling arena Thursday night.

Riley, who is one of the leading contenders for the championship, has been after the junior light heavyweight belt ever since Gus Kallio first laid claim to it. However, all the time that the elimination tournament was going on, Riley was tied up with a series of matches in the eastern states. When Mobley had won the tournament and Kallio began defending the title, Riley asked for a shot at the belt. Kallio promised a match to the Carlsbad lad but due to the fact that Mobley took the title from Kallio the match failed to materialize.

After Mobley took the belt from Kallio it seemed that Riley was always just one jump behind a match with Mobley. Now that Hayamaka has won the title from Mobley, Kallio has made a special effort to get Riley this chance at the title.

Farmer Jones, the bewhiskered strong boy from Arkansas who made a big hit with the fans last Thursday night in his match with Leo Jensen, will take on Jack Purdin, the Arizona cowboy, in the semi-final event. In addition to winning his match Jones also won in the wrestler's popularity contest for a leather zipper bag being donated by Peacock's Jewelers.

Since Purdin recently beat Jensen, this should be an interesting contest. Purdin has shown himself to be something of a rough and tough wrestler in his matches in Monroe. However, Jones proved in his go with Jensen that he can take care of himself no matter how rough the going may be.

SOX DROP LAST GAME OF SERIES TO BATHERS

Ed Kramer Bests Tom Perry In Battle Of Base Hits

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 1.—(Special)—Scoring a run in the last of the ninth inning, Hot Spring's Bathers defeated the league-leading Monroe White Sox, 5 to 4, here Saturday night to take the series, two games to one. Ed Kramer, big Hot Springs righthander, bested Tom Perry, a southpaw, and Jim Brister, righthander, in a battle of base hits. Brister was charged with the loss, while Kramer went all the way for the Bathers.

The Sox threatened in the first inning but failed to score. Joe Eagar got a single to start it. The next two batters went out but Dale Englehorn got a hit sending Eagar to third. However, Doug Taitt went out to end it.

In the last of the first, Ed McCullum hit a homer over the left field fence for the first score of the game to give Hot Springs a 1-0 lead.

In the first of the second, Pete Medak, first up, hit a grounder to Ray Bagrosky at third and Bagrosky booted it, Medak going safe at first. Guy Pruitt followed with a double to left, sending Medak to third. Bobby Schang grounded to Zadowsky at short and when Medak attempted to scramble back to the bag after taking too big a lead off the base, the shortstop tossed to Bagrosky at third and Medak was tagged out, Schang reaching first safely on the fielder's choice. Tom Perry grounded to Hudson at second, forcing Schang at second, Pruitt going to third and Perry reaching first. Eagar skied to McCullum in left to end what might have been a rally by the Sox.

The Bathers added one more run in the last of the third. John Jordan started it with a double to left and Ed Kramer, the Hot Springs pitcher, sacrificed him to third. Vernon Hudson promptly singled to right to score Jordan. McCullum and Broeckelman went out to halt the scoring.

In the first of the fourth, Pruitt got his second hit, an infield blow to short. Schang fanned but Perry laid down a bunt toward third and beat it out for an infield hit. Eagar walked, filling the bases. Burt popped out to Bagrosky at third but Bob Hill singled to center, scoring Pruitt and Perry to knot the count. Englehorn also got a single, but Eagar attempted to score from second and was trapped between third and home and finally tagged out to end the rally.

Zadowsky's single to left in the last of the sixth scored McCullum to give the Bathers the lead but Broeckelman was thrown out at third to spike further scoring, after two were on with one out. Duncan followed with a single and Mead was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases. Jim Brister then replaced Perry on the mound for Manager Doug Taitt is expected to start either Charley Bowles or Floyd Speer, both righthanders, on the mound today. Manager Guy Sturdy is undecided on his starter.

Billy Conn May Get Crack At Louis---Time Will Tell

Puts His Light Heavyweight Crown On Line For Bout Wednesday

DETROIT, June 1.—(AP)—Within another four days the admirers of Billy Conn may be boldly setting him up as a contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, or gently advising him to stick around the light heavies where he has been doing quite well for himself.

On Wednesday night Conn puts his light heavyweight championship on the line for Gus Lesnevich to shoot at, and the strategy behind this embraces an idea that Billy may go on from there to a bout with Louis.

So far, however, few of the experts have regarded this ambition with much other than a smile of tolerance, and a big job seems ahead of Conn if he means to prove himself a sure-fire challenger to the Brown Bomber.

The curly-haired Pittsburgher, after months of layoff, meets Lesnevich in 15 rounds at Olympia, here, in a bout already twice postponed. Originally the two were to have fought at Miami. Later Detroit was given the fight.

Each time an attack of boils forced Conn to postpone it. He and Lesnevich met once before, with Conn winning a decision in 15 rounds.

Critics have expressed doubt whether Conn could build up enough weight or develop sufficient punching power to make a fair match with Louis—notwithstanding the assurances from Billy's manager, Johnny Ray, that this is already as good as done.

Nearing the end of their training today, Conn was still three pounds above the 175-pound light heavyweight limit and Lesnevich the same. The two have been forced to post $2,500 weight forfeits, but some of the more critical folk among the boxing gentry say that was done only for publicity purposes. Conn and Lesnevich say they'll make the weight easily.

CINCINNATI REDS TROUNCE BEES IN PROTESTED GAME

Boston Drops 3-To-2 Game After Second-Inning Incident

CINCINNATI, June 1.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds trounced the Boston Bees 3 to 2 today behind Gene Thompson's three-hit pitching but the Bees played under protest as the result of a second-inning incident.

Frank McCormick singled to start the second and Ernie Lombardi waited out Bill Posedel to a three-nothing count. On the fourth pitch Lombardi thought umpire Bill Stewart waved him to first. Ernie started to walk and McCormick sauntered toward second.

Stewart, however, meant the ball was a strike. Catcher Al Lopez of the Bees threw to second and McCormick was tagged. After huddling, the umpires sent McCormick back to first and made it 3 and 1 on Ernie. Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees protested—then Ernie doubled, scoring Frank.

HOMER BEATS DODGERS

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP)—Al Todd's homer, leading off the 12th inning, gave the Cubs a 4 to 3 victory over the slipping Brooklyn Dodgers today, after the Chicago outfit had come from behind to tie the game up with a three-run blast in the sixth.

The Dodgers not only dropped the decision, which sank them three full games behind the National League leading Cincinnati Reds, but they also lost their classy rookie shortstop, Harold (Pee-Wee) Reese. One of relief pitcher Jack Mooty's slants in the 12th hit Reese on the back of the head and knocked him out. He was taken to a hospital.

Two Cleveland 'Defensive' Players Lead Team Batting

Two Rookies, Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack Hitting Over .300

By Tom Siler

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP)—Cleveland has only two regulars batting over .300—Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, the two rookies brought in to strengthen the team defensively.

Manager Oscar Vitt turned the shortstop post over to Boudreau and the second base job over to Mack at the start of the season, and he's had few worries about either position since.

Seasoned observers say their brilliant defensive play has "made" the team, but not even the most optimistic figured the keystone kids would make much of a dent in big league pitching.

The 23-year-old Mack, a Bohemian and native of Cleveland, is hitting .363, sixth best average in the league. He got away to a slow start, but in the past two weeks has been clouting at a sensational .478 pace.

Boudreau, a much better hitter than Mack when they cavorted for Buffalo in the International league, is hitting .329, 11th in the circuit and is tied with Mack for leadership in the production of doubles, each having 13.

Vitt caled Boudreau and Mack in from Buffalo late last season and saw enough to satisfy him. Several critics think the Indians capable of giving the Yankees a battle all the way if these freshmen keep up their smooth double play work and hit within 30 points of their present pace.

Boudreau, only 22 years old, started out as a catcher, but his father, an oldtime player himself, persuaded him to try an infield spot. He got his degree from the University of Illinois last winter.

Mack, who had his name changed legally from Mickovsky, is a mechanical engineering graduate of Case, where he played football. He got his baseball training in amateur leagues around his home town.

If you are a hunch player maybe you can see that this is "Cleveland's year." The Indians waited for their first pennant 20 years, copping the flag in 1920. They've been waiting 20 years for another championship.

SUGI TO DEFEND TITLE THURSDAY

Hayamaka Will Take On Russ Riley, New Mexico Strong Boy

Sugi Hayamaka, junior light heavyweight champion of the United States, will defend his title against Russ Riley of Carlsbad, N. M., at the Monroe Wrestling arena Thursday night.

Riley, who is one of the leading contenders for the championship, has been after the junior light heavyweight belt ever since Gus Kallio first laid claim to it. However, all the time that the elimination tournament was going on, Riley was tied up with a series of matches in the eastern states. When Mobley had won the tournament and Kallio began defending the title, Riley asked for a shot at the belt. Kallio promised a match to the Carlsbad lad but due to the fact that Mobley took the title from Kallio the match failed to materialize.

After Mobley took the belt from Kallio it seemed that Riley was always just one jump behind a match with Mobley. Now that Hayamaka has won the title from Mobley, Kallio has made a special effort to get Riley this chance at the title.

Farmer Jones, the bewhiskered strong boy from Arkansas who made a big hit with the fans last Thursday night in his match with Leo Jensen, will take on Jack Purdin, the Arizona cowboy, in the semi-final event. In addition to winning his match Jones also won in the wrestler's popularity contest for a leather zipper bag being donated by Peacock's Jewelers.

Since Purdin recently beat Jensen, this should be an interesting contest. Purdin has shown himself to be something of a rough and tough wrestler in his matches in Monroe. However, Jones proved in his go with Jensen that he can take care of himself no matter how rough the going may be.

Practice For National Open Golf Tourney Is Rained Out

Only Donald Duck Would Feel At Home On Canterbury Course

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(AP)—Rain stymied practice today for many of the nation's golf luminaries, assembled here for the national open tournament at Canterbury club.

Only Donald Duck would have felt at home on the drenched layout, nearly everybody seeking cover except the sturdy foreign contingent—a pair of Argentines and an Australian.

Martin Pose, wiry French and Argentine Open titleholder, and his Buenos Aires champion, Auelio Castanon, went to the practice fairway and worked on their irons. Jim Ferrier, husky amateur from Sydney, Australia, who played a lot of events around the "winter circuit," also slammed away on the soggy turf.

The contestants play 18 holes Thursday and another 18 Friday, with only the low 60 and ties eligible for the final 36 holes Saturday. Titleist Byron Nelson is the defending champion.

Besides the four gamey professionals Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Harry Smith of Chicago felt impelled to try a few shots, but the wet fairways and temporary greens were too much. And Chicago's Tommy Armour, who arrived last night for the 72-hole race which starts Thursday, kept in trim by playing contract bridge in a locker room corner.

"I hope I play very well. If I win—fine; if not, all right," was the way Pose felt about his chances in the field of 150.

He and Castanon both qualified with 145 last week at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., but Pose wasn't too optimistic.

"I had a 284 in the Metropolitan Open—20 strokes behind Craig Wood. If the course stays this wet, I'd settle for a 290. If it dries out a little, the winning score ought to be just two or three strokes lower."

George Miller beat F. C. Stewart, 2 and 1.
J. Barton won by default from Wilson Ewing.
P. O. Clark defeated J. Reagan, 1 up.
Ben Downing, Sr., defeated P. A. Poag, 1 up.

L. S. U. WINS FOUR TITLES IN '39-40

Tiger Athletes Win Boxing, Track, Tennis And Golf Titles

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(Special)—Louisiana State university athletic teams, battling on eight sports fronts, firmly established the Ole War Skule as a school of champions during the college year now drawing to a close.

Winning four of the Southeast conference's eight team titles for the second successive year, Tiger athletes turned in outstanding performances in every sport to bring Louisiana State numerous individual championships as well as other athletic honors.

Louisiana State's boxing, track, tennis and golf teams came through with team championships to duplicate the 1938-39 record of four conference titles. Last year's crowns were in track, boxing, golf and baseball.

Tiger athletes wrote another brilliant page in Ole War Skule sports history by their individual performances during the past school year. Individual honors won by students wearing the Purple and Gold of Louisiana State include two national championships, 19 conference titles, an all-American football post, two all-Southeastern football berths, the Southern Intercollegiate golf championship, and nine track relay events.

Honors won by relay teams in track and swimming and the doubles team in tennis were included in the individual lists.

During the year, L. S. U. teams won 56 intercollegiate matches while losing but 21.

Following is a sport-by-sport record of Louisiana State athletic teams during the 1939-40 school year:

Football: The Tigers turned in the year's outstanding intersectional upset with a 26-7 victory over Holy Cross. For the third year in a row they won both their intersectional games. Ken Kavanaugh was named all-American end and he and J. W. Goree, guard, were chosen on the all-Southeastern.

Boxing: Won third straight conference crown and finished third in the national intercollegiates. Had five conference champions—Heston Daniel, Al Michael, Snyder Parham, Herbert "Peg" Kendrick and Rodney Belaire. Parham won national intercollegiate welterweight crown.

Basketball: Won 10 of 18 games and finished fourth in conference regular season standings. Took five straight games from Tulane, the traditional rival. Paul Brotherton, forward and center, was third high scorer in the conference.

Swimming: Won Southeastern A. A. U. meet and finished a close second in conference meet. Robert Percy was conference champion in 50 and 100 yard free style, Paul Smith in the 220 free style, and Albert Kleinpeter in the 150 yard backstroke. Also won 400 yard relay championship. Victorious in only two dual meets of the year.

Golf: Annexed conference and Southern Intercollegiate team titles, the former for the fourth straight time, and won all five dual matches. Henry Castillo was conference individuals champion and Bert McDowell Southern Intercollegiate titlist.

Tennis: Won conference crown for first time in history after annexing 10 of 11 dual matches. Ten victories all were by shutout scores. L. C. Kirkland was class "B" champion of the conference and Bernard Jacoby and Billy Umstaedter annexed doubles title. Umstaedter won national indoor junior singles crown and was runner-up for conference class "A" title.

Track: Conference champions for the seventh time in eight years, as well as Southern A. A. U. titlists. Also won seven firsts in Southwestern relays and one each in Drake and Texas relays. Billy Brown was first athlete in conference to win three titles, annexing the 100, 220 and broad jump. Captain Frank Church won 440 and 880 and J. C. Devall the high jump at conference meet.

Baseball: Won 16 of 21 games, including a victory over the New Orleans Pelicans, and five wins in six games with the three top teams in the Big Ten. Finished third in conference standings. Had five men hit over .300 during the season. One, First Baseman Paul Brotherton, signed with the Cleveland Indians after closing his college career.

PITY THE POOR GORILLA

The sensational gorilla stories of Paul du Chaillu, first white man to shoot a gorilla, did much to create an erroneous impression of this animal. Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue" increased the public distrust of these apes. The works of other fiction writers further served to give them such a terrifying reputation that they almost caused extinction of the animal.

HARRIS WINS FOR SOX

BOSTON, June 1.—(AP)—Behind the seven-hit pitching of young Mickey Harris, the Boston Red Sox opened their second home stand of the season today by edging out a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox on the strength of a screaming fourth inning home run by Jimmy Foxx.

The slugging first baseman poled Jack Knott's first pitch into the deep left centerfield screen, bringing home outfielder Ted Williams who had singled ahead of him. The blow was Foxx' 12th homer of the season.

Three of the seven hits chipped off Harris, as he went the route to win his third game of the year against one defeat, came in the ninth when Chicago did its only scoring.

Practice For National Open Golf Tourney Is Rained Out

Only Donald Duck Would Feel At Home On Canterbury Course

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(AP)—Rain stymied practice today for many of the nation's golf luminaries, assembled here for the national open tournament at Canterbury club.

Only Donald Duck would have felt at home on the drenched layout, nearly everybody seeking cover except the sturdy foreign contingent—a pair of Argentines and an Australian.

Martin Pose, wiry French and Argentine Open titleholder, and his Buenos Aires champion, Auelio Castanon, went to the practice fairway and worked on their irons. Jim Ferrier, husky amateur from Sydney, Australia, who played a lot of events around the "winter circuit," also slammed away on the soggy turf.

The contestants play 18 holes Thursday and another 18 Friday, with only the low 60 and ties eligible for the final 36 holes Saturday. Toledo's Byron Nelson is the defending champion.

Besides the foreigners, professionals Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Horton Smith of Chicago felt impelled to try a few shots, but the wet grounds and temporary greens were too much. And Chicago's Tommy Armour, who arrived last night for the 72-hole race which starts Thursday, kept in trim by playing contract bridge in a locker room corner.

"I hope I play very well. If I win—fine; if not—all right," was the way Pose felt about his chances in the field of 170.

He and Castanon both qualified with 145 last week at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., but Pose wasn't too optimistic.

"I had a 284 in the Metropolitan Open—20 strokes behind Craig Wood. If the course stays this wet, I'd settle for a 290. If it dries out a little, the winning score ought to be just two or three strokes lower."

George Miller beat F. C. Stewart, 2 and 1.
J. Barton won by default from Wilson Ewing.
P. O. Clark defeated J. Reagan, 1 up.
Ben Downing, Sr., defeated P. A. Poag, 1 up.

L. S. U. WINS FOUR TITLES IN '39-40

Tiger Athletes Win Boxing, Track, Tennis And Golf Titles

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(Special)—Louisiana State university athletic teams, battling on eight sports fronts, firmly established the Ole War Skule as a school of champions during the college year now drawing to a close.

Winning four of the Southeast conference's eight team titles for the second successive year, Tiger athletes turned in outstanding performances in every sport to bring Louisiana State numerous individual championships as well as other athletic honors.

Louisiana State's boxing, track, tennis and golf teams came through with team championships to duplicate the 1938-39 record of four conference titles. Last year's crowns were in track, boxing, golf and baseball.

Tiger athletes wrote another brilliant page in Ole War Skule sports history by their individual performances during the past school year. Individual honors won by students wearing the Purple and Gold of Louisiana State include two national championships, 19 conference titles, an all-American football post, two all-Southeastern football berths, the Southern Intercollegiate golf championship, and nine track relay events.

Honors won by relay teams in track and swimming and the doubles team in tennis were included in the individual lists.

During the year, L. S. U. teams won 56 intercollegiate matches while losing but 21.

Following is a sport-by-sport record of Louisiana State athletic teams during the 1939-40 school year:

Football: The Tigers turned in the year's outstanding intersectional upset with a 26-7 victory over Holy Cross. For the third year in a row they won both their intersectional games. Ken Kavanaugh was named all-American end and he and J. W. Goree, guard, were chosen on the all-Southeastern.

Boxing: Won third straight conference crown and finished third in the national intercollegiates. Had five conference champions—Heston Daniel, Al Michael, Snyder Parham, Herbert "Peg" Kendrick and Rodney Belaire. Parham won national intercollegiate welterweight crown.

Basketball: Won 10 of 18 games and finished fourth in conference regular season standings. Took five straight games from Tulane, the traditional rival. Paul Brotherton, forward and center, was third high scorer in the conference.

Swimming: Won Southeastern A. A. U. meet and finished a close second in conference meet. Robert Percy was conference champion in 50 and 100 yard free style, Paul Smith in the 220 free style, and Albert Kleinpeter in the 150 yard backstroke. Also won 400 yard relay championship. Victorious in only two dual meets of the year.

Golf: Annexed conference and Southern Intercollegiate team titles, the former for the fourth straight time, and won all five dual matches. Henry Castillo was conference individuals champion and Bert McDowell Southern Intercollegiate titlist.

Tennis: Won conference crown for first time in history after annexing 10 of 11 dual matches. Ten victories all were by shutout scores. L. C. Kirkland was class "B" champion of the conference and Bernard Jacoby and Billy Umstaedter annexed doubles title. Umstaedter won national indoor junior singles crown and was runner-up for conference class "A" title.

Track: Conference champions for the seventh time in eight years, as well as Southern A. A. U. titlists. Also won seven firsts in Southwestern relays and one each in Drake and Texas relays. Billy Brown was first athlete in conference to win three titles, annexing the 100, 220 and broad jump. Captain Frank Church won 440 and 880 and J. C. Devall the high jump at conference meet.

Baseball: Won 16 of 21 games, including a victory over the New Orleans Pelicans, and five wins in six games with the three top teams in the Big Ten. Finished third in conference standings. Had five men hit over .300 during the season. One, First Baseman Paul Brotherton, signed with the Cleveland Indians after closing his college career.

PITY THE POOR GORILLA

The sensational gorilla stories of Paul du Chaillu, first white man to shoot a gorilla, did much to create an erroneous impression of this animal. Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue" increased the public distrust of these apes. The works of other fiction writers further served to give them such a terrifying reputation that they almost caused extinction of the animal.

HARRIS WINS FOR SOX

BOSTON, June 1.—(AP)—Behind the seven-hit pitching of young Mickey Harris, the Boston Red Sox opened their second home stand of the season today by edging out a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox on the strength of a screaming fourth inning home run by Jimmy Foxx.

The slugging first baseman poled Jack Knott's first pitch into the deep left centerfield screen, bringing home outfielder Ted Williams who had singled ahead of him. The blow was Foxx' 12th homer of the season.

Three of the seven hits chipped off Harris, as he went the route to win his third game of the year against one defeat, came in the ninth when Chicago did its only scoring.

SMOKIES GET RICHMOND

KNOXVILLE, June 1.—(AP)—Manager Neil Caldwell announced from Nashville tonight that the Knoxville Smokies had acquired Pitcher Berl Richmond from Dallas of the Texas league. Caldwell said Richmond, a lefthander who won 13 and lost 11 for Dallas last season, would join the team in Nashville during the current series.

Shreveporters Get 48 Points To Win S.A.A.U. Track Meet

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—(AP)—Shreveport's entry in the annual Southern A. A. U. Track and Field meet overwhelmed opposition today to take the championship with 48 points.

Fortier High school of New Orleans was second with 37. Warren Easton of New Orleans had 14 points and Baton Rouge, a late entry to defend the championship it won last year, took two first places for 10 markers.

Jesuit High of New Orleans was fifth with five points, Belton of Alexandria and Nicholls of New Orleans had three each, and St. Paul, LaGrange and Peters High each earned two points. Independents won 22.

Zabon Stiles of Shreveport was one of the stars of the meet, taking first place in both the mile and 880 yard runs.

The only record-breaker was Herley Tripp of Shreveport, who tossed the shot 52 feet 6 1-4 inches to shatter the old mark of 46 feet 4 3-4. Jimmy Tharp of Jesuit and Tripp each put the ball over 50 feet several times in qualifying.

Butler Avery of Fortier turned in the outstanding performance of the day, winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the broad jump, and finishing second in the hop, step and jump, won by a teammate, Billy Vanderhaeghan.

Avery nosed out Randolph Warren of Shreveport with a 10.1 second victory in the century and passed Warren in the 220 also. Warren in earlier meets had been clocked as fast as 9.6, and his performance today was disappointing.

Billy Hudson of Shreveport, with a final spurt, passed up his teammate, Frank Leverson, to capture the 440-yard dash in 50.3, a tenth of a second slower than his state rally time.

Montgomery of Baton Rouge won the pole vault at 12 feet 8 inches, and Petty accounted for Baton Rouge's other tallies by tossing the javelin 178 feet 5 1-4 inches.

Livingston of Shreveport took the 220-yard low hurdles in 26 seconds.

Shreveport entrants piled up other points outside of first places. Livingston was second in the 120-yard high hurdles to Johnson of Easton; Tripp was second in the discus to Wilkin of Jesuit; Bryam was fourth in the hop, step and jump; Creegan was third in the javelin; Bryam took third in the broad jump; Teresa finished second to Stiles in the 880.

HOUSTON HURLER SETTING MODERN LEAGUE RECORD

Four Months Out Of High School, Pollet Has 11 Straight Wins

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 1.—(AP)—Howard Pollet, Houston hurler only four months out of high school, has pitched himself into a modern Texas league record with 11 victories and no losses.

Back in 1895 a Dallas pitcher named Woodruff won 11 games and lost none, but who he was, where he came from and where he went, not even W. B. Ruggles, league statistician, knows.

Pitching in his twelfth game of the season last night, Pollet had a close squeeze, his youthful teammates, Steve Warchol and Ed Wiasman, stopping a dangerous rally after Pollet was removed in the eighth, Houston won 7 to 4.

Incidentally, this trio is rated as one of the best kid pitching corps in baseball. You can look for it in the St. Louis Cardinal roster next year.

While Pollet is tied for consecutive victories without a prior loss, he has nine games to go to surpass the consecutive mark established in 1917 by James Patrick (Snipe) Conley. Conley lost a game, though, before he started on his 19-game winning streak.

Pollet is playing his second season in professional baseball. A lefthander, he started with New Iberia in the Evangeline league. He pitched 42 1-3 consecutive scoreless innings and won 14 and lost 5 games over the season after a stagefright start.

Twice this season he has pitched two-hit games and leads the league in strikeouts, and averages about two bases on balls per game.

COLLEGES DIVORCE FROM L.S.U. URGED

Northeast Junior Unit Would Be Affected By Plan

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Separation from the control of the Louisiana State university of the Lake Charles Junior college and the Northeast Junior college at Monroe was urged in the academic survey of the university by representatives of the American council of education.

The survey commission's report made public here today, recommended local control for the two junior colleges and support of them jointly by state and local funds.

Taking the stand that junior colleges should be an "upward extension of our public educational system" and should be conducted for students not planning to continue their college education as well as for students desiring to enter colleges or professional schools, the report continued:

"These purposes are most fully achieved when the junior college is considered a part of the local school system and its program is adapted to the peculiar needs of the community which it serves."

Should the two junior colleges not be divorced from the university, the commission recommended repeal of the statutes restricting courses of study at the junior colleges to those of the university junior division.

"Through them the legislature has unwisely determined courses of study and frozen them into the laws of the state," the report declared. "The legislature should never usurp the powers it has bestowed on the board of supervisors for the determination of educational programs."

The report recommended further that business management of the junior colleges, now centralized in Baton Rouge, be administered by the separate institutions, with a representative of the L. S. U. business manager to be placed at each institution, and urged that the deans of the junior colleges be made responsible to the president of the university rather than to the dean of the university junior division, as at present.

CHRISTMAS TALKS TO AMATEUR CLUB

Radio Club Hears Technical Discussions At Meeting

Allen J. Christmas, operator of an amateur radio station W5DRF in Holly Ridge, provided the whole program Thursday night for the Ouachita Valley Amateur Radio club at Northeast Junior college.

Speaking principally for the benefit of newcomers to amateur radio, Mr. Christmas explained the meaning of various terms often encountered in technical discussions and illustrated his talk with blackboard drawings, showing how the different parts perform in the operation of a radio transmitter.

Mr. Christmas also demonstrated the practicability of a monitor, an instrument necessary for the proper control of any amateur radio station. Used for checking the quality of the signal being emitted by a transmitter, the monitor is usually a miniature receiver capable of oscillating steadily over the bands on which the station intends to be active. For practical purposes the radio amateur uses his monitor to listen to his own signal and not only keep check on the signal quality, but also to be sure that the transmitter does not shift frequency.

In conclusion, Mr. Christmas described a small, easily portable transmitter which he completed this week. Using inexpensive parts the transmitter has an output strength of 100 watts, which means that it has a transmitting range of several thousand miles.

This rally is held to familiarize visiting Scouts with the opportunities offered at Camp Ki-Ro-La, Mr. Black added.

MISS IRENE ROGERS STYLE REVUE WINNER

Judges of the first style revue, held Thursday night in Monroe, chose the work of Miss Irene Rogers, 15, to be sent to Shreveport for district competition. Winners there will enter a revue in New Orleans for statewide competition, it was announced.

Miss Rogers' dress was chosen for its workmanship, style and fit, the judges announced. The revue was sponsored by the National Junior Sewing club of the Singer Sewing Machine company, under the direction of Miss Martha Grambling.

Eleven girls participated in the revue and costumes worn were designed and made by students of the sewing club, whose ages range from 12 to 16 years. The cost of the dresses ranged from 75 cents to $2.31 each and were made of cotton and linen materials.

The winner at the Shreveport contest will receive a Singer hand sewing machine; the winner in New Orleans, an electric childs machine, and the national winner in New York will receive a regular portable Singer machine. Age and the will to learn are the only requirements to enter the club.

ALIENS IN ARKANSAS FORCED TO REGISTER

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 1.—(AP)—Governor Carl E. Bailey called upon all aliens in Arkansas today by proclamation, to register with state law enforcement agencies. He also directed state police to investigate possible "fifth column" activity.

The governor said there was no way under present laws to force aliens to register but added: "if they failed that would be an action resolving against them in the forming of public opinion."

RED CROSS QUOTA ON WAR DOUBLED

Gibson Announces Chapter Must Now Raise $8,000 In Parish

The quota for the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross has been doubled, E. C. Gibson, chairman, announced Saturday, following the receipt of a letter from Norman H. Davis, chairman of the national executive office.

Mr. Davis stated that the tragic events of the past two weeks have made it necessary for the American Red Cross to increase its war relief fund goal from 10 million to 20 million dollars, thus doubling the Monroe chapter quota as well as the quotas of other chapters throughout the nation.

The local Red Cross headquarters reported Saturday at noon that approximately $3,600 had been raised of the new $8,000 quota. Every effort is now to be made to complete this campaign and it is very probable that there will be no further special appeals before next winter, it was announced Saturday.

FRENCH SECTORS HEAVILY BOMBED

Italians help even during the present German northern offensive.

The Nazi armada roared into France across the Rhine north of Basel, Switzerland, in droves of 21 to 36 planes. They struck first at French air bases, communications and factories in the Rhone valley around Lyon.

Swiss patrons tangled with one of the raiders which ventured over neutral Switzerland's border, downing the craft and killing its four occupants.

While the French blocked an attempted Nazi "On to Paris" drive against the Somme line, the Germans hurled shell after shell into Dunkerque, where the last of the Allied northern armies were embarking for England.

Lord Gort, commander of the British expeditionary force, returned to England from Flanders with this firm declaration:

"We shall meet them again. Next time victory will be with us."

H. Taylor Henry, Associated Press newsman, flew over the northern battlefields in a night reconnaissance flight with a French pilot and reported the German-conquered territory resembled a giant flaming torch.

Authorized Berlin sources announced the sinking—date, place and circumstances unstated—of the 33,950-ton battleship Nelson, flagship of the British home fleet, and the Nazi high command reported three enemy warships and eight transports were sent to the bottom off Dunkerque during the day.

In addition, the Germans said they shot down 40 Allied planes in the day's operations. The British reported the destruction of 40 German planes and 33 others damaged or destroyed in fierce combat off the Allied port of escape.

The vague announcement told only of the sinking of the dreadnaught with 700 of its 1,320 crewmen but, for "military reasons," omitted when, where or how the Nelson, one of Britain's newest and mightiest capital ships, was sent to the bottom.

Apparently diverting armored divisions from the channel battle, the Germans intensified their Somme offensive in a drive which began Friday and still was continuing last night.

The French held a bridgehead on the north bank of the Somme, needed by the Nais to get across, but were reported in Paris to be holding against assaults on the south side between Abbeville and Amiens.

Where Hitler would steer the German war machine next, however, remained his secret.

There were hints in Berlin, and expectations among the allies, that the threatened direct invasion of England might be put second in the Nai plans—after a pincers drive toward Paris with the Germans attacking from the north and the Italians from the south.

Evidence continued that Italy might be on the verge of throwing her full weight into the war on the Nazi side.

The Fascist government today called up 10,000 additional non-commissioned officers. Americans traveling to Genoa to sail for the United States tomorrow on the liner Manhattan also reported troops movements indicating preparations for an Italian war move.

Some observers speculated that the next step might be a joint German-Italian peace proposal, backed by an Italian ultimatum.

The tattered remnants of the allied forces in northern France meanwhile continued streaming back to the security of England. The British, hailing the withdrawal as the greatest rearguard action in history, regarded it so well advanced that they called home General Lord Gort, commander of the British expeditionary force, and estimated that all but one battered division of the 175,000 men in his army had been snatched from the Nazi trap.

The Germans dragged up heavy artillery to shell Dunkerque as French rearguard units cut their way to that port.

British newspapers called the allies' defensive fight so successful and the protective screen of their warships and planes so powerful that the German drive to the channel coast was at a price of 500,000 men lost.

The Nazis, however, scoffed at the allies reports of a well-ordered escape from the Flanders pocket and declared they had abandoned so much new war material that the booty would replace all that Germany lost.

Both sides reported extensive aerial activity despite adverse weather and boasted of heavy casualties to the enemy against slight losses to themselves.

Berlin said the score yesterday was 49 allied planes shot down and nine German planes missing, according to a British communique it was 67 German planes against 19 British yesterday and early today.

The Germans also reported sinking five transports and damaging three warships and 10 merchantmen by air attack off Dunkerque as well as sinking a destroyer and submarine by torpedo boat attack in the English channel.

PILOT TRAINING SET AT COLLEGE

Approximately 30 students are expected to enroll in the civilian pilot training program to be held at Northeast Junior college during the summer session.

The course is offered at the junior college in collaboration with the Civil Aeronautics authority, Dean C. C. Colvert said.

The program which will include 72 hours of ground instruction and from 35 to 50 hours of actual flying instruction will be open to all persons having the rank of a college sophomore, Dean Colvert announced. All entrants who have had previous instruction will be eligible to enter the advanced class, he added.

"It is imperative," Dean Colvert said, "that all applications be made as soon as possible, for the school must open June 15, in accordance with the wishes of the C. A. A. The course must be completed by September 1, at which time private pilots licenses, granting permission for non-commercial flying anywhere in the United States or Canada, will be granted to those meeting requirements. All applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 25, Dean Colvert stated.

BATHERS DEFEAT WHITE SOX, 5-4

Monroe. On the first pitch, Bagrosky hit a long fly to left field and Englehorn made a spectacular catch to end the threat.

After Burt had flied out to left to start the seventh inning, Hill beat out an infield single and then Dale Englehorn slammed one of Kramer's pitches over the left field fence, scoring Hill ahead of him to give the White Sox the lead by a 4-3 score.

With one out in the first of the eighth, Schang got a single through third base and Brister followed with a single to center, sending Schang to third. Eagar, however, flied out and Burt grounded out, third to first to end that rally.

In the last of the eighth, Dick Mead, Hot Springs outfielder, hit one over the short right field fence to tie the score at 4-4. Nobody was on base and there were two out when Mead slapped out his homer. Bagrosky grounded to Pruitt at third base for the third out. Pruitt made a fine stop and throw of his grounder to retire Bagrosky.

Then the Bathers broke it up in the last of the ninth scoring a run with two out. Kramer drew a walk and went to second on an infield out. McCullum was purposely walked, with two away, and then Broeckelman singled to center to score Kramer with the winning run.

The United States navy is considering the construction of a dirigible aircraft carrier for use in coastal patrol. The dirigible is to be used to carry aircraft which would be launched for either attacking an enemy coastline or patroling our own coastline.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—War imponderables continued to act as a drag on stock market buyers today and leading issues were permitted to slip fractions to a point or so.

While the fact that dealings were negligible from the start—transfers for the two hours approximated 300,000 shares, smallest since early May—provided a little encouragement for bullish forces, few were disposed to reach for favorites because of fears Italy would enter the conflict on the side of the Nazis over the week-end.

Lack of real pressure of offerings was attributed to the belief of many the administration's huge rearmament program would give numerous industries a "shot in the arm."

Stocks moped from the opening.

Lacking much support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, American Smelting, Great Northern and Texas Corporation.

Among resistant shares were American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Sperry, Allied Chemical and Phelps Dodge. General Motors and Chrysler were unchanged during the greater part of the proceedings.

A hoost of rates all along the line by local war risk insurance underwriters was taken as an indicator that sea warfare is likely to assume more importance in the near future.

Commentators advanced the idea that the big defense appropriations would have to be paid for by the public and could put a serious damper on corporation profits.

Forecasts of a brisk upturn in next week's steel production were helpful to sentiment and some observers were beginning to talk of 90 per cent capacity operations before many weeks.

Bonds were mixed, with German loans improving. Commodities were a bit ragged. "Free" sterling and the French franc dipped in terms of the dollar.

In a spotty curb, improvement was posted for Aluminum of America, American Cyanamid "B," Midvale and Fanny Farmer. Easier were Gulf Oil, Electric Bond and Share and Singer Manufacturing.

COLLEGES DIVORCE FROM L.S.U. URGED

Northeast Junior Unit Would Be Affected By Plan

BATON ROUGE, La., June 1.—(AP)—Separation from the control of the Louisiana State university of the Lake Charles Junior college and the Northeast Junior college at Monroe was urged in the academic survey of the university by representatives of the American council of education.

The survey commission's report, made public here today, recommended local control for the two junior colleges and support of them jointly by state and local funds.

Taking the stand that junior colleges should be an "upward extension of our public educational system" and should be conducted for students not planning to continue their college education as well as for students desiring to enter colleges or professional schools, the report continued:

"These purposes are most fully achieved when the junior college is considered a part of the local school system and its program is adapted to the peculiar needs of the community which it serves."

Should the two junior colleges not be divorced from the university, the commission recommended repeal of the statutes restricting courses of study at the junior colleges to those of the university junior division.

"Through them the legislature has unwisely determined courses of study and frozen them into the laws of the state," the report declared. "The legislature should never usurp the powers it has bestowed on the board of supervisors for the determination of educational programs."

The report recommended further that business management of the junior colleges, now centralized in Baton Rouge, be administered by the separate institutions, with a representative of the L. S. U. business manager to be placed at each institution, and urged that the deans of the junior colleges be made responsible to the president of the university rather than to the dean of the university junior division, as at present.

CHRISTMAS TALKS TO AMATEUR CLUB

Radio Club Hears Technical Discussions At Meeting

Allen J. Christmas, operator of an amateur radio station W5DRF in Holly Ridge, provided the whole program Thursday night for the Ouachita Valley Amateur Radio club at Northeast Junior college.

Speaking principally for the benefit of newcomers to amateur radio, Mr. Christmas explained the meaning of various terms often encountered in technical discussions and illustrated his talk with blackboard drawings, showing how the different parts perform in the operation of a radio transmitter.

Mr. Christmas also demonstrated the practicability of a monitor, an instrument necessary for the proper control of any amateur radio station. Used for checking the quality of the signal being emitted by a transmitter, the monitor is usually a miniature receiver capable of oscillating steadily over the bands on which the station intends to be active. For practical purposes the radio amateur uses his monitor to listen to his own signal and not only keep check on the signal quality, but also to be sure that the transmitter does not shift frequency.

In conclusion, Mr. Christmas described a small, easily portable transmitter which he completed this week. Using inexpensive parts the transmitter has an output strength of 100 watts, which means that it has a transmitting range of several thousand miles.

RED CROSS QUOTA ON WAR DOUBLED

Gibson Announces Chapter Must Now Raise $8,000 In Parish

The quota for the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross has been doubled, E. C. Gibson, chairman, announced Saturday, following the receipt of a letter from Norman H. Davis, chairman of the national executive office.

Mr. Davis stated that the tragic events of the past two weeks have made it necessary for the American Red Cross to increase its war relief fund goal from 10 million to 20 million dollars, thus doubling the Monroe chapter quota as well as the quotas of other chapters throughout the nation.

The local Red Cross headquarters reported Saturday at noon that approximately $3,600 had been raised of the now $8,000 quota. Every effort is now to be made to complete this campaign and it is very probable that there will be no further special appeals before next winter, it was announced Saturday.

FRENCH SECTORS HEAVILY BOMBED

Italians help even during the present German northern offensive.

The Nazi armada roared into France across the Rhine north of Basel, Switzerland, in droves of 21 to 36 planes They struck first at French air bases, communications and factories in the Rhone valley around Lyon.

Swiss patrons tangled with one of the raiders which ventured over neutral Switzerland's border, downing the craft and killing its four occupants.

While the French blocked an attempted Nazi "On to Paris" drive against the Somme line, the Germans hurled shell after shell into Dunkerque, where the last of the Allied northern armies were embarking for England.

Lord Gort, commander of the British expeditionary force, returned to England from Flanders with this firm declaration:

"We shall meet them again. Next time victory will be with us."

H. Taylor Henry, Associated Press newsman, flew over the northern battlefields in a night reconnaissance flight with a French pilot and reported the German-conquered territory resembled a giant flaming torch.

Authorized Berlin sources announced the sinking—date, place and circumstances unstated—of the 33,950-ton battleship Nelson, flagship of the British home fleet, and the Nazi high command reported three enemy warships and eight transports were sent to the bottom off Dunkerque during the day.

In addition, the Germans said they shot down 40 Allied planes in the day's operations. The British reported the desruction of 40 German planes and 33 others damaged or destroyed in fierce combat off the Allied port of escape.

The vague announcement told only of the sinking of the dreadnaught with 700 of its 1,320 crewmen but, for "military reasons," omitted when, where or how the Nelson, one of Britain's newest and mightiest capital ships, was sent to the bottom.

Apparently diverting armored divisions from the channel battle, the Germans intensified their Somme offensive in a drive which began Friday and still was continuing last night.

The French held a bridgehead on the north bank of the Somme, needed by the Nais to get across, but were reported in Paris to be holding against assaults on the south side between Abbeville and Amiens.

Where Hitler would steer the German war machine next, however, remained his secret.

There were hints in Berlin, and expectations among the allies, that the threatened direct invasion of England might be put second in the Nai plans—after a pincers drive toward Paris with the Germans attacking from the north and the Italians from the south.

Evidence continued that Italy might be on the verge of throwing her full weight into the war on the Nazi side.

The Fascist government today called up 10,000 additiona non-commissioned officers. Americans traveling to Genoa to sail for the United States tomorrow on the liner Manhattan also reported troops movements indicating preparations for an Italian war move.

Some observers speculated that the next step might be a joint German-Italian peace proposal, backed by an Italian ultimatum.

The tattered remnants of the allied forces in northern France meanwhile continued streaming back to the security of England. The British, hailing the withdrawal as the greatest rearguard action in history, regarded it so well advanced that they called home General Lord Gort, commander of the British expeditionary force, and estimated that all but one battered division of the 175,000 men in his army had been snatched from the Nazi trap.

The Germans dragged up heavy artillery to shell Dunkerque as French rearguard units cut their way to that port.

British newspapers called the allies' defensive fight so successful and the protective screen of their warships and planes so powerful that the German drive to the channel coast was at a price of 500,000 men lost.

The Naizs, however, scoffed at the allies reports of a well-ordered escape from the Flanders pocket and declared they had abandoned so much new war material that the booty would replace all that Germany lost.

Both sides reported extensive aerial activity despite adverse weather and boasted of heavy casualties to the enemy against slight losses to themselves.

Berlin said the score yesterday was 49 allied planes shot down and nine German planes missing; according to a British communique it was 67 German planes against 19 British yesterday and early today.

The Germans also reported sinking five transports and damaging three warships and 10 merchantmen by air attack off Dunkerque as well as sinking a destroyer and submarine by torpedo boat attack in the English channel.

PILOT TRAINING SET AT COLLEGE

Approximately 36 students are expected to enroll in the civilian pilot training program to be held at Northeast Junior college during the summer session.

All entrants who have had previous instruction will be eligible to enter the advanced class, he added.

"It is imperative," Dean Colvert said, "that all applications be made as soon as possible, for the school must open June 15, in accordance with the wishes of the C. A. A. BATHERS DEFEAT WHITE SOX, 5-4

Monroe. On the first pitch, Bagrosky hit a long fly to left field and Englehorn made a spectacular catch to end the threat.

After Burt had flied out to left to start the seventh inning, Hill beat out an infield single and then Dale Englehorn slammed one of Kramer's pitches over the left field fence, scoring Hill ahead of him to give the White Sox the lead by a 4-3 score.

With one out in the first of the eighth, Schang got a single through third base and Brister followed with a single to center, sending Schang to third. Eagar, however, flied out and Burt grounded out, third to first to end that rally.

In the last of the eighth, Dick Mead, Hot Springs outfielder, hit one over the short right field fence to tie the score at 4-4. Nobody was on base and there were two out when Mead slapped out his homer. Bagrosky grounded to Pruitt at third base for the third out. Pruitt made a fine stop and throw of his grounder to retire Bagrosky.

Then the Bathers broke it up in the last of the ninth scoring a run with two out. Kramer drew a walk and went to second on an infield out. McCullum was purposely walked, with two away, and then Broeckelman singled to center to score Kramer with the winning run.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—War imponderables continued to act as a drag on stock market buyers today and leading issues were permitted to slip fractions to a point or so.

While the fact that dealings were negligible from the start—transfers for the two hours approximated 300,000 shares, smallest since early May—provided a little encouragement for bullish forces, few were disposed to reach for favorites because of fears Italy would enter the conflict on the side of the Nazis over the week-end.

Lack of real pressure of offerings was attributed to the belief of many the administration's huge rearmament program would give numerous industries a "shot in the arm."

Stocks moped from the opening.

Lacking much support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, American Smelting, Great Northern and Texas Corporation.

Among resistant shares were American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Sperry, Allied Chemical and Phelps Dodge. General Motors and Chrysler were unchanged during the greater part of the proceedings.

A boost of rates all along the line by local war risk insurance underwriters was taken as an indicator that sea warfare is likely to assume more importance in the near future.

Commentators advanced the idea that the big defense appropriations would have to be paid for by the public and could put a serious damper on corporation profits.

Forecasts of a brisk upturn in next week's steel production were helpful to sentiment and some observers were beginning to talk of 90 per cent capacity operations before many weeks.

Bonds were mixed, with German loans improving. Commodities were a bit ragged. "Free" sterling and the French franc dipped in terms of the dollar.

In a spotty curb, improvement was posted for Aluminum of America, American Cyanamid "B," Midvale and Fanny Farmer. Easier were Gulf Oil, Electric Bond and Share and Singer Manufacturing.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SHERRY BOND—Society girl owner of race horse, Pepper Boy.

PAUL WHARTON—A rival owner, determined to teach Sherry that racing is not a woman's game.

SHEP GRANT—Young gentleman rider.

WILLIE BOND—Sherry's uncle, a turf "adviser."

Night blanketed the race track. The figure of a slim girl, a moving silhouette against the gloom—crossed the darkened infield. Behind her, under pale stars, loomed the grandstand, gl astlike in the darkness—empty, silent, now that its 15,000 spectators were gone and dreaming of winning fortunes on the morrow.

A few lights blinked among stables. Then the door of a tack-room opened—a sliver of a youth stepped out, shut quick;—the door behind him. He stood motionless, focusing his eyes in the blackness.

"Hey, Ed!" He turned, called softly through a lighted door-crack. "That dame's comin' down to her one-horse stable all right. Must be fixin' to start her colt tomorrer."

A tired voice asked: "How you know it's her?"

"You better be sure."

"Besides," the jockey went on, "ain't no other girl on the race track got that swell a figger. Anyway, ain't no other dame got a horse stabled behind us. She's a beaut! Got big blue eyes—"

"Heck! You can't see eyes that far—"

"Saw 'em today—close up. She's the prettiest dame I ever saw—I don't blame Mr. Wharton for bein' sweet on her."

"Never mind that! You dog her down the line. Can't make no mistakes this late in the game."

The girl, not seeing the jockey in the shadows, moved swiftly to Poverty Row, far in the rear. She stopped at an end stable, took out a pocket flash and threw it's beam on the wood—a closed stall door streaked with wide cracks. Light rays must have passed through those cracks, for a disturbed horse clumped nervously on the straw inside.

The girl wheeled, threw her light to the left. It circled a mahogany-colored man with bowed legs, shaking a pitchfork with both hands.

"You—Sam!"

The white fellow blinked eyes, slowly lowered the pitchfork, said dully: "Miss Sherry! You know better—you disturbs Pepper Boy—he can't git his rest—won't extend hisself tomorrer—"

"He's my colt! I'll do what I want to— Anyone been here tonight?"

"That ole big Ed Duster what trains for Mister Paul Wharton."

"What did he want to know?"

"If Pepper Boy be up to a hard race tomorrer—"

"So you told him! He was tricking you into talking—"

"No'm, he ain't tricked this here feller—no, ma'am! I tells him I didn't even know Pepper Boy be ready to start—that if he was my colt—bein' as he's nominated for the Derby, I'd gallop—"

"That's enough! Light the lamp in the tackroom."

The girl followed the old fellow into a stall at the end of the row—a stall with a wooden floor, whitewashed walls with pegs from which hung two saddles and a brace of bits, and with a ragged but clean blanket folded over a line. The groom took down a brakeman's coal-oil lantern, lit it, placed it on a locker-trunk which served as a low table. Sam looked at her inquiringly, spoke again in a soft voice:

"Anything else you wants me for, Miss Sherry? I's here."

He was so loyal—in his way—that she was ashamed of her brusqueness to him. She smiled, said in dismissal: "Thank you, Sam; I'll call you in a few minutes."

Outside, the sliver of a figure hovered in the shadows of a straw-pile, watching, as the groom shambled from the tackroom.

For a moment Sherry Bond stood still—as Sam's footsteps died out. How to explain to him her desperate plight—her urgent need of winning money, instantly, with her colt? He would think she was crazy, or horse-ignorant, starting Pepper Boy without a few more strong workouts under his belt. But she had to have money.

To her social world Sherry Bond was a smart post-deb who, following the death of her last near relation—a penniless aunt—had purchased a fine colt, and gone to the races with him. Just to see her colors flash on the track—that's what her crowd said. Maybe that was the reason she had bought Pepper Boy, but now Pepper Boy had to run fast and often—to earn rent money for herself and for him!

Only that afternoon she had received notice from a small coal company—on whose checks she had been living. Their seam had run out—adjacent land which they had expected to lease had been gobbled up by a rival concern. Sherry's outfit was laying shovels down, calling it a day forever. A holding which had been worth $3,000 a year to her now was worth exactly nothing. And she owed everybody; the landlord, the telephone company, the light and gas company, and—yes, the feed man.

She had to have money now—not a month from now. Well, she shrugged, that was the beauty of racing; it was a cash business—if you won. If you did win a race, the winning amount, in cash, was ready and waiting for you in the secretary's office one minute later. All you had to do was to send a winner to the barrier.

Racing opened on the eastern circuit tomorrow. She had done what many a horseman did—entered her colt in two races; one a $5,000 handicap; the other, a cheap claiming race. She'd start him where she thought he had a sure chance of winning—or at least a fighting chance. Could Pepper Boy win tomorrow? She took down from a shelf a book filled with cabalistic signs and jargon: ". . . made the mile in 1:40—plenty of late foot." For a long while she pored over race records.

She knew Pepper Boy's time like her own name. Only that morning she had clocked a 1:41 mile.

Not so far away, stars were hovering over Park avenue. A young man in white tie and tails stepped briskly from his car, took the salute of the uniformed doorman. Ignoring Mr. Wharton, he went inside and was carried upward by a muted elevator. Ten minutes later he sat behind a Queen Anne desk, the lights of Manhattan gleaming through mullioned casements. He opened a volume crammed with strange symbols and lingo. . . . mile workout in 1:41—handily."

Finally the girl straightened, laid down the book, called: "Sam!" A brown face came out of the night, bony elbows hooked over the half-door. "You call me, Miss Sherry?"

"Sam, think we can beat that big bay colt of Mr. Wharton's—Red Soldier—tomorrow? Nothing else can touch us."

The groom rubbed his white wool, frowned. "Miss Sherry, ain't goin' to do that colt no good, givin' him a hard race tomorrer. He ain't eggzactly ready."

"Answer my question, please."

"Colt ain't never started in a real race—but we got a good chance if the jockey gets him off, fast-like." He thought a moment, added, "Yes'm, if you insists on runnin' him, I think he can win—but he'll shore have to be rid hard. He's trainin' for a route—that be a six-furlong sprint tomorrer."

The girl nodded. Got to her feet. "And if he has a chance of beating Red Soldier in the handicap, then he certainly can win that claiming race—first on the program—same distance, and eight pounds less weight and no fast competition—"

"Miss Sherry!" The groom spoke in horrified tones. "You ain't goin' to start him in a claimin' race—where anybody can buy him if they puts up the claimin' price—$2,500? This here colt of ourn be worth ten, fifteen, mebbe twenty thousand—"

"We hope he is," she smiled.

"He's sho worth more'n $2,500! Some man's goin' to claim him, sure!"

Sherry Bond smiled in superior manner. "Oh, no, they won't! He's been entered in both races. The fact that I chose to send him out in a $2,500 claiming race, worth only $700 to the winner, tells everybody that he hasn't class—is only a claimer, after all. Everybody'll think he's running in his right group—nobody'll claim him. And we'll win, Sam—we must win, for we're broke. We've got to get that $700 if we want to start for Louisville and the Derby."

"Miss Sherry?" There was a question in the old man's voice and deep concern.

"Yes, Sam?"

"I happens to know Mr. Wharton's stable thinks mighty nice of Pepper Boy. If you starts him in that claimin' race, they gonna claim him, sure!"

"Bosh, Sam! Don't you know that Mr. Wharton is a friend of mine? He wouldn't do that!"

"Wouldn't he? He been racin' five years—you been racin' five months—leastways you been gettin ready to race five months—you ain't never started a horse."

"That'll be enough, Sam."

"Goodnight." She left the stable quickly. The old fellow shook a puzzled head as he watched her move off into the night's gloom.

Twenty miles away—in Manhattan—the chap at the Queen Anne desk picked up his phone, reached his trainer in the tackroom of his stable.

"Ed? Wharton. I've been through all the records tonight. The figures say that little black colt is our main competition tomorrow—"

"Listen, Mr. Wharton—everything's goin' to be hunky-dory tomorrow—Pepper Boy won't be started in the handicap—I've just found out—five minutes ago."

"What's this? What happened to the colt?"

"Nothing—but the girl-owner thinks Red Soldier might nose Pepper Boy out. She's got to have money. So she's starting her colt in the six-furlong claiming race instead. Thinks he's a sure thing there."

"What! Then listen to me—put in a claim for Pepper Boy tomorrow. Be sure to do it!"

A moment's silence. Then, "I don't like it, sir—claiming a girl's one horse—it ain't—"

"Don't tell me what to do, Ed! If a girl races, she's got to take the same chances as men do."

A long silence. At last came the answer, "All right!"

Paul Wharton smiled with satisfaction as he cradled the phone. Sherry would try to play a man's game, would she? . . . Well, she'd learn a few things.

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SHERRY BOND—Society girl owner of race horse, Pepper Boy.

PAUL WHARTON—A rival owner, determined to teach Sherry that racing is not a woman's game.

SHEP GRANT—Young gentleman rider.

WILLIE BOND—Sherry's uncle, a turf "adviser."

Night blanketed the race track. The figure of a slim girl—a moving silhouette against the gloom—crossed the darkened infield. Behind her, under pale stars, loomed the grandstand, ghostlike in the darkness—empty, silent, now that its 15,000 spectators were gone and dreaming of winning fortunes on the morrow.

A few lights blinked among stables. Then the door of a tack-room opened—a sliver of a youth stepped out, shut quick'y the door behind him. He stood motionless, focusing his eyes in the blackness.

"Hey, Ed!" He turned, called softly through a lighted door-crack. "That dame's comin' down to her one-horse stable all right. Must be fixin' to start her colt tomorrer."

A tired voice asked: "How you know it's her?"

"Huh! I can name a horse a mile off. By its gait. Same goes for fillies wearin' skirts. Besides—"

"You better be sure."

"Besides," the jockey went on, "ain't no other girl on the race track got that swell a figger. Anyway, ain't no other dame got a horse stabled behind us. She's a beaut! Got big blue eyes—"

"Heck! You can't see eyes that far—"

"Saw 'em today—close up. She's the prettiest dame I ever saw—I don't blame Mr. Wharton for bein' sweet on her."

"Never mind that! You dog her down the line. Can't make no mistakes this late in the game."

The girl, not seeing the jockey in the shadows, moved swiftly to Poverty Row, far in the rear. She stopped at an end stable, took out a pocket flash and threw its beam on the wood—a closed stall door streaked with wide cracks. Light rays must have passed through those cracks, for a disturbed horse clumped nervously on the straw inside.

"Get away from that stall!"

The girl wheeled, threw her light to the left. It circled a mahogany-colored man with bowed legs, shaking a pitchfork with both hands.

"You—Sam!"

The wi[illegible] fellow blinked eyes, slowl[illegible]ered the pitchfork, said [illegible]: "Miss Sherry! You know bet[illegible]—you disturbs Pepper Boy—he can't git his rest—won't extend hisself tomorrer—"

"He's my colt! I'll do what I want to— Anyone been here tonight?"

"That ole big Ed Duster what trains for Mister Paul Wharton."

"What did he want to know?"

"If Pepper Boy be up to a hard race tomorrer—"

"So you told him! He was tricking you into talking—"

"No'm, he ain't tricked this here feller—no, ma'am! I tells him I didn't even know Pepper Boy be ready to start—that if he was my colt—bein' as he's nominated for the Derby, I'd gallop—"

"That's enough! Light the lamp in the tackroom."

The girl followed the old fellow into a stall at the end of the row—a stall with a wooden floor, whitewashed walls with pegs from which hung two saddles and a brace of bits, and with a ragged but clean blanket folded over a line. The groom took down a brakeman's coal-oil lantern, lit it, placed it on a locker-trunk which served as a low table. Sam looked at her inquiringly, spoke again in a soft voice:

"Anything else you wants me for, Miss Sherry? I's here."

He was so loyal—in his way—that she was ashamed of her brusqueness to him. She smiled, said in dismissal: "Thank you, Sam; I'll call you in a few minutes."

Outside, the sliver of a figure hovered in the shadows of a straw-pile, watching, as the groom shambled from the tackroom.

For a moment Sherry Bond stood still—as Sam's footsteps died out. How to explain to him her desperate plight—her urgent need of winning money, instantly, with her colt? He would think she was crazy, or horse-ignorant, starting Pepper Boy without a few more strong workouts under his belt. But she had to have money.

To her social world Sherry Bond was a smart post-deb who, following the death of her last near relation—a penniless aunt—had purchased a fine colt, and gone to the races with him. Just to see her colors flash on the track—that's what her crowd said. Maybe that was the reason she had bought Pepper Boy, but now Pepper Boy had to run fast and often—to earn rent money for herself and for him!

Only that afternoon she had received notice from a small coal company—on whose checks she had been living. Their seam had run out—adjacent land which they had expected to lease had been gobbled up by a rival concern. Sherry's outfit was laying shovels down, calling it a day forever. A holding which had been worth $3,000 a year to her now was worth exactly nothing. And she owed everybody; the landlord, the telephone company, the light and gas company, and—yes, the feed man.

She had to have money now—not a month from now. Well, she shrugged, that was the beauty of racing; it was a cash business—if you won. If you did win a race, the winning amount, in cash, was ready and waiting for you in the secretary's office one minute later. All you had to do was to send a winner to the barrier.

Racing opened on the eastern circuit tomorrow. She had done what many a horseman did—entered her colt in two races: one a $5,000 handicap; the other, a cheap claiming race. She'd start him where she thought he had a sure chance of winning—or at least a fighting chance. Could Pepper Boy win tomorrow? She took down from a shelf a book filled with cabalistic signs and jargon: ". . . made the mile in 1:40—plenty of late foot." For a long while she pored over race records.

She knew Pepper Boy's time like her own name. Only that morning she had clocked a 1:41 mile.

* * *

Not so far away, stars were hovering over Park avenue. A young man in white tie and tails stepped briskly from his car, took the salute of his caped doorman. "Evening, Mr. Wharton," went inside and was carried upward by a muted elevator. Ten minutes later he sat behind a Queen Anne desk, the lights of Manhattan gleaming through mullioned casements. He opened a volume crammed with strange symbols and lingo: ". . . mile workout in 1:41—handily."

The girl and the man—each studying the workouts of the other's colt.

Finally the girl straightened, laid down the book, called: "Sam!" A brown face came out of the night, bony elbows hooked over the half-door. "You call me, Miss Sherry?"

"Sam, think we can beat that big bay colt of Mr. Wharton's—Red Soldier—tomorrow? Nothing else can touch us."

The groom rubbed his white wool, frowned. "Miss Sherry, ain't goin' to do that colt no good, givin' him a hard race tomorrer. He ain't eggzactly ready."

"Answer my question, please."

"Colt ain't never started in a real race—but we got a good chance if the jockey gets him off, fast-like." He thought a moment, added, "Yes'm, if you insists on runnin' him, I think he can win—but he'll shore have to be rid hard. He's trainin' for a route—that be a six-furlong sprint tomorrer."

The girl nodded. Got to her feet. "And if he has a chance of beating Red Soldier in the handicap, then he certainly can win that claiming race—first on the program—same distance, and eight pounds less weight and no fast competition—"

"Miss Sherry!" The groom spoke in horrified tones. "You ain't goin' to start him in a claimin' race—where anybody can buy him if they puts up the claimin' price—$2,500? This here colt of ourn be worth ten, fifteen, mebbe twenty thousand—"

"We hope he is," she smiled.

"He's sho worth more'n $2,500! Some man's goin' to claim him, sure!"

Sherry Bond smiled in superior manner. "Oh, no, they won't! He's been entered in both races. The fact that I chose to send him out in a $2,500 claiming race, worth only $700 to the winner, tells everybody that he hasn't class—is only a claimer, after all. Everybody'll think he's running in his right group—nobody'll claim him. And we'll win, Sam—we must win, for we're broke. We've got to get that $700 if we want to start for Louisville and the Derby."

"Miss Sherry?" There was a question in the old man's voice and deep concern.

"Yes, Sam?"

"I happens to know Mr. Wharton's stable thinks mighty nice of Pepper Boy. If you starts him in that claimin' race, they gonna claim him, sure!"

"Bosh, Sam! Don't you know that Mr. Wharton is a friend of mine? He wouldn't do that!"

"Wouldn't he? He been racin' five years—you been racin' five months—leastways you been gettin ready to race five months—you ain't never started a horse."

"That'll be enough, Sam."

"Yes'm." The colored man's head drooped. "Goodnight, Miss Sherry, if you don't need me no more."

"Goodnight." She left the stable quickly. The old fellow shook a puzzled head as he watched her move off into the night's gloom.

Twenty miles away—in Manhattan—the chap at the Queen Anne desk picked up his phone, reached his trainer in the tackroom of his stable.

"Ed? Wharton. I've been through all the records tonight. The figures say that little black colt is our main competition tomorrow—"

"Listen, Mr. Wharton—everything's goin' to be hunky-dory tomorrow—Pepper Boy won't be started in the handicap—I've just found out—five minutes ago."

"What's this? What happened to the colt?"

"Nothing—but the girl-owner thinks Red Soldier might nose Pepper Boy out. She's got to have money. So she's starting her colt in the six-furlong claiming race instead. Thinks he's a sure thing there."

"What! Then listen to me—put in a claim for Pepper Boy tomorrow. Be sure to do it!"

A moment's silence. Then, "I don't like it, sir—claiming a girl's one horse—it ain't—"

"Don't tell me what to do, Ed! If a girl races, she's got to take the same chances as men do."

A long silence. At last came the answer, "All right!"

Paul Wharton smiled with satisfaction as he cradled the phone. Sherry would try to play a man's game, would she? . . . Well, she'd learn a few things.

F. B. I. ORGANIZES DEFENSE PROBERS

Special Unit Will Handle 'Fifth Column' Investigations

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—Creation of a "national defense investigation" unit was announced today by the federal bureau of investigation.

Hugh H. Clegg, veteran G-man and at present an assistant director of the F. B. I. in charge of training and inspection, was appointed to head the new group, which will have among its duties investigations of "fifth column" and similar activities considered prejudicial to national safety.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the Dies committee would hear testimony, beginning Monday, on reports that Communists were employed in the Tennessee Valley authority and the Birmingham, Ala., steel industry. Chairman Dies, Democrat, Texas, said merely the committee would look into "fifth column activities in the south."

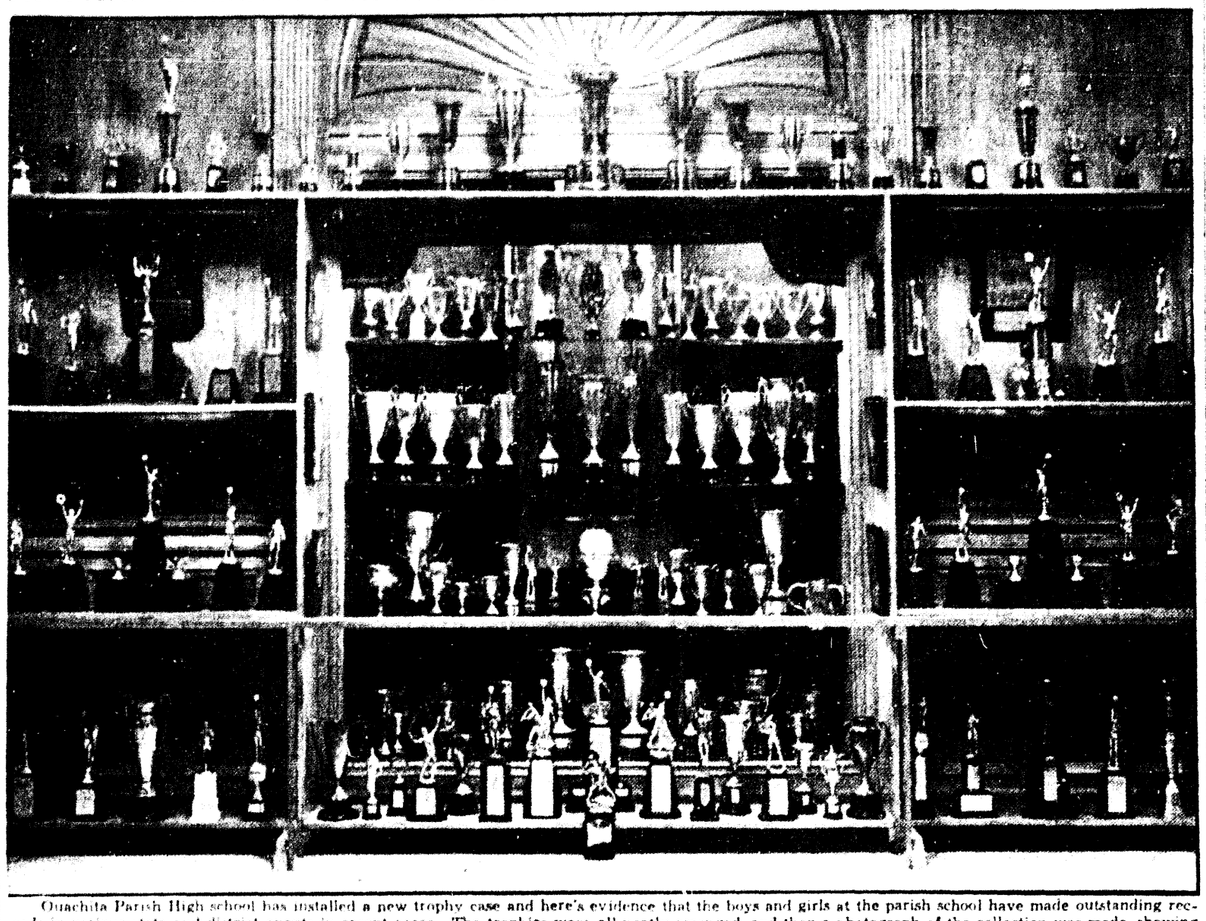
Dies proposed that President Roosevelt create a council of home defense to coordinate the nation's anti-fifth column campaign under "constructive, sane leadership."

CARDINAL URGES U. S. TO KEEP OUT OF WAR

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—(AP)—Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, celebrating the 50th anniversary of his ordination as priest, urged the United States today not to meddle in Europe's strife.

"We should mind our own business and not become cats-paws," the 74-year-old archbishop of Philadelphia declared in an interview published in the Evening Bulletin.

TROPHIES APLENTY FOR OUACHITA PARISH HIGH'S OUTSTANDING STUDENTS



Ouachita Parish High school has installed a new trophy case and here's evidence that the boys and girls at the parish school have made outstanding records in various state and district events in recent years. The trophies were all neatly arranged, and then a photograph of the collection was made, showing a total of 146 trophies won by parish school students. It's a real testimonial to the ability of Principal Jack Hayes' youngsters at O. P. H. S.

NOE IS ENDORSED BY PARISH GROUP

Ouachita Delegation Pledges 18 Votes To Former Governor

The Ouachita parish delegation to the state Democratic convention yesterday voted to cast 18 votes for former Governor James A. Noe for national Democratic committeeman.

Meeting at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, the committee passed a resolution adopting the unit ballot and then voted to cast the entire 18 ballots for Mr. Noe. The resolution endorsing Mr. Noe was offered by Albert Trotter and seconded by John M. Breard. Thirteen of the 18 members were present at the meeting.

At the outset, C. H. McHenry was named chairman of the committee; W. B. Clarke, vice-chairman, and Robert Ervin, secretary.

C. E. McKenzie, Monroe, was endorsed as one of the four delegates-at-large from the Fifth congressional district to the Democratic convention at Chicago.

It was announced that the Fifth district delegates will be selected at a caucus to be held at the Heidelberg hotel in Baton Rouge next Tuesday. The hour of the caucus will be determined when the committeemen arrive at Baton Rouge, it was announced.

The motion to endorse Mr. McKenzie was introduced by Senator D. Y. Smith and seconded by Paul Fink.

Present at yesterday's meeting were Fred Mitchell, J. H. Trousdale, W. B. Clarke, D. Ross Banister, D. Y. Smith, Warren Taylor, J. M. Breard, Albert Trotter, C. E. McKenzie, Paul Fink, A. V. Miller, C. H. McHenry and Robert Ervin.

BOY IS GIVEN MONEY FOR AIDING CAPTURE

PARIS, June 1.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Guy Bocher, of Massy, in the Seine Et Oise district near Paris, received a 2,000 franc (currently about $36) savings account and a congratulatory letter from Interior Minister Mandel today for taking part in the capture of three German parachutists.

While playing in a garden at his home May 23, the youth saw an airplane maneuvering overhead and then spotted three parachutes fluttering down.

He ran to the town hall to summon police, who rounded up the sky troopers in a running gunfight.

WORLD WAR HERO DIES IN CANADA

OTTAWA, June 1.—(AP)—Brigadier General William St. Pierre Hughes, 76, World war hero and former superintendent of Canadian penitentiaries, died at his home early today.

He was credited with doing much to modernize Canada's prisons. He retired in 1932.

During the World war he mobilized the noted 21st battalion, which he commanded until 1916 when he was promoted to command of the 10th Canadian infantry brigade. While in France he was awarded the distinguished service order.

Defense Program To Swell Government's Expenditures

Revised Estimates Show Budget Upped $1,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's expanded national defense program, it was estimated officially today, will swell federal expenditures in the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $10,451,000,000 and the year's deficit to $4,173,700,000.

When the president sent his annual budget message to congress just five months ago, he anticipated spending $8,524,200,000 and having a deficit of $2,976,200,000.

Revised estimates by the budget bureau and treasury showed today that, on the basis of legislation already pending, the defense budget has since been upped about $1,500,000,000 to a total of $3,600,000,000 and the work relief estimate has been raised from $1,122,800,000 to $1,400,000,000.

These figures are based on the actual checks to be written by the treasury in the coming fiscal year, and do not include approximately $500,000,000 of additional army and navy contracts to be let at once, but not to be paid for until some time after July 1.

Small reductions were shown for most other items, such as regular 1941 departmental running expenses, which have been cut by congress in action so far taken.

Meanwhile, the treasury has raised its estimate of receipts from existing taxes from $6,150,800,000 to $6,261,000,000, and is looking toward an extra $525,000,000 from the new tax program. The new taxes were drafted to yield $656,000,000 a year, but the collections would not be that high the first year, because the fiscal year would be nearly three-quarters gone before the first of the new income taxes came in on March 15, 1941. Increases on excise taxes, however, would go into effect immediately, if voted.

Even with the new taxes, added spending will boost the 1941 deficit $500,000 above that for the year just ending, when expenditures will approximate $9,050,000,000 and the deficit $3,665,700,000.

Residents of Murphy, N. C., are closer to the capitals of six other states than they are to their own capital, at Raleigh.

BROWDER TO BROADCAST DESPITE U. S. PROTEST

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Despite appeals to the federal communications commission, a nationwide broadcast of a speech by Communist General Secretary Earl Browder before the party's national convention still is scheduled for tomorrow.

The major radio chains pointed out yesterday that federal law requires them to "treat all candidates for public office alike," and that Browder, as the party's presidential choice, must be granted air time.

OOOH JOHNNY

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(AP)—Five-year-old Johnny Sanborn sat in his aunt's parked automobile, yanked at the wheel and buzzed his tongue to sound like a speedway car.

He kept fiddling around with the controls until the thing started off with him, much to his panic. Down the street, the car jumped a curb, cut across a lawn and smashed into Mrs. Margaret Dunstan's residence, breaking three windows and smashing several porch steps.

Johnny escaped unscathed—at that time.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the Dies committee would hear testimony, beginning Monday, on reports that Communists were employed in the Tennessee Valley authority and the Birmingham, Ala., steel industry. Chairman Dies, Democrat, Texas, said merely the committee would look into "fifth column activities in the south."

Dies proposed that President Roosevelt create a council of home defense to coordinate the nation's anti-fifth column campaign under "constructive, sane leadership."

BOY IS GIVEN MONEY FOR AIDING CAPTURE

PARIS, June 1.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Guy Bocher, of Massy, in the Seine Et Oise district near Paris, recieved a 2,000 franc (currently about $36) savings account and a congratulatory letter from Interior Minister Mandel today for taking part in the capture of three German parachutists.

While playing in a garden at his home May 23, the youth saw an airplane maneuvering overhead and then spotted three parachutes fluttering down.

He ran to the town hall to summon police, who rounded up the sky troopers in a running gunfight.

WORLD WAR HERO DIES IN CANADA

OTTAWA, June 1.—(AP)—Brigadier General William St. Pierre Hughes, 76, World war hero and former superintendent of Canadian penitentiaries, died at his home early today.

He was credited with doing much to modernize Canada's prisons. He retired in 1932.

During the World war he mobilized the noted 21st battalion, which he commanded until 1916 when he was promoted to command of the 10th Canadian infantry brigade. While in France he was awarded the distinguished service order.

Defense Program To Swell Government's Expenditures

Revised Estimates Show Budget Upped $1,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's expanded national defense program, it was estimated officially today, will swell federal expenditures in the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $10,451,000,000 and the year's deficit to $4,173,700,000.

When the president sent his annual budget message to congress just five months ago, he anticipated spending $8,524,200,000 and having a deficit of $2,976,200,000.

Revised estimates by the budget bureau and treasury showed today that, on the basis of legislation already pending, the defense budget has since been upped about $1,500,000,000 to a total of $3,600,000,000 and the work relief estimate has been raised from $1,122,800,000 to $1,400,000,000.

These figures are based on the actual checks to be written by the treasury in the coming fiscal year, and do not include approximately $500,000,000 of additional army and navy contracts to be let at once, but not to be paid for until some time after July 1.

Small reductions were shown for most other items, such as regular 1941 departmental running expenses, which have been cut by congress in action so far taken.

Meanwhile, the treasury has raised its estimate of receipts from existing taxes from $6,150,800,000 to $6,261,000,000, and is looking toward an extra $525,000,000 from the new tax program. The new taxes were drafted to yield $656,000,000 a year, but the collections would not be that high the first year, because the fiscal year would be nearly three-quarters gone before the first of the new income taxes came in on March 15, 1941. Increases on excise taxes, however, would go into effect immediately, if voted.

Even with the new taxes, added spending will boost the 1941 deficit $500,000 above that for the year just ending, when expenditures will approximate $9,050,000,000 and the deficit $3,665,700,000.

BROWDER TO BROADCAST DESPITE U. S. PROTEST

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Despite appeals to the federal communications commission, a nationwide broadcast of a speech by Communist General Secretary Earl Browder before the party's national convention still is scheduled for tomorrow.

The major radio chains pointed out yesterday that federal law requires them to "treat all candidates for public office alike," and that Browder, as the party's presidential choice, must be granted air time.

OOOH JOHNNY

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(AP)—Five-year-old Johnny Sanborn sat in his aunt's parked automobile, yanked at the wheel and buzzed his tongue to sound like a speedway car.

He kept fiddling around with the controls until the thing started off with him, much to his panic. Down the street, the car jumped a curb, cut across a lawn and smashed into Mrs. Margaret Dunstan's residence, breaking three windows and smashing several porch steps.

Johnny escaped unscathed—at that time.

Doll Hudson must find it difficult indeed to concentrate on biology, physics, science, or whatever she is studying at Wellesley college, when plans for her wedding in August are now under way. She will spend a week with a classmate on the coast of Maine before joining her mother, Mary Hudson, in New York for a siege of trousseau shopping. Alma Apperson had a talent she hid under a bushel until daughter Carolyn appeared in dance revues. Alma is making her costumes this year, and they are beautiful creations.

The gypsy costume is really glamorous with a wide skirt, made of panels of blue, green, purple and yellow satin. You must see Carolyn shake the tambourine and pirouette on her toes Tuesday night, when she appears in the Roan dance revue.

"And still the wonder grew how one small head could carry all she knew." We found the words of Shakespeare most apropos when hearing of the work accomplished by Lelia Dean Frazier at the state university during her sophomore year. For instance: she is a member of the Pan Hellenic council, a member of Tau Delta Tau, national honorary stagecraft fraternity, a pledge of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary scholastic dramatic fraternity, a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, vice-president of Phi Beta, honorary speech and music fraternity, sponsor for Company K infantry, member of Kappa Delta sorority and secretary and treasurer of the college of arts and science. All this, of course, is in addition to her regular course of study.

One would naturally suppose that Lelia Dean would spend the summer lolling around getting a much-needed rest after such a devastating winter, but such isn't the case. She will be off next week for New London, N. H., to join the New London Players. Lelia Dean excells in dramatics and is looking forward to a summer of hard work among kindred souls.

We know of no one who enjoys life quite as much as Mable Wallace. She is constantly packing and unpacking her duds, and off on little excursions here and there with friend husband. Before the guns started roaring in Europe they traveled abroad and since then have cruised in tropical waters, sailed to Havana and motored to Mexico City. Now they are off via plane for a resort near Savannah, Ga., where they will spend several days.

If you are one of the 23,000 women into whose homes the Monroe Morning World goes each Sunday, of course you know how highly successful the past year has been in federated club circles, and how strenuous the work has been for the fifth district officers. Every woman knows that affiliation with some club is now almost a necessity if she intends to keep up with the times. This past year has abounded in lectures and programs necessitating the presence of the society editor. Life would sometimes be pretty dull for reporters if they didn't have audiences to watch. Given one good audience of mixed interests and a reporter can keep awake almost any time, even if the speaker does let the audience down. A glimpse over the audience gives one about as good a cross-section of life as you'll get anywhere. There is the person who takes the attitude, "Well, I've come to hear this speaker, if she doesn't keep me awake, that's her fault!" With that the lady drowses off and only comes to when the applause starts.

There is the lady who comes to be shocked. Given one slight chance, she will lead all comers in a tongue-clicking contest that grows and spreads.

There is the lady who comes because everybody else does—and also because she thinks it a good opportunity to see her best friend and get some visiting done.

There is the woman who knits; the woman who makes up her face; the woman who is soured because her late luncheon reservation doesn't carry with it the privilege of sitting near the guest of honor.

There is the woman who wears the tallest hat imaginable, and won't take it off; the woman who asks her neighbor to repeat what the speaker has said; the woman who doesn't care for the lecture, and lets everyone know it.

Then there is the big bulk of the audience who really come to learn. Those are the women who are willing to "up" the membership fees once in a while so better programs may be given. There is the serious listener who looks satisfied at the end of a good mental meal. There is the woman with a sense of humor, and she is blessed above all others by the person on the platform.

There was one speaker on Monroe's lecture platform this year, Ruth Bryan Owen, who captivated her audience. There was no tongue clacking, no powdering of noses, and no sleepers, that night. She possessed some of the silver tongued oratory of her famous father, and the audience, one-half of which was made up of women, was eager to grasp every word.

Buffet Supper At Rayville Outstanding

An outstanding event honoring Miss Betty McCabe of Vicksburg and Mr. Ernest Lipscomb of Rayville, whose marriage will take place June 12, was a buffet supper, Wednesday night, May 29, with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan and their daughters, Mrs. Robert Calvert of New Orleans and Miss Helen Morgan, hosts of the occasion. Individual tables, linen covered, silver serviced and adorned with centerpieces of sweetheart roses and corn flowers, were placed in the spacious living room and music room.

An all white motif was accentuated in the dining room. Tall white tapers in silver candelabra burned at the four corners of the table overlaid with an exquisite linen and lace cloth and a centerpiece of white flowers.

A bountiful supper of baked ham, sliced turkey, salads and all the accessories was served. Relishes, temptingly arranged on silver platters added much to the beauty and charm of the table. The dessert course was ice cream molded as roses and individual cakes embossed with roses and valley lilies. Miss Rebecca Parks and Mrs. Tom Sayre assisted in serving.

A silver steak set was presented to the betrothed couple by the hosts.

Other guests besides Mr. Lipscomb and Miss McCabe, were: Misses Lila Mae Chambers, Louisa O'Neal, Edith Rose O'Neal, Catherine Green, Elaine O'Neal, Helen Morgan; Messers; Jeff Keebler, Buddy O'Neal, Allen Buie, George Bolton, Raymond Bolton, Lee Edward Ineichen, Hobart Green, Mr. and Mrs. Lasley Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCaa, Dr. and Mrs. George Purvis, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kelly, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. All this, of course, is in addition to her regular course of study.

One would naturally suppose that Lelia Dean would spend the summer lolling around getting a much-needed rest after such a devastating winter, but such isn't the case. She will be off next week for New London, N. H., to join the New London Players. Lelia Dean excells in dramatics and is looking forward to a summer of hard work among kindred souls.

We know of no one who enjoys life quite as much as Mable Wallace She is constantly packing and unpacking her duds, and off on little excursions here and there with friend husband. Before the guns started roaring in Europe they traveled abroad and since then have cruised in tropical waters, sailed to Havana and motored to Mexico City. Now they are off via plane for a resort near Savannah, Ga., where they will spend several days.

If you are one of the 23,000 women into whose homes the Monroe Morning World goes each Sunday, of course you know how highly successful the past year has been in federated club circles, and how strenuous the work has been for the fifth district officers. Every woman knows that affiliation with some club is now almost a necessity if she intends to keep up with the times. This past year has abounded in lectures and programs necessitating the presence of the society editor. Life would sometimes be pretty dull for reporters if they didn't have audiences to watch. Given one good audience of mixed interests and a reporter can keep awake almost any time, even if the speaker does let the audience down. A glimpse over the audience gives one about as good a cross-section of life as you'll get anywhere. There is the person who takes the attitude, "Well, I've come to hear this speaker, if she doesn't keep me awake, that's her fault!" With that the lady drowses off and only comes to when the applause starts.

There is the lady who comes to be shocked. Given one slight chance, she will lead all comers in a tongue-clicking contest that grows and spreads.

There is the lady who comes because everybody else does—and also because she thinks it a good opportunity to see her best friend and get some visiting done.

There is the woman who knits; the woman who makes up her face; the woman who is soured because her late luncheon reservation doesn't carry with it the privilege of sitting near the guest of honor.

There is the woman who wears the tallest hat imaginable, and won't take it off; the woman who asks her neighbor to repeat what the speaker has said; the woman who doesn't care for the lecture, and lets everyone know it.

Then there is the big bulk of the audience who really come to learn. Those are the women who are willing to "up" the membership fees once in a while so better programs may be given. There is the serious listener who looks satisfied at the end of a good mental meal. There is the woman with a sense of humor, and she is blessed above all others by the person on the platform.

There was one speaker on Monroe's lecture platform this year, Ruth Bryan Owen, who captivated her audience. There was no tongue clacking, no powdering of noses, and no sleepers, that night. She possessed some of the silver tongued oratory of her famous father, and the audience, one-half of which was made up of women, was eager to grasp every word.

Annual Banquet Honors 1940 Graduates Of Neville High School At Virginia

Mrs. Robinson Gives Address Of Welcome

Mayor Benoit Makes Talk And Members Of School Board Introduced At Outstanding Event

The annual banquet sponsored by the Neville Alumni association complimentary to this year's graduating class, is a memory to be cherished for all time to come by the seniors of 1940.

The banquet this year was more flowery, more enjoyable and more widely attended than ever before. The addresses made by Mayor H. H. Benoit; commissioner of streets and parks, Ruffin Tidwell; superintendent of schools, E. L. Neville; principal of Neville school, Paul Neal; and dean of girls, Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, were weighted with splendid advice, not only to members of the senior class, but to the junior class and members of the alumni as well.

The long tables on the roof of the Virginia hotel were arranged with exceeding artistry. Flowers were banked high at intervals with candles gleaming in their midst.

Members of the new school board, Warren Taylor, Mrs. Daisy Terzia, Ronald Lee Davis, and Harold Dixon, were formally introduced during the evening.

Each course of the faultlessly served dinner was interspersed with vocal selections presented by Miss Louise Smelser and Don Stewart with Mrs. P. A. Poag and Miss Sarah Regan, accompanists. A brilliant piano number was rendered by Hermoine Driskell.

Professional Women Review Activities

The Business and Professional Women's club of Monroe met at the office of the local Chamber of Commerce May 28, with Mrs. Jennie Thornton presiding, in the absence of Miss Bernice Wright, the president.

The chairman of the various committees gave a resume of the activities for the past year. Mrs. Lizzie Morris, health chairman, urged the members to cooperate with Dr. Williams in his attempt to obtain larger quarters for the work of the parish health unit, as this particular office contributes largely to the welfare of the women of the community who are unable to have regular medical care. She also gave in detail the awarding of the certificate of vocational guidance which the club and the Lions club of the Twin Cities contributed to the schools. This certificate was awarded to the St. Matthew's school this year, by Miss Bernice Wright.

Mrs. R. N. Slator gave a resume of the activities of the state convention held at Covington on May 3 4 and 5, which was attended also by Mrs. Thornton and Miss Wright.

Miss Mary Hester presided during the program meeting. She reviewed each program presented during the past year under her leadership. She also gave a splendid talk on a grave matter facing the present generation—and particularly the democracies—"War, and Its Aftermath."

Girl Reserves To Attend Conference

Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, counsellor of the Girl Reserves of this city, will leave for Gulfport, Miss., June 11, accompanied by several members of the association, to attend the sectional conference at Gulf Park college.

Miss Clifton Ray will welcome Girl Reserves when they arrive at Gulf Park college for their annual sectional conference. Miss Ray, of Canton, Miss., was elected at the close of last summer's conference to be girl hostess for the 1940 meeting. She will work with Mrs. J. D. Wroten, Columbus, Miss., conference hostess.

When the girls arrive each is assigned according to her room location to a triangle. The triangles are the "family" groups of the conference, each having a counsellor. Mrs. Floyd Hannah of Winnsboro, La., is to be head counsellor.

Each triangle elects one representative to serve on the council, which with the girl executive makes up the governing body of the conference. Each triangle also elects a hostess to assist Mrs. Wroten and Miss Ray.

The eight days at Gulf Park are filled to the brim with interesting things to do and think about. The girls and staff live in the attractive and comfortable dormitories. The morning worship services are in the auditorium. Many of the conference activities take place under the spreading oaks on the campus.

Night activities will be varied. The opening night of the conference will feature a party. It is to be under the direction of Miss Bess Herron, state recreation director of the Works Projects administration for Mississippi. Every evening after supper there is twilight singing. The singing is to be led by Miss Sarah Lee Ball, Jackson, Miss. Camp fires on the white sands at the water's edge are always highlights of every Gulf Park conference. Miss Mary Hester presided during the program meeting. She reviewed each program presented during the past year under her leadership. She also gave a splendid talk on a grave matter facing the present generation—and particularly the democracies—"War, and Its Aftermath."

Plans at this time were formulated for the emblem breakfast to be given on June 16 for the installation of the new officers on board the Weto as guests of Captain G. B. Cooley.

At this meeting the following members were present: Effie Allen, Kate Clark, Eleanor Faulk, Jennie Thornton, Mary Hester, Hazel Wakefield, Mae Modes, Mamie McNeill, Florence Powers, Laura Slator, Lizzie Morris, Harriett Hirsch, Faye Heard, Nora Downes, Jewel Wise, Johnnie Smith Elbert and Mary O'Kelly.

Girl Reserves To Attend Conference

Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, counsellor of the Girl Reserves of this city, will leave for Gulfport, Miss., June 11, accompanied by several members of the association, to attend the sectional conference at Gulf Park college.

Miss Clifton Ray will welcome Girl Reserves when they arrive at Gulf Park college for their annual sectional conference. Miss Ray, of Canton, Miss., was elected at the close of last summer's conference to be girl hostess for the 1940 meeting. She will work with Mrs. J. D. Wroten, Columbus, Miss., conference hostess.

When the girls arrive each is assigned according to her room location to a triangle. The triangles are the "family" groups of the conference, each having a counsellor. Mrs. Floyd Hannah of Winnsboro, La., is to be head counsellor.

Each triangle elects one representative to serve on the council, which with the girl executive makes up the governing body of the conference. Each triangle also elects a hostess to assist Mrs. Wroten and Miss Ray.

The eight days at Gulf Park are filled to the brim with interesting things to do and think about. The girls and staff live in the attractive and comfortable dormitories. The morning worship services are in the auditorium. Many of the conference activities take place under the spreading oaks on the campus.

Night activities will be varied. The opening night of the conference will feature a party. It is to be under the direction of Miss Bess Herron, state recreation director of the Works Projects administration for Mississippi. Every evening after supper there is twilight singing. The singing is to be led by Miss Sarah Lee Ball, Jackson, Miss. Camp fires on the white sands at the water's edge are always highlights of every Gulf Park conference. Nights, too, mean folk dancing, dramatics, or perhaps a swim in the enticing pool on the campus.

Miss Caroline Compton, well-known Mississippi artist, will be with the sketching group. Various craft will be offered.

Coupled along with good times comes real work and Girl Reserve plans for next year and serious thinking on problems and questions of interest and importance to young people and the world today. The conference staff will include women of broad knowledge of present day society and an understanding of youth.

Monroe Youngsters To Attend Camps

Happy days are ahead for Monroe boys and girls, who will be scattered throughout the country at camps situated in the mountains, beside sparkling lakes, rushing streams, and peaceful woods. Parents, too, look forward to a more pleasant summer, as the camp relieves them of the necessity of keeping constant vigil over the youngster's activities.

Psychologists point out that children's lives today are vastly different than they were as recently as a generation back. The modern youngster's life reflects the high tension era in which he lives. It is keyed to a faster tempo, which, in turn places a greater strain on sensitive nervous systems. Child specialists are of the opinion that summer camp is the ideal vacation for the average child. This fact is appreciated by parents, as indicated by the ever increasing number of children, who annually attend summer camp.

Monroe girls, attending Camp Waldemar in Texas this year will be in charge of Mrs. Elmer Slagle, who will serve as counselor. In her party, leaving in July for Waldemar, will be: Marguerite Lamkin, Betty Sue Shotwell, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Cornelia McHenry, Joan Boardman, Jessie Lee Touchstone, Esther Ewing, Betty Sue Jones, Jane Rhymes, Mary Moss Madison, Gay Noe, Clarice and Lee Slagle, and Nancy Ross, of Mobile, Ala. Miss Martha Jane Hill, accompanying the party, will serve as junior counselor.

Mrs. Eugene Flournoy will again serve as hostess at the hotel in Glenn Arbor, Mich., where parents of children who attend Camp Leelanau for boys, and Camp Kohahna for girls, are guests during the camping season. Mrs. Flournoy will be accompanied by her son, Thomas, and her daughters, Laura and Jean Flournoy, who will attend camp. Miss Laura Flournoy will serve as assistant counselor at Camp Kohahna.

Camp Kittiwake, for girls, facing the Gulf of Mexico at Pass Christian, Miss., will open June 22. Girls will attend from Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, and Georgia.

The bracing qualities of the salt air and sunshine combined with the ever constant gulf breeze screate a climate that favors recreation. A fleet of sail boats, canoes, Hawaiian surfboards, and row boats will be awaiting the campers. Oother facilities include a fresh water swimming pool, concrete tennis courts, badminton courts, archery range, athletic field, stable of horses and miles of delightful bridle paths.

Sports will be well balanced with creative activity as campers will group together to develop their skills in arts and crafts, dramatics, dancing, photography, and nature study.

Camp Kittiwake is directed by Miss Lillian Van Tucker who has been a director in the field of recreation for eleven years.

Friends of Mrs. Jefferson Henderson regret that she and her interesting little family are leaving Monroe to make their future home in Dallas. Each day finds Mrs. Henderson the central figure in a group of friends who express their regret over her departure. Wednesday's affair for Mrs. Henderson was an informal luncheon in the Blue room of the Frances hotel, planned by a group of close friends, including Mrs. Clyde R. Pedigo, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. T. J. Eubank, Mrs. Zell Smith, and Mrs. J. R. White. Mrs. Henderson was presented with a lovely set of crystal compotes, during the luncheon hour.

Another lovely affair was a morning coffee and conversational hour in the home of Mrs. W. E. Sandel with Mrs. J. T. Eubank co-hostess. This affair also included a group of Mrs. Henderson's close friends, who presented her with parting gifts.

Mr. William Wallace joined Mrs. Wallace in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace for a visit of several days. They returned to their home in Birmingham, Ala., today.

Miss Gertrude Hart is planning to spend her summer vacation in Mobile, Ala.

Monroe Youngsters To Attend Camps

Happy days are ahead for Monroe boys and girls, who will be scattered throughout the country at camps situated in the mountains, beside sparkling lakes, rushing streams, and peaceful woods. Parents, too, look forward to a more pleasant summer, as the camp relieves them of the necessity of keeping constant vigil over the youngster's activities.

Psychologists point out that children's lives today are vastly different than they were as recently as a generation back. The modern youngster's life reflects the high tension era in which he lives. It is keyed to a faster tempo, which, in turn places a greater strain on sensitive nervous systems. Child specialists are of the opinion that summer camp is the ideal vacation for the average child. This fact is appreciated by parents, as indicated by the ever increasing number of children, who annually attend summer camp.

Monroe girls, attending Camp Waldemar in Texas this year will be in charge of Mrs. Elmer Slagle, who will serve as counselor. In her party, leaving in July for Waldemar, will be: Marguerite Lamkin, Betty Sue Shotwell, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Cornelia McHenry, Joan Boardman, Jessie Lee Touchstone, Esther Ewing, Betty Sue Jones, Jane Rhymes, Mary Moss Madison, Gay Noe, Clarice and Lee Slagle, and Nancy Ross, of Mobile, Ala. Miss Martha Jane Hill, accompanying the party, will serve as junior counselor.

Mrs. Eugene Flournoy will again serve as hostess at the hotel in Glenn Arbor, Mich., where parents of children who attend Camp Leelanau for boys, and Camp Kohahna for girls, are guests during the camping season. Mrs. Flournoy will be accompanied by her son, Thomas, and her daughters, Laura and Jean Flournoy, who will attend camp. Miss Laura Flournoy will serve as assistant counselor at Camp Kohahna.

Camp Kittiwake, for girls, facing the Gulf of Mexico at Pass Christian, Miss., will open June 22. Girls will attend from Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, and Georgia.

The bracing qualities of the salt air and sunshine combined with the ever constant gulf breeze screate a climate that favors recreation. A fleet of sail boats, canoes, Hawaiian surfboards, and row boats will be awaiting the campers. Oother facilities include a fresh water swimming pool, concrete tennis courts, badminton courts, archery range, athletic field, stable of horses and miles of delightful bridle paths.

Sports will be well balanced with creative activity as campers will group together to develop their skills in arts and crafts, dramatics, dancing, photography, and nature study.

Camp Kittiwake is directed by Miss Lillian Van Tucker who has been a director in the field of recreation for eleven years.

Friends of Mrs. Jefferson Henderson regret that she and her interesting little family are leaving Monroe to make their future home in Dallas. Each day finds Mrs. Henderson the central figure in a group of friends who express their regret over her departure. Wednesday's affair for Mrs. Henderson was an informal luncheon in the Blue room of the Frances hotel, planned by a group of close friends, including Mrs. Clyde R. Pedigo, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. T. J. Eubank, Mrs. Zell Smith, and Mrs. J. R. White. Mrs. Henderson was presented with a lovely set of crystal compotes, during the luncheon hour.

Another lovely affair was a morning coffee and conversational hour in the home of Mrs. W. E. Sandel with Mrs. J. T. Eubank co-hostess. This affair also included a group of Mrs. Henderson's close friends, who presented her with parting gifts.

Mr. William Wallace joined Mrs. Wallace in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace for a visit of several days. They returned to their home in Birmingham, Ala., today.

Miss Gertrude Hart is planning to spend her summer vacation in Mobile, Ala.

Miss Nell Carter Is Honored At Reception

Mrs. Lloyd Temple Compliments Graduate Of Neville High School In Beautiful Affair

One of the loveliest affairs honoring this year's high school graduates was the reception arranged by Mrs. Lloyd Temple complimentary to Miss Nell Carter, member of the graduating class of Neville High school.

The lower floor of Mrs. Temple's home was transformed into a flower garden with the beautiful summer gowns of guests adding to the picture by the gust of color, the punch bowl in the center of the dining room and the cake in the sunroom adding a delightful splash of color.

Miss Mary Savage and Miss Bess Izon Underwood extended greetings at the door. Mrs. Temple and her guest of honor, Miss Carter, stood in the living room and were assisted in receiving by Miss Carter's mother, Mrs. J. M. Carter, Jr., and her grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Carter, Sr.

Mrs. Alfred Bell presided over the bar where ice cream fruit frappe was served from a crystal punch bowl. Mints in pastel shades were favors. An orchid blue light successfully created a

RAINBOW GIRLS FROM ALEXANDRIA VISIT MONROE . . .

Colorful ceremonies at the Masonic Temple were conducted by the Rainbow Girls of this city and Alexandria who were delightfully entertained with a reception following the evening's program. A buffet supper at the home of Mrs. V. S. Sackett was included among the courtesies extended.

Members Of Music Guild Entertain

Floral decorations of salmon pink gladioli and Queen Anne's lace graced the two grand pianos in the music room of the suburban home of Mrs. H. M. James on Monday night, when members of the Music guild entertained their husbands with dinner, song and dance.

Musical games and contests were participated in by both members and guests, and created interesting and amusing diversion. In a song-guessing contest, Mr. and Mrs. Reynold McWilliams' portrayal of "A Bicycle Built for Two" created the most enthusiastic applause, and honors went to Mrs. H. M. James for the largest scoring of correct answers in the old and modern song questionnaire.

A song-fest featured several renditions by members of the guild, duo piano numbers, and a group of chorus numbers.

Competitive song numbers by the male guests, resulted in interesting discoveries concerning voice possibilities.

Following the social period, decorative cakes and ices, and pink mints embossed with white harps, were served to the members and guests by Mrs. Louise Averett, Mrs. Clyde Pedigo, Mrs. P. A. Colvin, Mrs. J. L. Ivey, Mrs. R. W. Crentey, Mrs. B. B. Martin, and Mrs. H. M. James.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, the retiring president, Mrs. P. A. Poag, was presented with a lovely antique crystal bowl from members of the club.

Present on this occasion were: Mrs. Louise Averett, Mrs. James Cox, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Crentey, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson S. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ivey, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mr. H. M. James, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. Clyde Pedigo, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Colvin, Mr. and Mrs. Reynold McWilliams, Misses Jacque and Jocelyn James, and P. A. Colvin, Jr.

Power And Lamour Are Stars Of Hit

Story Of College Hero, Banker's Son And Mobster Outstanding Film

"JOHNNY Apollo"—college hero, banker's son—mobster!

That's the powerful role that brings Tyrone Power to the Paramount theater today in the 20th Centry-Fox drama of that title, which co-stars him with Dorothy Lamour.

Not since "Jesse James" has Tyrone had a part like this, and never in his career has he given such a great performance. And lovely Lamour reveals her true allure for the first time as "Lucky" Dubarry, the night club entertainer who falls hard for "Johnny Apollo."

When the story opens Power is an idalistic college man, but he doesn't remian that long. For when the banker father he idolized (played by Edward Arnold) is sent to prison for embezzlement, the boy's whole world crashes about his ears.

Spurned by his wealthy friends, broke and unable to get a job because of the stigma against his name, the young man assumes an alias, "Johnny Apollo," and joins the mob of Mickey Dwyer, brilliantly played by Lloyd Nolan. It is here that Johnny meets "Lucky" Dubarry, Mickey's girl, who understands and loves Johnny—regardless.

He also meets Judge Brennan, a tippling ex-judge turned underworld lawyer, who boasts a talent for "springing" his clients from jail. Charley Grapewin, who scored such a hit as Grampa in Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Grapes of Wrath," scores again in this role. And Lionel Atwill is excellent as the banker's helpless lawyer, McLaughlin.

The boy works tirelessly to help free the father who has turned against him because of his underworld connections, and the story works up to one of the most thrilling climaxes in screen history.

Lamour puts over two smash new song hits, "Dancing for Nickels and Dimes," by Lionel Newman and Frank Loesser, and "This is the Beginning of the End" by Mack Gordon.

Lugosi Film Here Today At Capitol

THE current roles of Bela Lugosi, now appearing in Monogram's "The Human Monster," playing at the Capitol theater, are in direct contrast to those he played when first embarking upon an acting career. Today he is known as one of the outstanding horror masters of the screen. In his native land he was cast as a romantic lead.

In recent years Lugosi has become best known for his grotesque characterizations in such pictures as "Dracula," "White Zombi" and "The Mark of the Vampire." As a stage star in Hungary, the land of his birth, he was not such a specialist for Lugosi was Hungarys most distinguished actor. Invariably he was cast for the most important role regardless of type.

When he first went to America about 16 years ago, he spoke but little English, and that with a pronounced accent. But, this lack proved no handicap to him. While he studied the language intensively, he played in several productions, and none of them, it is interesting to note, were of the "Dracula" type. Then, between his motion picture engagements, he produced and directed several Hungarian plays, touring among the many Hungarian settlements in the United States.

Recognized by producers as one of the most versatile actors on the American stage, he remained, however, practically unknown to the theatergoing public.

Then came the Broadway opening of "Dracula," and Bela Lugosi became, over night, the most talked of player in the theater. It was inevitable that Hollywood should call him and it was inevitable also, that he should temporarily ignore all Hollywood offers, preferring to remain with his first American stage success. "Dracula" enjoyed a long, almost record-breaking run on Broadway, and he continued in the title role until the end of the New York engagement.

He also meets Judge Brennan, a tippling ex-judge turned underworld lawyer, who boasts a talent for "springing" his clients from jail. Charley Grapewin, who scored such a hit as Grampa in Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Grapes of Wrath," scores again in this role. And Lionel Atwill is excellent as the banker's helpless lawyer, McLaughlin.

The boy works tirelessly to help free the father who has turned against him because of his underworld connections, and the story works up to one of the most thrilling climaxes in screen history.

Lamour puts over two smash new song hits, "Dancing for Nickels and Dimes," by Lionel Newman and Frank Loesser, and "This is the Beginning of the End" by Mack Gordon.

Lugosi Film Here Today At Capitol

THE current roles of Bela Lugosi, now appearing in Monogram's "The Human Monster," playing at the Capitol theater, are in direct contrast to those he played when first embarking upon an acting career. Today he is known as one of the outstanding horror masters of the screen. In his native land he was cast as a romantic lead.

In recent years, Lugosi has become best known for his grotesque characterizations in such pictures as "Dracula," "White Zombi," and "The Mark of the Vampire." As a stage star in Hungary, the land of his birth, he was not such a specialist for Lugosi was Hungarys most distinguished actor. Invariably he was cast for the most important role regardless of type.

When he first went to America about 16 years ago, he spoke but little English, and that with a pronounced accent. But, this lack proved no handicap to him. While he studied the language intensively, he played in several productions, and none of them, it is interesting to note, were of the "Dracula" type. Then, between his motion picture engagements, he produced and directed several Hungarian plays, touring among the many Hungarian settlements in the United States.

Recognized by producers as one of the most versatile actors on the American stage, he remained, however, practically unknown to the theatergoing public.

Then came the Broadway opening of "Dracula," and Bela Lugosi became, over night, the most talked of player in the theater. It was inevitable that Hollywood should call him, and it was inevitable, also, that he should temporarily ignore all Hollywood offers, preferring to remain with his first American stage success. "Dracula" enjoyed a long, almost record-breaking run on Broadway, and he continued in the title role until the end of the New York engagement.

JUDGE DREW WILL ASK RE-ELECTION

Minden Jurist To Make Race For Appeal Court Solely On Record

Judge Harmon C. Drew has authorized his friends to announce his candidacy for reelection to the court of appeal from the second district of the second circuit of Louisiana. He will ask for reelection solely upon the record he has made since becoming a member of the court in 1930.

Judge Drew was born in Minden February 16, 1889 and has lived there ever since. He was educated in the public schools and at Louisiana State university, where he finished his law course in 1910.

He has always been interested in public affairs which affect the masses. He is not a force seeker, his position on public matters being clearly defined always. At the same time, he has profound respect for the opinions of others whether they are in accord with his own views or not.

In movements for honest and clean government in Louisiana Judge Drew has been a competent and helpful figure. Like many others who thought and acted with him, he was often made a victim of the system he assailed. But, he bore these punitive measures patiently and uncomplainingly.

Prior to his ten years of service on the court of appeal, Judge Drew served as city attorney, district attorney and district judge. Step by step, therefore, he qualified himself for his exacting and important duties as appellate judge. His record in the last named capacity attests the thoroughness of his prior judicial education and experience.

The court of appeal has the exclusive handling of all appeals for compensation under the workmen's compensation law, of all suits for damages in personal injuries, providing as much as $100 involved, and in all cases where the amount involved is from $100 to $2,000. It has no jurisdiction in criminal cases, that being the exclusive province of the supreme court.

When Judge Drew became a member of the court of appeal on January 1, 1930, he found on the docket over 600 cases. Some of them had been there for seven years; a number of them for five to six years and the majority of them for from two to three years. In many of the cases, the long delay had caused judgments to become valueless, due to failure in business, bankruptcy or death of the debtors.

As soon as Judge Drew could become familiar with the work of the court and learned of the condition of the docket, he went to the supreme court and requested that body to aid the court in clearing up the docket, assuring the supreme court that if the docket could once be brought up to date, he would see to it that it was kept that way. The aid requested was furnished and Judge Drew worked double time for several months, sitting one week as presiding judge with two judges and the next week with two other different judges. By doing this, all cases on the docket, including the old and news ones, were heard and decided, at which time the help furnished by the supreme court was released. Since that time, which was eight years ago, during all of which time Judge Drew has been presiding judge, the business of the court has been kept up to date. There is no longer any long delay after appealing a case to the court of appeal.

The court is composed of three judges and handles appeals from 28 north Louisiana parishes.

When Judge Drew became a member of the court there were no regularly fixed times for hearing arguments other than at Monroe and Alexandria, or rendering decisions. As soon as he became presiding judge, which was 18 months after he became a member of the court, the time for hearing arguments and rendering decisions was definately fixed over the entire circuit for each month of the court term.

The court has rendered approximately 3,000 decisions since Judge Drew became a member of it. He has taken part in each decision and it is stated that he has written the majority opinion of the court in more than one-third of all cases decided. His record before the supreme court for correctness of his judgments is an excellent one, less than two per cent of his decisions having been disturbed.

Politics has never influenced the decisions of the court of appeal.

In the last 10 years, during which time Judge Drew has been a member of it, the court of appeal has disposed of as many cases as had previously been disposed since creation of the tribunal in 1904, a period of 20 years.

The court of appeal has aptly been termed "the poor man's court." It is just that. Costs of litigation have been so systematically cut that the entire cost to any litigant to have his case filed, heard and decided is $5. In fact (as has been the case in hundreds of instances) even the $5 is waived if the litigant is unable to pay.

Although Judge Drew is only 51 years old, he is truly the dean of the court in years of service. Since he became a member of the court of appeal, he has served with nine different judges and has given unfailingly and willingly to the new members the benefit of his experience and knowledge thus greatly assisting them in their new duties, as will be vouched for by everyone who has served on the court with him.

Speaking of Judge Drew's qualifications for the office he is holding, a close friend said: "Judge Drew is recognized as one of the outstanding judges of the state. He is fair and honest, and gifted with a judicial mind. He is an untiring worker, a deep student of the law, a liberal thinker who is opposed to allowing technicalities to interfere with justice, and a judge who enjoys his work. His record is as earnest as his motto—'justice to all and special favor to none.'"

"Let me tell you how I chose my second refrigerator!"

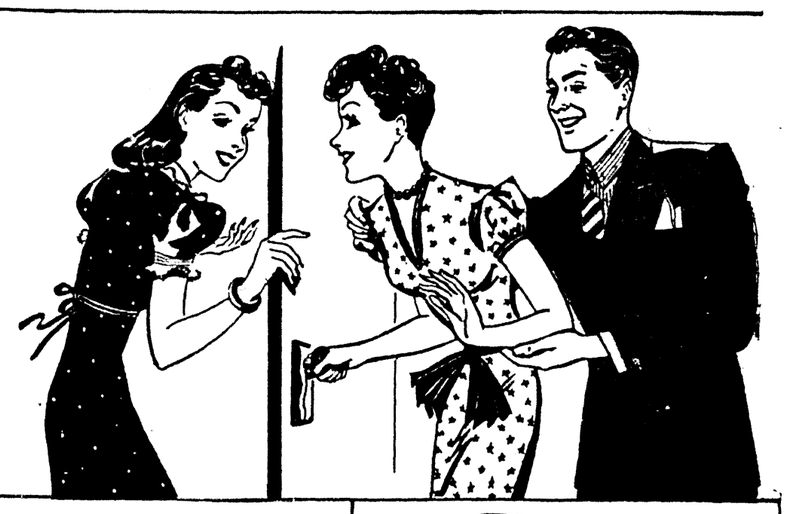
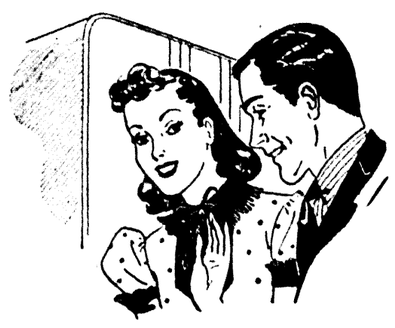
All refrigerators looked alike to the newlyweds. "Give us the low-down," they asked friends. "Why did you replace yours with the one that freezes with NO MOVING PARTS?"





1 "You never hear a thing . . ." said Bill Jones. "Just listen . . . silent, isn't it? And I can tell you, as one who's had experience, that's reason enough to buy a Servel. And no noise also means no wear, too!"

2 "Only a tiny gas flame . . ." Ted Walsh points out. "That's all it takes to do the work. Servel hasn't a single moving part in its freezing system. That's why you can depend on it to stay quiet, efficient and economical."

3 "My bills are lower . . ." said Mrs. Smith. "Food keeps much longer. And with no moving, wearing parts to run up the cost, Servel's operating cost will stay low always."

4 "And such conveniences . . . You can store what you want, where you want it, keep it as you like it. You can have moist cold or dry cold, whichever you prefer. And there are lots of other features you'll love!"

The SERVEL ELECTROLUX Gas Refrigerator

5 "Make yours a Servel!" That was everybody's advice, and—since the newlyweds took it—it's their tip to you. Why not run down to your Servel dealer's right now . . . and see the beautiful new 1940 models they have on the floor? You will be delighted at the spacious roominess, the glistening finish inside and out, the new conveniences. But best of all . . . you'll want the gas refrigerator for your home because its freezing system has no moving parts!
